

Hello All,

For an organization such as ours to continue to be, not just functional, but vibrant, growing and a leader in cutting edge science, it needs a succession of active, engaged and involved leadership.

We are looking for a new slate of nominees for board members to carry us into the next decades of scientific wonders.

Who would you like to see serve as a USPA Board Member? We are looking for nominations!

Our bylaws require that all nominees must be USPA Members in good standing, for at least two years running. Anyone you suggest, including yourself, will be sent to our nominating committee. They will contact the person suggested for vetting according to our bylaws and make sure they are willing to run and serve. Please include an email address, phone number or both with each suggestion for nomination.

If you or someone you know would be interested in serving in this capacity, please let us know by December 31, 2025. Respond to USPA EMAIL.

Section I – Masterclass #67 – A Geomantic Life with Alanna Moore, November 22, 2025- 1:00 pm Central Time

Alanna was born in Sydney Australia. She was introduced to dowsing when living in London and joined the British Society of Dowsters in 1980. Returning to Sydney and befriending a well-known dowser Isobel Bellamy, she helped to found the New South Wales Dowsters Society in 1984.

The only founder remaining, she helped the society celebrate its 40th anniversary in Sydney in November 2024. She now lives in Ireland.

Alanna has been a professional geomancer for over 40 years, mostly in Australasia, Asia and Europe. She specializes in the more unusual applications of detecting spirits and applying dowsing to improved gardening.

Alanna's talk will describe some of these experiences, plus dowsing adventures and how her understanding of the subtle earth energies and Other dimensions of life has developed over time.

Section II – Sponsor's Corner

Clayton Ruby has generously offered to become a "Free Energy Patron" for Alanna's Masterclass.

Clayton says, "My business is called Arkadia Vitalis. We work with the living forces of place! We offer services in Earth Healing, Geomancy, Dowsing, harmonizing and correction through Biogeometry, EMF mitigation, home and environmental analysis.

More about Clayton and Arkadia Vitalis in Section IV.

Sponsorship is a two-way street.

Sponsors get recognition in our Saturday emails, in our monthly newsletters and a live 'commercial,' right before the Masterclass begins. How cool is that?

USPA gets a bit of a financial boost to help pay for all the bits and pieces that go into presenting these amazing classes.

So, if you are interested, the nuts and bolts of sponsorship are right behind this door.

Click on it and then, email Scott Beutlich to set it up at uspsychotronics@yahoo.com

Alanna has been a professional geomancer for over 40 years, mostly in Australasia, Asia, and Europe. She specializes in the more unusual applications of detecting spirits and applying dowsing to improved gardening. She studied Permaculture Design and gained 3 diplomas from Bill Mollison, the originator in the 1990s; while also assisting the movement by helping produce the Permaculture International Journal.

In terms of geomancy, she was informed by the wisdom of Australian Aboriginal peoples' paradigms, plus reading widely in the research undertaken to write her 12 books that are mostly on geomantic subjects. In 1993 Prof Phil Callahan came over from the US to teach about his energy discoveries and Alanna went on to make hundreds of the 'Power Towers' he inspired, that stimulate plant growth and crop production.

Alanna was also informed by colleagues and friends whose clairvoyance revealed the invisible dimensions of the spiritual realms. Travels around Australia to Aboriginal sacred sites opened up a world of fabulous nature spirits and she found that she could also dowse their presence.

Alanna's talk will describe some of these experiences, plus dowsing adventures and how her understanding of the subtle earth energies and Other dimensions of life has developed over time.

Alanna's books -Dowsing and Healing Manual (out of print); Backyard Poultry–Naturally; Stone Age Farming - Tapping Nature's Energies for the Farm and Garden, The Wisdom of Water; Water Spirits of the World; Sensitive Permaculture; Touchstones for Today; Plant Spirit Gardener; Peasant in Paradise; Fairy Haunts of Ireland; Legendary Leitrim - Exploring North West Ireland,

Section IV Sponsoring Alanna's Class: Clayton Ruby

Clayton Ruby sponsors Alanna from his company, Arkadia Vitalis, at <https://arkadiavitalis.substack.com/>

As his webspace says: We work with the living forces of place! We offer services in Earth Healing, Geomancy, Dowsing, harmonizing and correction through Biogeometry, EMF mitigation, home, and environmental analysis through Baubiologie (Building Biology), and agricultural or garden consultations in Biodynamic methods and Permaculture. We also provide cosmological planning, property succession guidance, and long-term strategies derived from ancient wisdom for cultivating coherence and vitality in living environments.

Arkadia Vitalis explores the living edge between heterodox science and spiritual insight—where physics meets poetics, where architecture is alchemical, and where the subtle informs praxis.

