Toby Grotz Explores the Aether Theory and Its Applications!

Srinivasan's Eclipse Experiment and its Implications for Aether Theory

Gopalakrishnan Srinivasan performed an experiment during a total solar eclipse in India on the 15th of January, 2010. The purpose of the experiment was to verify the principles derived in an alternate theory on the structure of the Universe, whereby space is identified as a medium with defined properties, whereas in Physics, scientists hold the opposite view that it is vacuous and empty. The results of this experiment and methods will be discussed during this presentation.

An attempted replication of Srinivasan's eclipse experiment was performed in Wisconsin on April 8, 2024. Methods and results from this experiment will be discussed.

G. Srinivasan also built and demonstrated an over-unity generator based on his theories and understanding of the ancient Vedic Texts of India. Video and diagrams will be presented.

Dan Rodgers will present "An American Engineer's Investigation Into G. Srinivasan's 'Secret of Sankhya: Acme of Scientific Unification'"

Abstract: Gopalakrishnan Srinivasan deciphered the Sankhya Karika over the past four decades to rediscover Natural Philosophy insights dating back over 32,000 years. He transliterated the 68 Sanskrit axiomatic Sutras in a two-volume treatise entitled "Secret of Sankhya: Acme of Scientific Unification." Authentic transliterations are accompanied by standard scientific explanations resolving all known conundrums associated with modern theories.

This antediluvian axiomatic unified field theory of nature's wheelwork has influenced critical thinkers from the original Greek natural philosophers such as Pythagoras and Plato, to ingenious inventors such as Nikola Tesla and Viktor Schauburger, to this era's most famous quantum physicists such as Newton, Schrodinger, Einstein and Oppenheimer.

Practical application of the universal science illustrates its utility for empowering mankind. Going forward, it is an open challenge for the "one people" in their persistent pursuit of truth to preserve and wisely apply this foundational knowledge.

About Toby Grotz

Toby Grotz, is an electrical engineer with a background in power systems design. During his career he had forty years of engineering and management experience at corporations such as Texas Instruments and Martin Marietta, and has worked extensively with nonprofit corporations. Mr. Grotz was the first president of the Institute for New Energy. He has provided design and testing services for new energy inventors during the last twenty-five years.

His background includes work in exploration geophysics, the aerospace industry and in the utility industry working on coal, natural gas, and nuclear power plants. He has worked at two nuclear power plants. He has experience designing air quality control systems (AQCS) for coal fired power plants. He has been part of a design team working on the construction of a Nigerian power plant. His integrated management experience is directly applicable to the construction of industrial facilities, operation, production and maintenance. Work experience includes support for capital improvements for power plants rated up to 1800MW.

He has conducted research on hydrogen gas generators, advanced lighting circuit design for plasma arc lamps, and investigated and conducted experiments on Cold Fusion Systems and Low Energy Nuclear Change phenomena in arc discharge systems.

His understanding of resource depletion and its relation to worldwide energy usage and electrical generation comes from his work at the beginning of his career exploring for fossil fuels in coastal waters on the East Coast of the USA and in the deserts and jungles of Mexico.

Mr. Grotz has organized and chaired several conferences, including the 1984 Tesla Centennial Symposium (see New York Times Article here). He was the first President of the International Tesla Society and chaired the 1986 International Tesla Symposium. In 1987 he worked for Project Tesla with Robert Golka constructing a 20-million-volt Tesla Coil at 11,00 feet in Colorado in an attempt to recreate the 1899 Colorado Springs experiments of Nikola Tesla. He also served on the steering committee and helped establish the first International Symposium on New Energy held in Denver in April of 1993 and was chairman of the 1994 International Symposium on New Energy.

Mr. Grotz received his BSE in electrical engineering from the University of Connecticut in 1974.

Mr. Grotz has been involved in research and development of advanced energy generation and transmission systems. He was the first President of the Institute for New Energy. He also served on the steering committee and helped organize the first International Symposium on New Energy held in Denver in April of 1993 and was chairman of the 1994 International Symposium on New Energy.

