Marty Says:

The science we learned in school is neither complete nor correct. But some of the latest research is filling in those gaps and giving us the science to explain what we already do. Even better some of their theories are helping us ask better questions. We can use their work to make our work easier.

Bio: Full time radionics practitioner and teacher for nearly 2 decades. Former President of the USPA and ASD (American Society of Dowsters). Marty has clients and students from around the globe and regularly teaches throughout the United States. He hosts a weekly radionics Zoom class that is open to the public.

Divining the Otherworlds by Alanna Moore

ISBN - 978-0-6452854-6-8

Python Press

Published: September 2026

162 A5 pages, 45 illustrations

Ancient traditions of a supernatural spirit world are similar globally, especially in their most archaic forms. They talk of the Other, the Dreaming, etc. It's an other-dimensional, parallel universe that's all around us, but usually invisible. Folklore warns us to navigate this Fairyland with care and respect.

But how to know it? In our innate sensory potential, we can perceive it directly, if we find a means to lift the veil between the worlds. The ancient art of divining is one such means. You don't need any particular belief system to sense or work with the Other, ideally just an open and inquisitive mind, the capacity for intense focus, calm and fearlessness, and a kind heart.

When the world of spirit collides uncomfortably with ours and we need to find ways to investigate - this book provides just the thing. Australian author and diviner Alanna Moore has over forty years experience of dealing with Other dimensional problems impacting people's homes and the places they frequent. She's well qualified to present this overview of everyday spirit manifestations, ways to deal with unwanted ones, means of their perception and how to restore harmony to haunted homes.

"A fascinating exploration of spirit ecologies across cultures."

Richard Alan Miller, a former USPA presenter, has suddenly passed away.

In Memoriam Dr. Richard Alan Miller
Physicist. Author. Herbalist. Teacher. Polymath.
1944 — September 14, 2026

Dr. Richard Alan Miller — Rick to his family, “Dr. RAM” to decades of readers, farmers, radio listeners, and students — died on September 14, 2026. He spent a lifetime insisting that physics, psyche, and soil are onsubject. He left still writing, still teaching, and still turning toward other people. Across the United States, Europe, Latin America, and late-night radio in every time zone, people who never met him in person still felt they knew him.

Family, friends, and the people he moved

Behind the public legend was a brother. Donna is now executor of his estate. Only five days before Rick died, he posted a memorial on this site for her husband, Paul McLain. That is the kind of man he was at the end: still making room for someone else’s grief while his own life was almost finished. He will be buried at Evergreen Washelli in North Seattle, where family already rests — a return to the Washington ground he came from.

For years he made his working home in Grants Pass, Oregon, after OAK moved south from Seattle in 1984. Friends who saw him in Mount Shasta days before his death said he was fine then, and in great spirits. One colleague wrote that they had been emailing only hours before the fall. That is how close the work stayed to the man: a show still on the calendar, a letter still unanswered, a farm book still “coming soon.”

He also built a second family out of collaborators. Iona Miller, artist and writer on Jungian psychology, co-authored The Modern Alchemist, The Diamond Body, Pantheon, and The Magical and Ritual Use of Perfumes with him — a partnership that put depth psychology and laboratory physics in the same room. Stanley Krippner, his mentor, kept vouching for him across decades. Burt Webb and Darden Dickson stood with him on the holographic papers. Matthew Stein walked the survival and off-grid path with him; after Stein’s death in 2013, J.C. Cole continued the farm-and-workshop work. Kerry Cassidy, radio hosts, farmers, students of magick, and late-night listeners became the wider household.

That household was international. His herb and ritual books went into German, Spanish, and Hebrew editions. He spoke at Nexus conferences in Brisbane and Amsterdam. Coast to Coast AM, Project Camelot, Red Ice, Caravan to Midnight, Super Soldier Talk, Leak Project, Thread to Threshold, and a long chain of independent shows carried his voice into kitchens and trucks and night shifts on several continents. Small growers used his crop manuals who never cared about holography. Consciousness students used his papers who never planted echinacea. Both groups felt spoken to. That was the gift: he made strangers feel they had a teacher, and teachers feel they had a colleague.

We lost another friend of the USPA- Larry Dossey

- Larry was a speaker and the keynote speaker at the USPA 2001 Conference

Larry Dossey

September 27, 1940 – August 25, 2026

Larry Dossey, MD, 85, passed away peacefully with Barbara (Barbie)—his wife, life partner and soulmate—by his side at 11:55 p.m., at their home in Santa Fe, New Mexico. He was born September 27, 1940, in Groesbeck, Texas, to Ida Faye Belzle Dossey and James Leroy Dossey. Born on a small share-cropper cotton farm, Larry and Garry, his identical twin brother, arrived prematurely at 7½ months, each weighing 2½ pounds.