Here, we tend to the often-overlooked architectures that underlie our health, environments, and inner lives:

- the energetic geometries of Biogeometry
- the harmonizing principles of Building Biology
- the resonant timing of Astrology
- the generative fields of Aether Physics
- and the restorative patterns found in Medical Climatology, Electroculture, and Spiritual Science

In Arkadia, we cultivate stillness and precision. We listen for harmonics beneath the noise. We seek to remember what modernity has made us forget: that life is a symphony of subtle interrelations, and that to truly thrive is to be attuned.

Help Needed to Track Down Former USPA Speakers – A New John Reed Project

Do any of you have skills in family tree research, genealogy, or finding people with online people finders? If so, we need your help to find former USPA conference speakers, or their families, as far back as 1975, when the first conference was held. We want to reach out to them to make sure that their research papers and collections are preserved by the USPA, or at some other appropriate organization or institution.

If you can help, or know someone else who can, please contact the USPA Librarian and archivist, John Reed, at: Joreed43@gmail.com, or you can call or text him at 443-858-0757. Thanks for supporting USPA and the quest for preserving the research, and papers of these great scientists.

Section VII- John Reed Shared An Announcement:

A Company is Formed to Fund Breakthrough Technologies and Benefit USPA (Instant Replay from September!)

A new company called Breakthrough Technologies Investment Fund (BTIF) has recently been established for the development and production of highly innovative devices in the psychotronics, healing, and new energy fields.

BTIF was founded by John H. Reed and Nick Begich, Sr. who together are providing $100,000.00 as initial investment funds for inventors and developers of such devices. They have generously offered that any net income or other benefits from investments of their initial $100,000 will go to USPA. It is hoped that others with a strong interest in the development of breakthrough technologies in the psychotronics, healing, and new energy fields will join with BTIF, so that the investment fund can grow and be able to fund even more inventors and startup companies.

Proposals and applications for funding are being accepted, but with the clear understanding that any funding is contingent upon thorough due diligence. BTIF will consider proposals for the following types of devices:

1. Psychotronic and other technologies affecting the brain and mind. These would include devices whose use will enhance memory, intelligence, learning, or knowledge acquisition; enhance psychic abilities of any kind, such as remote viewing, telepathy, psychometry, or spiritual healing; enhance the placebo and other mind-body effects to treat one's own diseases and disorders;

2. Health, wellness, and healing devices: Devices using micro-currents, electromagnetic waves, magnetic fields, sound waves, subtle energies, scalar, or torsion field technologies: to diagnose or treat diseases and disorders of any kind, but especially microbial diseases, cancer, Alzheimer's, and drug addiction; to counteract the negative health effects of 5-G and other negative waves and fields in the environment; to enhance the immune system; and devices that have anti-aging and rejuvenation effects, such as the Dotto Ring, the Priore machine, and Lakhovsky technology.

3. New Energy and Propulsion Devices: This would include any device that generates usable electricity or propulsion operating on new principles of energy production, such as zero-point energy, vacuum energy, magnetic fields, anti-gravity, water as fuel, nitrogen as fuel, or any other "free energy" method.

The development and production of any of these devices could potentially have a dramatic effect on the betterment and advancement of humanity. So, if you have developed or are developing any such device, or know someone else who has done so, please send us information or a proposal, and we will follow up with you. Please send all communications by email, with attachments, if necessary, to John H. Reed, M.D. at joreed43@gmail.com. You can also phone 443-858-0757. Our mailing address is: Breakthrough Technologies Investment Fund, 6800 Roosevelt Ave., #701, Allen Park, MI 48101.

Section IX – In case you missed October's 66th Masterclass –

USPA presented “Psychotronics: From Old Masters to New Technologies”- with Alexander Suprun
Alex Shares some Supplement Information Too – Below the description of the class.

About the Class: Alex says, “Radionics represents one of the earliest attempts to create instrumentation for mind-matter interaction. While initially developed by Dr. Albert Abrams in the early 20th century, modern understanding of quantum mechanics and brainwaves coherence has shed new light on how these systems might actually function – thanks to the Old Masters, the Founding Fathers of USPA (Bob Beck, J.G. Gallimore, Tom Bearden, Bob Beutlich, Andrea Puharich, Marcel Vogel, Al Bielek, and many more!)

The key principle of any old and modern psychotronic device is its ability to create a connection between human consciousness and subtle energies. What's fascinating is how this aligns with scientific quantum mechanical principles of observer effects and non-local interactions.