He was a protagonist in the Film AUS DEM NICHTS which premiered at the 2016 Vienne International Film Festival and portrayed the life of Austrian free energy inventor Carl Schappeller and the work of Paramahansa Tewari.

About Dan Rodgers

Dan Rodgers is an electrical engineer with a background in control systems with 37 years' experience in the Aerospace and Defense industry developing advanced tactical aircraft and mobile ground robotics. He has experience in all facets of flight control system design and development from algorithm design, safety-critical hardware and software development, to simulation, bench test and flight test.

He also has experience developing crew automation technologies such as Pilot's Associate for manned tactical fighter missions and as well tactical autonomous behaviors for unmanned combat air vehicle and mobile robotic ground combat systems.

He has held various positions in system test, product design, product management, business development and program management for major defense original equipment manufacturers.

He received a BSEE from the University of Texas at Austin in 1987 and a MSEE from Southern Methodist University in 1990.

As a personal curiosity over the past decade, he has studied late 19th century and early 20th century inventors such as Nikola Tesla and Viktor Schauberger, and natural philosophers such Walter Russell, who collectively paved the way for advanced electrical power and propulsion technologies based on intuitive insights from Nature and Vedic texts.

More recently, he has given lectures on an ancient, axiomatic, quantum, unified field theory re-discovered by an Indian naval engineer Gopalakrishnan Srinivasan. G. Srinivasan deciphered the Sankhya Karika over the past four decades to rediscover Natural Philosophy insights dating back over 32,000 years.

This ancient theory underpinning the Vedas defines “Nature’s Wheelwork” in terms an engineer can understand, providing a powerful impetus to developing even more ingenious methods for safely hitching our minds and machines to Nature’s wheelwork.

Section V In Case You Missed the Last Masterclass

November 16, 2024 Andrew Michrowski presented the Free USPA Masterclass #57, "The Nature of Systemic Multidimensionality."

About This Class

In “The Nature of Systemic Multidimensionality,” what Andrew shared was that the nature of the cosmic "mind field" as Andrija Puiharich proposed in his Physics of Consciousness series and some possible interfaces between human "thinking" processes and the simultaneous multiple-level consciousness systemics of the Cosmos.

Some of these have been historically described by individuals like Rudolf Steiner, some have been addressed by paranormal researchers. With increasingly more insight being obtained in physics an attempt can be made to explain the nature of such evolutionary experience.

About Andrew Michrowski

Dr. Andrew Michrowski is president of the Ottawa based Planetary Association for Clean Energy Incorporated, an international, interdisciplinary scientific society, concerned with such issues as: electromagnetic pollution, advanced clean energy technologies, ozone depletion, climatic changes and reutilization of waste biomass.

Previously, he served as Senior Analyst for the Secretary of State, and as Chief Planner for Indian Affairs and Northern Development. He is the author of numerous scientific and governmental publications about the environment and has acted as scientific advisor for films and television documentaries.

Nick Franks shared “CREATING A RADIONIC CAMERA by Nick Franks, Jeremy Wilson and Chat GPT AI 12.11.2024”

[www.radionics.co.uk] My colleague Jeremy Wilson posed the question of ‘how to make a Radionic camera’ to the AI engine Chat GPT. The surprising answer is reproduced below and may encourage Radionic researchers to experiment with this vexed technology – vexed in the sense that no-one since George de la Warr (1904 - 1969) seems to be able to make a Radionic camera since his efforts the 1960s.

“Creating a Radionic camera, also known as a symbolic or psionic camera, involves constructing a device based on the principles of Radionics, a controversial and pseudoscientific practice believed to harness energy fields or "life force" to detect or influence events at a distance.

Please note that Radionics lacks scientific validation, and any devices constructed for this purpose should be considered experimental and not for medical or other serious applications.

### Basic Components and Steps

1. **Materials Needed: **

- A basic camera (digital or analog)
- Copper wire
- Quartz crystal
- Aluminum foil
- Insulating tape
- Wooden or plastic box (to house components)
- Schematic or symbolic plate (representing the Radionic intent)

2. **Preparation of the Camera: **

- **Disassemble the Camera: ** Open the camera to expose the internal components, ensuring you do not damage the essential parts needed for its basic functioning.