Our research takes this foundation into the quantum mathematics realm, using modern technology and the latest mathematical theories (Teich Muller, Kletichka, Kalouza-Klen, Feynman) to measure and validate these interactions. A psychotronic computerized interface enhanced by portable Neurofeedback Headsets, serves as a structured way to focus consciousness and intent, while our quantum and brainwave measurements provide objective data about the resulting interactions.

Think of it as creating a technological bridge between mind and matter - where consciousness meets quantum reality in a measurable, reproducible way. This forms the basis for our recent hybrid computer software / electronics hardware developments, some of them “spiced” with Artificial Intelligence interpretation, which I will demonstrate. What sets our approach apart is the integration of modern science theoretical frameworks with practical psychotronic implementation, allowing researchers to explore consciousness-reality interactions using reliable, reproducible methods.

About Alex Suprun: Alex is an engineer by education, digital specialist by trade and a devoted psy & esoteric researcher by heart. Born under the Soviet “Iron Curtain” and briefly exposed to its psychotronic technology phenomena there, he dedicated the last 6 years of his life trying to merge ancient wisdom, unclassified research and modern technologies into compact and most powerful systems which can be used to defer Evil and help people restore and protect their health.

Alex teams up with anyone seriously interested in exploring the next generation of psychotronic and radionic technologies and groundbreaking ideas. Currently he works with a few dedicated people around the world to advance the existing platforms to a completely new level and explore practical ways to integrate the latest AI models with advanced psychotronic systems.

His group website is: <https://alsuprun.com/> Alex lives in a rural area near Montreal, Canada.

Section X – Notice from the editor

A few weeks ago, we sent out a one question survey:

“At the next USPA conference, what speakers do you especially want to see in the schedule?”

We were gratified at the profusion of answers. Below is a list of many of the responses. Below that I have included some longer answers that touched on more aspects of future conferences. Longer responses to the survey:

Carlos: My favorite topic is the capabilities of the mind, but knowledge does not exist in isolation, so I think it's great that you invite a "variety" of people, such as Masterclass 45, 55, 28, 34, 19, 46, etc. Here are three candidates:

1. DEAN RADIN, US

He is one of the directors at www.noetic.org, and I'm sure you know him. He is a credible person. He wrote the book 'Real Magic' and a few days ago a sequel called 'The Science of Magic' (<https://www.deanradin.com/>) was published. As he is probably promoting the book now, I think it is very possible that he would be open to giving a talk on this interesting topic.

2. CYNTHIA SUE LARSON, US (<https://www.realityshifters.com/>)

I believe this lady is a physicist and touches on the interesting topic of 'Quantum Jumping'. Something quite surprising and I don't know how to assess its validity. She seems quite outgoing and inclined to give a talk.

3. ARTUR SALA, Spain (<https://www.artursala.com/>)

He is a physicist and has written, so far, five volumes on 'Forbidden Knowledge'. He seems to me to be a very rigorous person; it is clear that he has worked thoroughly on his books and that these topics are really interesting.

SCALAR WAVES

I see that 'everyone' is talking about scalar waves, scalar fields, scalar energy, etc., but I also see that almost no one defines these concepts with any clarity. I would be very grateful if you could invite someone to clarify these concepts in a reasonably clear way so that we can understand what is being said. When people talk about concepts that are not defined, there is a reasonable suspicion that, in reality, the person does not know what he is talking about and is a 'snake oil salesman' (that's how we say it in Spanish; I think in English it's something like 'snake oil salesman').

Since we are asking for things: I would say the same about torsion fields.

G. K. I especially want to see radionics practitioners and dowsers--new faces if possible. This was one of the excellent features of the 2025 conference. We saw lots of people who do work on-the-ground. Kudos for that!!!! I hope it can be expanded. Seems we have some new folks in our Webinars who might be coaxed to come to Chicago.

Dowsing is such a critical element of psychotronics, it would be nice to mix in a few folks who focus solely or primarily on that technology. Marty Lucas has ties to ASD and might suggest some names to try.

C.D.

Here's a wish list.

Pete Radatti

He's always entertaining and prescient.

New blood, Dr Dietrich Klinghardt who is very into energy medicine. F-in DA came and took away all his SE-5 radionic devices when he first set up practice in the US. 😊

Don Paris, always a good speaker.

Ellen Kamhi.

A.D., I nominate Sky Monarch; she is a healer extraordinaire and her library of rates are helpful to many. I also recommend finding speakers who are newcomers and/or who have never presented at a major conference. I recommend leaning into a strategy that begins to grow membership and the community via official and unofficial mentorship. Newcomers need to be invited in AND welcomed in - this means intentionally "creating space" and opportunities. It is also a strategy for transferring knowledge. I hope this helps.

Nora: Instead of the word conference I was thinking of the word Nexus:

- A) Global Resonance: From Intention to Manifestation-Tools, Techniques, and Transformation in Radionics
- B) Working the World Field: Practical Innovation and Transformation in Radionics
- C) Advancing the Field: Practical Innovation in Radionics - From Intention to Manifestation"
- D) Radionics Forward: Tools, Techniques, and Transformation for a Connected World"

Tag Lines:

1. "Connecting Practitioners, Amplifying Energy Worldwide"
2. "Uniting Hands, Minds, and Fields Across the Globe"
3. "Harnessing Energy, Sharing Innovation, Across Borders"
4. "Tools, Techniques, Transformation — Radionics in Action"
5. "From Intention to Results: Practical Radionics for Today"
6. "Hands-On Practice, Measurable Change, Real Results"
7. "Pioneering New Frontiers in Energy and Intention"
8. "Advancing Radionics, Shaping the Future"
9. "Innovate, Activate, Transform: Radionics in Practice"
10. "Turning Intention into Impact"
11. "Where Energy Meets Expertise"
12. "Empowering Practitioners, Transforming the Field"

Where every field is – it could be replaced by bio field....

And for the next Nexus – the theme would be more on what practitioners have in common ...and every year or other year an issue is proposed the attendees on how they would approach the issue .. for an hour or so a committee reviews ideas from practitioners picks one and presents. it is interesting to see the different ways people would approach the issue – no right or wrong just opening the aperture to see things a different way and open the portal for collaboration...

Also maybe a speaker on running and marketing their radionics practice... and although so members may not be interested it would be interesting to create a short program on how to collect data and utilize data in the radionics field so, that it can grow and eventually the insurance companies in some states will cover costs – etc. so, the USPA organization creates and sets the standards in a language the insurance industry with some time can understand and fist what they use – and thus they could offer it as a pathway for patients/ clients.

My Radionics Journey: From Knobs and Light to Consciousness and Deities, by Alessandra Previdi

When I was invited to speak at the Chicago USPA convention, my first thought was: What could I possibly tell you that you don't already know? Radionics was born here, and the greatest pioneers lived here. So, I decided to share my own adventure with radionics—an adventure that has lasted more than 30 years and still surprises me. Perhaps it will inspire new students.

How did it all begin?

I was completing a degree in biology but felt deeply unsatisfied. Life, to me, was far more than chemical formulas and matter. Biology was beautiful, but too limited for a mind full of questions—questions my textbooks neither answered nor even allowed. One day in a bookshop I found an old volume by Edward Russell, Report on Radionics, which chronicled the history of radionics and its pioneers. Reading that book and deciding it would be my life's mission happened in a single moment. I saw hope for a better world: in a planet increasingly polluted and unnatural, here was a way to help people, animals, and plants without chemicals or poisons—and even at a distance. Incredible! My curiosity ignited: finally a vision of reality that included what ancient traditions hinted at but my university courses ignored.

At the back of the book was the address of a radionic association, so I wrote a letter—of course by post; there was no internet yet. Honestly, I didn't expect a reply. If radionics had existed for more than half a century, why had no one mentioned it? Perhaps it was a scam. Instead, the association sent me a brochure with their courses (I imagine they were surprised to hear from Italy!). I organized myself to attend an introductory weekend at a college in southern England. Students of all levels were there—even some finishing their studies—each in their own class. For someone like me, full of doubts, it was essential to speak with practitioners. I especially remember a woman who had dissolved a client's kidney stones so he no longer needed surgery. Fantastic! During the breaks, hearing their successes made my heart race. It's real, I thought. Radionics exists and it works!

Already that weekend we were asked to purchase our instruments—a magnificent black, shiny machine full of knobs and lights that I couldn't wait to use. But I was still at the first meeting. And then it happened: in one lesson they had us use a pendulum. What? Where in the book did it say there was a pendulum and that it wasn't the machine that gave the answers? Something in me cracked; yet the device looked so beautiful and “scientific” that I pushed the pendulum to the back of my mind and focused on the instrument. I went home happy but uneasy. The pendulum felt unscientific—and I didn't know how to use it.

I wanted to finish the course anyway. The school lasted three years, with private tutorials, term papers, and plenty of homework. It wasn't easy; it took time to become comfortable with the pendulum and with the concepts and practice of radionics. I eventually graduated. Back in Rome, alone in my studio, I began advertising among friends and open-minded circles. Often, however, I was met with distrust—or fear, as if I were a witch. There was no shared culture that could explain radionics, so it was quickly associated with superstition or black magic. Those were dark years. More than one person warned me that practitioners had been killed and that I should be careful. Everything was secret and mysterious; in Italy, the few who practiced radionics could be counted on one hand, and they shared nothing. So, I started giving lectures. People often laughed, but some were interested and wanted to learn, so I began teaching small groups in my home studio.