- **Attachment of Quartz Crystal: ** Secure a small quartz crystal inside the camera near the lens using insulating tape. The crystal is believed to amplify the Radionic energy.

3. **Creating the Antenna: **

- **Form an Antenna with Copper Wire: ** Wrap the copper wire around a small cylindrical object to create a coil, then extend the wire to form an antenna. Attach this to the exterior of the camera to enhance the device’s sensitivity to Radionic energy fields.

- **Connect the Antenna to the Camera: ** Attach one end of the copper wire coil to the crystal inside the camera. Ensure a firm and secure connection using insulating tape.

4. **Assembly of the Radionic Plate: **

- **Create the Symbolic Plate: ** Draw or print a symbolic representation (such as a geometric pattern or specific symbols associated with your Radionic intent) on a piece of paper or metal plate. This serves as the focus of the Radionic energy.

- **Attach the Plate: ** Secure this plate on the front or back of the camera, ensuring it is prominently placed. You can use aluminum foil to create a conductive surface beneath the plate.

5. **Enclosure and Insulation: **

- House the Components: Place the camera and attached components inside the wooden or plastic box, ensuring everything is securely fixed and insulated to prevent any short circuits.

- Seal the Box: Close the box with insulating tape or screws, ensuring it is sturdy and secure.

6. Testing and Calibration:

- Test the Device: Turn on the camera and take a few test photos to ensure it is functioning correctly. Adjust the positioning of the crystal and antenna if needed.

- Calibration: Use the Radionic camera to photograph subjects or scenes related to your Radionic intent, and observe the results. Calibration involves fine-tuning the device based on feedback and observed outcomes.

### Important Considerations

- Safety: Always prioritize safety, especially when working with electrical components. Avoid short circuits and handle tools carefully.

- Ethical Use: Use the Radionic camera responsibly and ethically. Radionics is not a replacement for medical or scientific instruments and should be used with caution.

- Scientific Skepticism: Be aware that Radionics is considered pseudoscience. Any observed effects should be critically evaluated.

This guide outlines a basic approach to creating a Radionic camera. As with any experimental device, results can vary, and it's essential to approach the practice with an open mind and critical thinking

Dan Taylor offers “The 2023 Holberg Debate: ‘Does Consciousness Extend Beyond Brains?’”

Dan wrote: “While this debate is celebrating its first anniversary, I think some of our readers/viewers may still find it of interest... There is also a YouTube link within the page listed below too if you prefer that, but the best introduction appears here: The 2023 Holberg Debate: ‘Does Consciousness Extend Beyond Brains?’ - Holbergprize <https://holbergprize.org/events-and-productions/the-2023-holberg-debate-does-consciousness-extend-beyond-brains/>”

The 2023 Holberg Debate

Do conscious experiences happen both within and outside the brain, and can science solve the ‘hard problem’ of consciousness?

At this year’s Holberg Debate, Tanya Luhrmann, Anil Seth and Rupert Sheldrake will take on the deep scientific and philosophical mystery of consciousness. The debate will be chaired by David Malone.

Consciousness is a mystery that matters to all of us, in every moment of our lives. Discussions of consciousness go back thousands of years, and have gained a new urgency in current times. In the Upanishads, the primary reality of creation is the Self, of everyone and of everything. Within the traditions of Cartesian dualism, mind and matter are distinct. For some modern neuroscientists, consciousness is created inside the brain: mind is a property of matter. In our uneasy era of genetic modification, ‘nootropic’ smart drugs and rapid advances in AI, debates around consciousness acquire new inflections, new dangers and new possibilities. Will we ever solve the mystery of consciousness? What is the relationship between mind and matter and does consciousness extend beyond brains?

It is clear that minds can influence the external world in myriad ways: through human activities, buildings, technologies, communications and so on. But is consciousness itself confined to the insides of heads? Is it no more than the activities of brains inside skulls? Or does it extend beyond the brain?