My outlook remained “scientific,” even when I couldn't explain everything. In the hospital library where I worked, I found perhaps the only Italian book on Albert Abrams's studies, written by Dr. Brunori, who had visited Abrams in the early 20th century—an incredible 600-page work full of insights. It treated radionic “rates” as resistances, not as abstract numbers as we often see today.

As my experience grew, so did my view of radionics. My work with the instrument was punctuated by what I call zen moments—points of no return after which reality looked different. As my friend Raymon Grace says, once the mind stretches, it never returns to its old shape.

One such moment came while treating my sister's thyroid. She lived a few miles away and described symptoms that convinced me she had hypothyroidism. Without testing, I set the thyroid rate on the instrument and sent a strong orange, a stimulant. I felt very satisfied.

Within hours she called: What are you doing? My thyroid is swollen; I feel a lump in my throat and my hands are shaking. Oh my God! First realization: radionics works! Really! Second realization: because it works, you must always dowse. I sent a calming blue and the situation settled.

Many say it is enough to send information “with love.” My experience differs: if you send the wrong information—even lovingly—either nothing happens or you can harm someone.

I confirmed this many times with the Peggotty board, an extraordinary radionic instrument designed by a certain Butcher, working on black-and-white polarity. My teacher Wendy Evans, who hosted me for private tutoring at her beautiful home in Wales, loved it and collected several. Following her, I bought a few, though later I discovered a paper Peggotty worked very well too. It is widely used for musculoskeletal issues and inspired the booklet I published with my osteopathic student Antonio Zimotti on Amazon: Treatment of the Musculoskeletal System with the PreZi Method—Active Points.

I used the Peggotty to test my findings: if the rates drawn on the instrument were correct, results appeared within 20 minutes. I remember my martial arts teacher with knee pain. An X-ray suggested a patellar ligament issue, so I set that rate. After 20 minutes she felt no change. I dowsed and found the problem was the tensor fasciae latae muscle, which also inserts into the knee. I set that rate and within 20 minutes the pain was gone. The Peggotty acted fast; I often used it to verify whether I’d found the right target.

I loved my Base 44, created by Tansley and Rae, until one day a light burned out. Nervously, I opened the machine to replace it—and had another zen moment. The witness plate connected to the instrument via a jack. When I opened the case, the internal socket wasn’t attached to anything. How could that be? I had been doing treatments, turning knobs—while the witness was effectively unplugged. If the plate wasn’t connected, how was information transmitted? This opened a new path of ideas: I began moving from “frequencies” to intent, to torsion waves, to something truly innovative. Was radionics the science of the future? So, everything had to be rethought—upside down. It wasn’t easy to accept.

Around then, Bob Brands, an IBM professional, launched a computerized radionics program, the ETRE System—the first radionics software. Scandalous, I thought. How could a computer screen with symbols and a client’s typed name possibly work? Where were the knobs and potentiometers? And the witness? How could a name typed on a keyboard be valid? I couldn’t afford the program, nor did I know how to use a PC or DOS, the operating system of the time. Still, I wrote to Bob and proposed translating it into Italian for my students in exchange for using it. He agreed. I forced a friend to teach me DOS and began—without believing in it at all. At the gym, a woman said she hadn’t had her period for months. With her permission, I entered her details into ETRE, opened the hormonal and reproductive screens, set up a treatment, and broadcast it a few times. The next week she told me her period had arrived. Another zen moment: radionics also works on a PC without a physical witness. But is it still radionics—or something else?

Then came computerized medical systems using white noise to interact with human consciousness—so-called “quantum” programs—capable of automated analysis and treatment, even remotely like radionics. They were expensive, but I eventually obtained one, Quantec, and discovered we could communicate with a machine. Incredible. I read about a study using a robot for imprinting with ducklings: once they “adopted” the robot, their intent kept it near them. What is this power inherent in life? Ancient knowledge says everything is mind. But what is mind? Radionics includes an entire worldview—reality, life, and the invisible aspects of the human being—that keeps us amazed like children seeing the world for the first time.

My adventure in United States began soon after, in Ohio, at Fridenstine, to buy—and naturally to learn how to use—the SE-5, the first digital radionic device, equipped with stored programs and the possibility of being connected to a computer to send many treatments simultaneously. After some years, I joined the Radionics Symposiums in Rapid City organized by Ron Barone and his daughter, where I met many of you—so many incredible people, ideas, and experiments. One practitioner specialized in farm animals and used a photo of the empty barn as the witness for a herd of cows. What is this? Incredible! For those who think radionics people are poor—no! He had a profitable business and reported many successful Lyme cases. In his lecture he showed a photo of his lab—an entire floor of radionic equipment—each device “consecrated” to an angel or spiritual figure for protection. I had never heard of that, but I liked it. Radionics has always touched the borderlands—esotericism included—and now, divinities.