The question of how consciousness and matter interrelate has been characterised by the philosopher David Chalmers as the ‘hard problem.’ Modern neuroscientific approaches suggest consciousness and matter are inextricably interlinked. The study of the brain is therefore entwined with the study of consciousness, and vice versa. Other traditions present other perspectives: in Vedanta and other religious traditions, mind or spirit is the fundamental reality.

The Holberg Debate 2023 explores such vitally important themes, including the fundamental question: Does consciousness extend beyond brains?

The debate will also consider further questions, including:

- How do we perceive objects around us and what is the relationship of our minds to the objects we perceive? Are our perceptions active constructions, brain-based predictions, or something else?
- Is the reality we believe we perceive in fact an illusion, created within the brain? Could theories of reality as an illusion created within the brain also, potentially, be an illusion?
- How do we explain religious and mystical experiences of contact with other forms of consciousness? What should we make of phenomena such as the sense of being stared at?
- Do we need a new theory of consciousness for our changing times? If so, will it emerge from science, anthropology, philosophy, the arts, theology or somewhere else? Or will consciousness remain a mystery?

Scott Beutlich shared this article: Secret Pentagon study hints at reincarnation being real after finding consciousness 'never dies.'

By Matthew Phelan Senior Science Reporter For Dailymail.Com, Published: 17:18 Est, 6 December 2024

A study conducted by US Army Intelligence has suggested that reincarnation is real because consciousness 'never dies.'

Entitled 'Analysis and Assessment of The Gateway Process,' the 29-page report was drafted by US Army Lieutenant Colonel Wayne M McDonnell in 1983 and declassified by the CIA in 2003.

The research has resurfaced on social media, with Chicago-based comedian Sara Holcomb summarizing the findings, saying: 'We're pretty sure reincarnation is real.'

'Consciousness is energy and it exists outside of our understanding of reality,' Holcomb said, paraphrasing page 19 of McDonnell's Army intel report. 'And energy... never dies.'

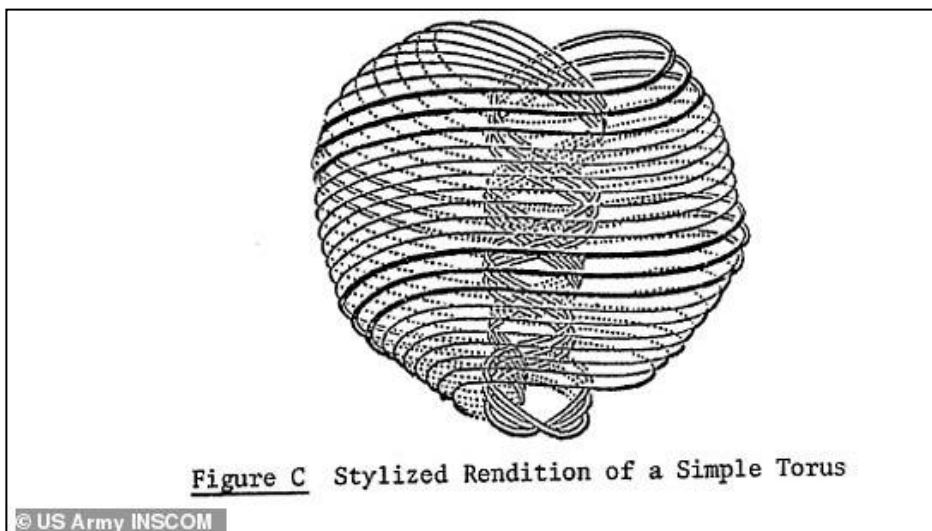

The mind-bending official Pentagon study was commissioned to better understand what its Army intel colleagues were doing sending personnel to a small institute in Charlottesville, Virginia that was working on the 'Gateway Experience.'

The then-secretive 'Gateway' project, based to McDonnell's analysis, was 'a training system designed to bring enhanced strength, focus and coherence... to alter consciousness.'

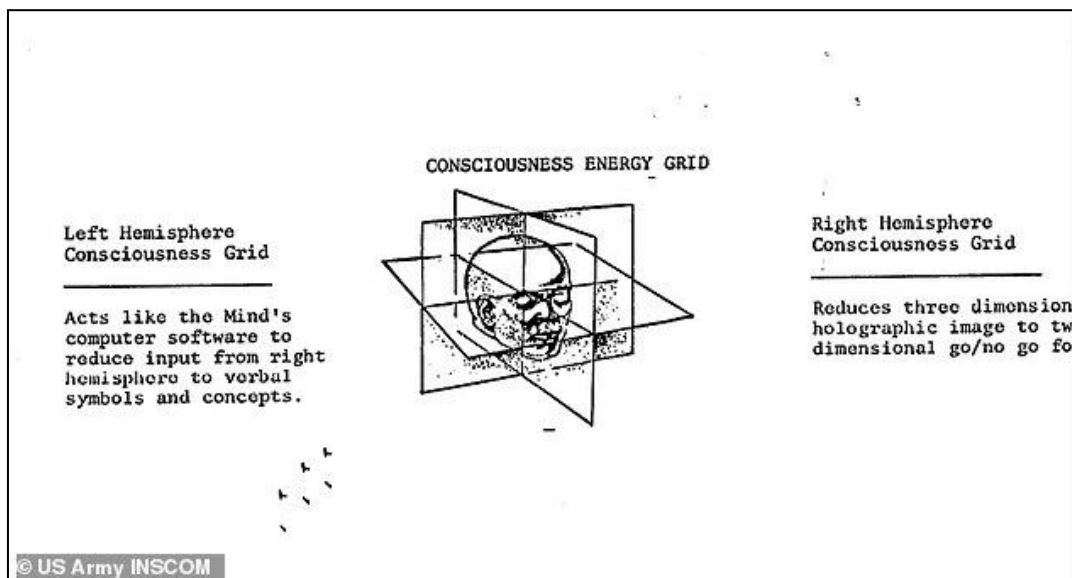

From there, Gateway's ambitious goal was to shift the practitioner's consciousness 'outside the physical sphere so as to ultimately escape even the restrictions of time and space.'

At least according to McDonnell, the Monroe Institute's discoveries that wound up bolstering the case for reincarnation were profound.

'When consciousness returns to the Absolute [Monroe jargon for a realm outside spacetime] it brings with it all the memories it has accumulated through experience in reality,' as he distilled the Institute's finding that memories pass on from life to life via reincarnation.

An eye-popping study conducted by US Army Intelligence and made public by the CIA has shocked social media with its finding that consciousness transcends space and time. Entitled 'Analysis and Assessment of The Gateway Process,' the 29-page report was drafted in 1983

The recently resurfaced US Army Intelligence report presents an abstract explanation of how consciousness is created through the brain's processing of energy in the physical world - transforming it into what Lieutenant Colonel Wayne McDonnell compares to a hologram (above)

Or, as Holcomb put it more succinctly in one of many videos by TikTok users fascinated with the metaphysical US Army study: 'You're pretty sure reincarnation is a legit thing? Yup.'

The comedian, who posts as @mad_hatter_news on TikTok, also referenced a vast body of research by the nearby University of Virginia Medical School's Division of Perceptual Studies which has compiled a database of over 2,500 cases of professed reincarnation.

Many of the cases involved children under the age of five who claimed to remember 'memories of a previous life they claim to have lived.'

'Why the kids?' Holcomb continued in her post. 'It seems they're the ones that most easily remember their past lives.'

But the Gateway study explored more than simply heady spiritual questions of reincarnation, the nature of consciousness and the afterlife.

Ltc McDonnell's report as a member of US Army Intelligence and Security Command (INSCOM) was concerned with psychic spycraft along the astral plane. Psychic spycraft involves the use of alleged paranormal abilities for espionage.