When I began, I was fairly materialistic, but radionics slowly changed my mindset. Spirituality and the invisible—I “knew” they existed, yet I didn’t quite believe. Radionics led me on a long journey into myself and reality. I needed knobs and lights at first; I wouldn’t have accepted anything else. But it couldn’t end there.

Radionics brought me into contact with remarkable people who regularly shook the tree of my beliefs—often my own students. I always say I teach in order to learn. One of my first students, Solveig Faninger, couldn’t afford an instrument. “I built the radionic device in my mind,” she told me. “I turn the knobs mentally, and it works.” I stared, speechless—but she did it. Another student, away at work all day, left witnesses on his instruments and “switched them on” mentally from a distance to broadcast treatments, then off again. Astonishing.

Then came the Energy Transmitter. My friend Claudio Romanazzi, who trained with me in England and later opened a radionic school in Germany, wrote that he was using a future-leaning, extraordinary device I absolutely had to buy. We visited Chris Dennison, its creator, in southern England. Despite my doubts, I bought it—a kind of panel with a central hologram (my students later called it “the tile”). It was expensive, and I wondered whether I’d gone mad.

That evening, exhausted, irritable, and with stomach pain, three months pregnant and worried I’d been reckless to travel, I looked at the device. It had no knobs; it communicated with the mind. Feeling ridiculous, I “spoke” to it: increase vital energy; protect the fetus; remove fatigue, and so on. When I finished, the transformation was immediate—no stomach pain, and I felt lively, ready for dinner. How is this possible? Back home, as my belly grew, I could no longer sit at the desk, so I lay in a deck chair in the garden with my notebook of treatments, held the device, and began: Call the client Maria Rossi. Balance the solar plexus chakra. Send Cherry Plum and blue to the solar plexus. Balance stomach pH. In minutes I treated ten people. Incredible. Since then I’ve become Chris’s friend and helped sell his instrument. Over a hundred people use it successfully in Italy. In my school I still prefer students to learn classical radionics first, and later move to Clear Channel, which is now a small glass cube with geometric engravings. If I used to talk to a panel, now I talk to a glass cube—the situation seems even more outrageous!

Of course, this fascinating tool has drawn criticism among my students. Chris Dennison responds:

“What about these discussions? From your own experience, to say there’s nothing in it is absurd. It is not merely a focus for the mind; it includes the heart center in healing. If focus were enough, take a blank page or a crystal ball and try to do the same. Has anyone tried making remedies with this tool? Asking it to create the most appropriate remedy at the necessary potency is, to me, a small miracle. Some computers can do similar things, but not at this price. The quality of the remedies is superb. This tool moves the operator beyond a purely mechanical view of radionics into the intangible realms of quality, value, and meaning. Using an instrument with intelligence and links to higher worlds, operator, patient, and remedies meet in the heart center. That is spiritual healing.”

Nick Franks writes in “Working with the Energy Transmitter”:

“What is this appliance? With the Energy Transmitter, a new situation and level of potential has arisen. For reasons partly known and unknown, Chris Dennison has been able to unite human and deva worlds through a communication device in service of an ancient purpose—healing... The instrument is like a honeycomb where remedies—herbs, minerals, vitamins, colors—already known in human existence can be found. In addition, a beam of light extends into the realms of infinity, channeling spiritual assistance to the operator. This beam also allows exploration of distant healing realms from which new remedies and techniques can be brought back and stored in the honeycomb...”

Whether or not one accepts such descriptions, the device challenges us to expand our model. Perhaps it anticipates our natural development, offering now what once took years of inner training with limited results. It might even be “from the future,” accelerating the present. Working with the Energy Transmitter, we attempt to collaborate with devic intelligences, to manipulate energies so that physical matter changes—pathology returning to healthy tissue. We aim to influence external reality through internal, non-physical processes. As Alice Bailey wrote: “Man’s place in the cosmic plane becomes more vital and apparent when he realizes that one of his main responsibilities is to direct the currents of energy from the mental plane...”

In recent years I have followed the Russian researcher Vyacheslav Mikhailovich Bronnikov, an extraordinary person with a broad vision—a system-builder who synthesizes ancient knowledge, scientific method, and noospheric thinking. Since the 1990s he has pursued education and research that combine deep knowledge and techniques, development of super-abilities, and a systemic worldview: harmony of spirit and technology, inner vision and advanced practice.