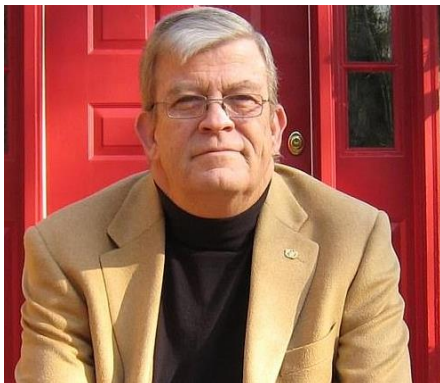

In 1983, INSCOM was headed by Major General Albert Stubblebine III, one of the US military's greatest proponents of psychic warfare.

Joe McMoneagle — who served as Remote Viewer No1. in one of Major General Stubblebine's psychic spy programs — has said his own role was to use remote viewing to spy on Russian military bases and gather intelligence.

He spent more than 20 years as a so-called 'remote viewer' working at Fort Meade in Maryland, which is also home to the National Security Agency (NSA).

'My success rate was around 28 percent,' McMoneagle said. 'That may not sound very good, but we were brought in to deal with the hopeless cases.'

'Our information was then cross-checked with any other available intelligence to build up an overall picture. We proved to be quite useful "spies."'

Joe McMoneagle (pictured) was a Vietnam vet and American 'psychic spy.' His role was to use 'remote viewing' to spy on Russian bases and gather intelligence. He now serves on the Board of Advisors for the Monroe Institute - whose 'Gateway' process was studied in the 1983 report

Today in retirement, McMoneagle serves as on the Board of Advisors and as a trainer for the Monroe Institute, the same institute whose 'Gateway' process was studied by US Army INSCOM in their 1983 report.

Ultimately Ltc McDonnell's 'Gateway Experience' report, was an effort to verify the institute's suitability as a defense contractor used in this Army INSCOM program to operationalize 'out of body' experiences for espionage.

In his summary, McDonnell concluded: 'There is a sound and rational basis in terms of physical science parameters for considering Gateway to be plausible in terms of its essential objectives.'

'Intuitional insights of not only personal but of a practical and professional nature would seem to be within the bounds of reasonable expectations,' he continued, in essence validating INSCOM's 'psychic spying' strategy.

But there was a catch, he noted: These experiences were hard to control or direct consistently, which Ltc McDonnell suggested would require long and careful training.

In 1983, INSCOM was headed by Major General Albert Stubblebine III (portrait left), one of the US military's greatest proponents of psychic warfare

'[A] phased approach for entering the Gateway Experience in an accelerated mode would seem to be required [...] from the standpoint of establishing an organization-wide exploitation of Gateway's potential,' he wrote.

In other words, while the Army intel official found that Gateway was real and possible, more research was needed to get to a place where US intelligence could actually make use it.

Ltc McDonnell then laid out recommendations for how Army INSCOM could go about designing further Gateway studies, though its unclear if more studies were ever launched.

Mysteriously, one page of Ltc McDonnell's report is missing, number 25, in the middle of a section where he was outlining potential practical defense uses of Gateway.

The omission caught the attention of some readers who launched a Change.org petition calling for the CIA to release it. The CIA, however, says that it never had the page to begin with — fueling theories that it has been left it out on purpose due to the powerful techniques that page 25 described.

Google says it has cracked a quantum computing challenge with new chip

Published 4:03 PM EST, Mon December 9, 2024

By Reuters https://www.cnn.com/2024/12/09/tech/google-quantum-computing-chip/index.html?utm\_source=cnn\_Five+Things+for+Tuesday%2C+December+10%2C+2024&utm\_medium=email&bt\_ee=vcka80hkycIzMeYAQ5xaiRfQTndhQUIsAOoi5Fx%2FD%2BbtKucZ0oXMujbgK1q51S6D&bt\_ts=1733830699844

Google on Monday said that it has overcome a key challenge in quantum computing with a new generation of chip, solving a computing problem in five minutes that would take a classical computer more time than the history of the universe.

Like other tech giants such as Microsoft and IBM, Alphabet's Google is chasing quantum computing because it promises computing speeds far faster than today's fastest systems. While the math problem solved by the company's Santa Barbara, California, quantum lab does not have commercial applications, Google hopes quantum computers will one day solve problems in medicine, battery chemistry and artificial intelligence that are out of reach for today's computers.

The results released Monday came from a new chip called Willow that has 105 "qubits," which are the building blocks of quantum computers. Qubits are fast but error-prone, because they can be jostled by something as small as a subatomic particle from events in outer space.

As more qubits are packed onto a chip, those errors can add up to make the chip no better than a conventional computer chip. So since the 1990s, scientists have been working on quantum error-correction.

In a paper published in the journal Nature on Monday, Google said that it has found a way to string together the Willow chip's qubits so that error rates go down as the number of qubits goes up. The company also says it can correct errors in real time, a key step toward making its quantum machines practical.

"We are past the break-even point," Hartmut Neven, who leads the Google Quantum AI unit, said in an interview.

In 2019, IBM challenged Google's claim that Google's quantum chip solved a problem that would take a classical computer 10,000 years, saying the problem could be solved in two-and-a-half days using different technical assumptions about a classical system.

In a blog post Monday, Google said it took some of those concerns into account in its newest estimates. Even under the most idealistic conditions, Google said a classical computer would still take a billion years to get the same results as its newest chip.

Some of Google's rivals are producing chips with a larger number of qubits than Google, but Google is focused on making the most reliable qubits it can, Anthony Megrant, chief architect for Google Quantum AI, said in an interview.

Google fabricated its previous chips in a shared facility at the University of California, Santa Barbara, but built its own dedicated fabrication facility to produce its Willow chips. Megrant said that new facility will speed up how fast Google can make future chips, which are chilled in huge refrigerators called cryostats to run experiments.

"If we have a good idea, we want somebody on the team to be able to ... get that into the clean room and into one of these cryostats as fast as possible, so we can get lots of cycles of learning," Megrant said.

Section IX “Members Only” Presentations for Free Online Viewing

One big advantage to being a member of USPA is the Members Only page of our website.

We have over 150 presentations FREE for viewing by USPA members. If you are not a member yet, you can ‘fix’ that in just a few minutes at <https://www.psychotronics.org/join/>

The full list of Masterclasses in the Member’s Only Tab on the Website was getting unwieldy. Suffice it to say that ALL MASTERCLASS videos are in the Members Only tab of our website, along with 140 other videos, audios and publications!

We will present only the 10 most recent in this list. For the titles of the rest, you can check our Shop – they are all for sale too! Master Class Videos for Sale.

To believe or not to believe-

A dive bar opens across the street from the church and the minister implores his congregants to pray for its destruction. A week later the bar is struck by lightning and burns to the ground. The irate owner sues the church claiming the prayers cause the destruction of his business. The church adamantly denies the charges.

I after hearing both sides, a stumped judge confesses, “this case confuses me, because the owner of the bar believes in the power of prayer, while the church doesn’t.”

What is USPA?

The United States Psychotronics Association (USPA) is a federally recognized, nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization founded in 1975 to serve as a focal point for scientific and technical exploration of the universe of esoteric, spiritual, and psychic arts in the United States of America.

The USPA has been hosting annual conferences for its membership since its formation and has featured countless individuals with cutting-edge viewpoints, research, or theories to share, allowing any interested persons to openly discuss their work.

What is Psychotronics?

USPA defines psychotronics as the science of mind-body-environment relationships, an interdisciplinary science concerned with the interactions of matter, energy, and consciousness.

Psychotronics involves the study, research, and applications of the physics and technology of the mind, brain, spirit, consciousness, and the underlying forces of life and nature – hence the term “psychotronics.” A true understanding of the universe must include the spiritual as well as the technical. USPA provides an opportunity for amateur researchers to present their findings along with the professionals. USPA stresses research, with documentation of results, and practical applications, rather than personal experience and unsupported hypotheses.