One particularly interesting thread is his view of reality at a spiritual level—the realm of deities. He describes countless forces that help or interfere with our plans. Increasingly, reality is seen not as random events but as an information-based system. John Wheeler’s “It from Bit” suggests that information is the universe’s fundamental substrate. Every interaction and event emerges from informational processes. How does this meet spiritual and energetic-informational systems? One proposal is the idea of information-energy deities (InEn)—entities that carry the information, energy, and qualities of a phenomenon, object, or process. They act as interfaces or “APIs” of reality, storing, transmitting, and transforming information. Human attention and intention become the interface between information and energy.

Whether we call the deeper ground the field of consciousness, quantum vacuum, noosphere, or world-spirit, the metaphor is useful: the universe as an immense information system; InEn deities as modules through which we can query, change state, and receive effects. To “heal,” contact the Deity of the organ—an essential module of the system. Thus InEn deities become not only spiritual entities but technological elements of being, bridging science and spirituality, technology and mysticism. One of my projects now is the inclusion of this Deities in my radionic work.

Looking back at radionics, I feel I have lived through each stage: the microcurrent era by Abrams (continued today by Van Gelder and by Carolyn McMakin with her frequency-specific microcurrent school); the beloved classical instruments of De La Warr, Hieronymus, Kelly and Drown; then the new instruments, software, and diagrams. Now, a new world is coming: new laws, new methods, new tools.

Perhaps some will ask whether I am still talking about radionics. I don’t know—and does it matter? After all these years, I can say that Radionics has not only been my work — it has been my journey, my companion, and my teacher. It has led me beyond the boundaries of science, into the living field where thought becomes energy and energy becomes creation. It has opened doors to other cultures, other minds, and other ways of perceiving reality.

It has made me a traveler, a researcher, a teacher — and above all, a witness to what human consciousness can truly achieve. I have given my life to Radionics, and Radionics has given me another life in return — a life filled with creativity, knowledge, friendship, and the joy of seeing my students grow and discover their own power. Today, I feel part of a movement that goes far beyond us — a quiet revolution of awareness, connecting science and spirit, technology and the heart.

Thank you — all of you — for keeping this vision alive, for continuing to explore, to question, to believe. Together, we are shaping the dawn of a new world — a world of harmony, consciousness, and light.

Can Sensitivity Be Trained? There is a new tool for experiencing and improving your psychic sensitivity.

This is a phone app, a tool for investigating the sense of being stared at and how to train it. “Join us in testing a remarkable human ability that mainstream science overlooks. The test requires two people, a 'Looker' and a 'Subject'. In a series of 20 randomised trials, the Looker's phone tells them whether to look at the Subject or not. The Subject guesses if they felt the look.”

Your Body's Hidden Technology: The Scalar Field Between Your Hands

The most advanced healing technology on Earth costs nothing, requires no training, and you've been carrying it since birth. You've probably used it without knowing what it does.

Press your palms together right now.

Feel that warmth spreading between them? That subtle tingling, as if something invisible is gathering in the space between your skin?

You've just created what researchers in bioelectromagnetic medicine call a 'coherent field node'--a zone where the measurable electromagnetic emissions from your left and right hands create an interference pattern. The HeartMath Institute has documented that when you bring your hands to your chest and press them together, you're positioning them at the peak intensity of your heart's electromagnetic field, creating measurable increases in heart rate variability coherence--a state associated with optimal physiological function.¹

But here's where the New Biophysics gets interesting--and admittedly controversial.

The Scalar Wave Bridge: Where Measured Meets Mystery

When two coherent electromagnetic waves meet in perfect opposition (what physicists call 'destructive interference'), the standard model says they should cancel out. But researchers like Tom Bearden and Konstantin Meyl propose something else happens: the transverse electromagnetic components cancel, yes, but the energy doesn't disappear. Instead, it transforms into what Tesla called 'longitudinal waves' and what modern researchers term 'scalar waves'--a different form of electromagnetic potential that mainstream physics is only beginning to acknowledge.²

According to this model, documented in peer-reviewed journals like the International Journal of Applied and Advanced Scientific Research, when your hands--each carrying opposite bioelectric charges due to hemispheric brain dominance--come together, you create the precise conditions for scalar wave formation: two coherent biological oscillators meeting in phase opposition.³

What is USPA?

The United States Psychotronics Association (USPA) is a federally recognized, nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization founded in 1975 to serve as a focal point for scientific and technical exploration of the universe of esoteric, spiritual, and psychic arts in the United States of America.

The USPA has been hosting annual conferences for its membership since its formation and has featured countless individuals with cutting-edge viewpoints, research, or theories to share, allowing any interested persons to openly discuss their work.