With assistance from USPA, J.G. Gallimore’s Books are Still Available on Amazon

Jerry G. Gallimore was one of the founders of the USPA in 1975, and was a leading researcher in psychotronics and unusual energies until his untimely death in 1989.

All five of J.G. Gallimore’s rare books on psychotronics subjects and unusual energies have been reprinted by the United States Psychotronics Association (USPA) and are being made available at a fraction of the cost that used copies were being sold at online. Available at Amazon.com USPA Shares in the income from these sales.

So rare have these books been, that only a few libraries in the entire world had them in their collections, and some original Gallimore’s books were being sold for several hundred dollars each online. However, with these newly reprinted volumes, each will be available for less than $30.00.

The Handbook of Unusual Energies: Volume	ISBN-13: 978-1543024999	The first book of 3 on unusual energies	468 Pages
Gallimore discusses in depth the research, discoveries, and inventions of all the major researchers in subtle energies, the aether, biological 62 fields, pyramid energy, radiesthesia, radionics, crystal transduction, and related subjects. These include the works of Baron von Reichenbach's and his odic energy, Dr. Wilhelm Reich's orgone energy, Dr. Harold Burr's biological life fields, Kozyrev's time mirror, Edgar Cayce's transmission of energy, and related research done by many others.

Of particular importance is Gallimore's 127-page chapter on radionics. In this chapter he discusses in depth the research and devices of Ruth Drown, T. Galen Hieronymus, Rho Sigma, Dr. L. P. Corte and other prominent people in the radionics field.

Collected Properties &amp; Writings of J. G. Gallimore: Volume 2	ISBN-13: 978-1543025040	The second book of 3 on unusual energies	258 Pages

This is the second book in the "Unusual Energies" series that J.G. Gallimore published. It covers Gallimore's research on Albert Abrams, the founder of modern radionics, psychological physics, psychic energy, thought resonance, subtle energies, crystals, and related subjects.

In addition, a number of radionics devices are discussed, such as the De La Warr Diagnostic Instrument. And very helpfully, the rates are provided for substances, body organs, and medical diseases and disorders. I very interesting interview of Christopher Bird, conducted by J.G. Gallimore is provided, as well as a discussion of Walter Russell and his research

Relationship Between Parapsychology and Gravity: Vol. 3	ISBN-13: 978-1543024944	The third book of 3 on unusual energies	228 Pages
--	----------------------------	---	-----------

This book describes in depth the research and theories of J.G. Gallimore into the question of "parapsychology transmission" -the question of how such things as telepathy, remote viewing, ESP, and similar phenomena can physically occur. He discusses the various emanations, radiations, and energy fields of all matter and life including the ancient Chinese energy called "chi" (qi), the ancient Indian's prana energy, Reichenbach's "odidic force," Gurwitsch's "mitogenic radiation," Wilhelm Reich's orgone energy, and other subtle energies. He shows how all of these energies are similar, how they interact, and how they are related to gravity. He also discusses crystals as transducers of these energies, and provides diagrams of devices that could potentially be used to harness or control these energies.

Transverse Paraphysics: The New Science of Space, Time, and Gravity Control	ISBN-13: 978-1543024920	Gallimore's fourth book	374 Pages

This book covers the visionary research and theories developed by J.G. Gallimore about anti-gravity, space, time, and biophysics. He discusses in depth the dimensions of space, time, and gravity, and new discoveries in each of these areas. In addition, he covers research being done on anti-gravity and then discusses anti-gravity patents that have been obtained.

He also discusses the intriguing concept of aura energy fields surrounding humans and other living things, and how extra-sensory perception (ESP) might be explained through biophysical principles.

Unified Field Theory Research Book: Using Subjective Response to Psi-Plasma	ISBN-13: 978-1543024838	Gallimore's Fifth book	134 Pages
--	----------------------------	------------------------	-----------

This book is about psychotronics, radionics, electromagnetic fields and waves, psi-plasma, plasma fields, subtle energies, bio-electromagnetic energy, and other unusual energies emitted by living and non-living things. It also is about how living things interact with and are affected by these energies, which may enhance health or harm health.