What is Psychotronics?

USPA defines psychotronics as the science of mind-body-environment relationships, an interdisciplinary science concerned with the interactions of matter, energy, and consciousness.

Psychotronics involves the study, research, and applications of the physics and technology of the mind, brain, spirit, consciousness, and the underlying forces of life and nature – hence the term “psychotronics.” A true understanding of the universe must include the spiritual as well as the technical. USPA provides an opportunity for amateur researchers to present their findings along with the professionals.

USPA stresses research, with documentation of results, and practical applications, rather than personal experience and unsupported hypotheses.

J.G. Gallimore’s Books are Still Available on Amazon - through assistance from USPA

Jerry G. Gallimore was one of the founders of the USPA in 1975, and was a leading researcher in psychotronics and unusual energies until his untimely death in 1989.

All five of J.G. Gallimore’s rare books on psychotronics subjects and unusual energies have been reprinted by the United States Psychotronics Association (USPA) and are being made available at a fraction of the cost that used copies were being sold at online. Available at Amazon.com USPA Shares in the income from these sales.

So rare have these books been, that only a few libraries in the entire world had them in their collections, and some original Gallimore’s books were being sold for several hundred dollars each online. However, with these newly reprinted volumes, each will be available for less than $30.00.

The Handbook of Unusual Energies: Volume	ISBN-13: 978-1543024999	The 1st book of 3 on unusual energies	468 Pages
Gallimore discusses in depth the research, discoveries, and inventions of all the major researchers in subtle energies, the aether, biological 62 fields, pyramid energy, radiesthesia, radionics, crystal transduction, and related subjects. These include the works of Baron von Reichenbach's and his odic energy, Dr. Wilhelm Reich's orgone energy, Dr. Harold Burr's biological life fields, Kozyrev's time mirror, Edgar Cayce's transmission of energy, and related research done by many others. Of particular importance is Gallimore's 127-page chapter on radionics. In this chapter he discusses in depth the research and devices of Ruth Drown, T. Galen Hieronymus, Rho Sigma, Dr. L. P. Corte, and other prominent people in the radionics field.

Collected Properties & Writings of J. G. Gallimore: Volume 2	ISBN-13: 978-1543025040	The 2nd book of 3 on unusual energies	258 Pages
This is the second book in the "Unusual Energies" series that J.G. Gallimore published. It covers Gallimore's research on Albert Abrams, the founder of modern radionics, psychological physics, psychic energy, thought resonance, subtle energies, crystals, and related subjects. In addition, a number of radionics devices are discussed, such as the De La Warr Diagnostic Instrument. And very helpfully, the rates are provided for substances, body organs, and medical diseases and disorders. I very interesting interview of Christopher Bird, conducted by J.G. Gallimore is provided, as well as a discussion of Walter Russell and his research
Relationship Between Parapsychology and Gravity: Vol. 3	ISBN-13: 978-1543024944	The 3rd book of 3 on unusual energies	228 Pages
This book describes in depth the research and theories of J.G. Gallimore into the question of parapsychology transmission" -the question of how such things as telepathy, remote viewing, ESP, and similar phenomena can physically occur. He discusses the various emanations, radiations, and energy fields of all matter and life including the ancient Chinese energy called "chi" (qi), the ancient Indian's prana energy, Reichenbach's "odic force," Gurwitsch's "mitogenic radiation," Wilhelm Reich's orgone energy, and other subtle energies. He shows how these energies are similar, how they interact, and how they are related to gravity. He also discusses crystals as transducers of these energies, and provides diagrams of devices that could potentially be used to harness or control these energies.
Transverse Paraphysics: The New Science of Space, Time, and Gravity Control	ISBN-13: 978-1543024920	Gallimore's fourth book	374 Pages
This book covers the visionary research and theories developed by J.G. Gallimore about anti-gravity, space, time, and biophysics. He discusses in depth the dimensions of space, time, and gravity, and new discoveries in each of these areas. In addition, he covers research being done on anti-gravity and then discusses anti-gravity patents that have been obtained. He also discusses the intriguing concept of aura energy fields surrounding humans and other living things, and how extra-sensory perception (ESP) might be explained through biophysical principles.
Unified Field Theory Research Book: Using Subjective Response to Psi-Plasma	ISBN-13: 978-1543024838	Gallimore's Fifth book	134 Pages
This book is about psychotronics, radionics, electromagnetic fields and waves, psi-plasma, plasma fields, subtle energies, bio-electromagnetic energy, and other unusual energies emitted by living and non-living things. It also is about how living things interact with and are affected by these energies, which may enhance or harm health.