Although twins, they had different birthdays: Larry arrived at 11:55 p.m. just before midnight; Garry, arrived at 12:05 a.m. just after midnight. Their parents used a dresser drawer as an improvised bassinet. A sister, Betty, arrived on Garry’s birthday five years later. Although Larry’s birthday was September 27, their parents celebrated all three children’s birthdays on September 28. Larry only discovered that he was, in fact, born on September 27 when he was drafted into the Army and his papers were initially rejected due to an incorrect birthdate. A copy of his birth certificate, which he requested from the Limestone County Courthouse in Groesbeck, revealed his birthday was actually September 27.

Larry’s childhood home had neither indoor plumbing nor running water in the house; all water was drawn from a deep well in a bucket on a pulley. In high school, Larry learned to type, a skill that served him well the rest of his life. In 1958, when Larry was a junior in high school, he decided he wanted to debate. He entered the University Scholastic League (UIL), and since he needed a partner, he recruited Garry. They had no coach, but they were released from school at 2 p.m. each day so they could prepare for the competition. That year and their senior year, the self-taught duo went to the UIL state finals, both times losing in split decisions to debate teams with professional coaches. After graduating from high school, Larry and his brother became the first members of their family to go to college.

Larry matriculated at the University of Texas at Austin and graduated in 1963 with high honors in pharmacy, as did Garry. They both entered Southwestern Medical School in Dallas, although Garry subsequently opted to pursue a degree in dentistry.

During their years of post-college training, they worked double 7 a.m.–10 p.m. shifts as pharmacists on Saturdays and Sundays. On November 22, they were walking through the Parkland Hospital Emergency Department after lunch. President John F. Kennedy had just been shot and then rushed to Parkland Hospital. CBS News journalist Robert Pierpoint, who was covering the president's trip to Dallas, grabbed Larry and asked him to hold the payphone receiver in order to keep the line open to CBS. There were only four phones, and Robert MacNeill, an NBC reporter who was also covering the Kennedys' trip, asked Garry to hold a phone receiver for him. It was a day of history in the making that neither of them ever forgot.

Larry received his M.D. degree in 1967. In his last month of medical school, he did a rotation in the critical care unit at Baylor University Medical Center in Dallas. There, he met and began dating nurse Barbara "Barbie" Dossey, who became his beloved wife in 1972.

Following his internship, Larry became a battalion surgeon in Vietnam in 1968–69, where he served as a captain, US Army (Medical Corps), First Battalion, 50th Infantry Division (Mech), 173rd Airborne Brigade. He was decorated for valor and received the Bronze Star, Air Medal, Army Commendation Medal, National Defense Service Medal, US Vietnam Service Medal and the Vietnam Campaign Medal. His second year of military service 1969–70 was at Fort Carson in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

After serving in the military, Larry completed his internal medicine residency, 1970–72, at the Dallas Veterans Administration Hospital and Parkland Memorial Hospital, also in Dallas. In 1974 Larry and eight other general and specialty internists founded the Dallas Diagnostic Association (DDA) and began practice at the newly opened Medical City Dallas Hospital. Within the DDA, Larry established a biofeedback department, making it the city's first medical practice to do so. In 1982 Larry served as chief of staff of Medical City Dallas Hospital. The medical group had grown to over 20 members by 1988, when Larry retired from clinical practice to write full-time. The DDA became part of the Baylor Health Care System and later, Baylor Scott and White Health Care System. DDA has now been in existence for more than 50 years.

In 1990, Larry and Barbie moved to Santa Fe and built a home in the foothills. At the top of their property, where the vista is stunning, Larry created a medicine wheel on the ground surrounded by four benches, a peaceful area to sit in contemplation or just enjoy the view.

Larry was a man of boundless intellectual curiosity, both in breadth and depth, who read avidly and widely. He always cited Aldous Huxley's Perennial Philosophy as his favorite book, and his favorite quote as Sir Arthur Eddington's "Something unknown is doing we don't know what." The quote is inscribed on the overhead beams in a hallway of the Dossey home.

Larry was president of the Isthmus Institute of Dallas from 1985–87, an organization dedicated to exploring the possible convergences of science and religious thought. Larry lectured widely in the United States and abroad. In 1988 he delivered the annual Mahatma Gandhi Memorial Lecture in New Delhi, the only physician ever invited to do so. He was the recipient of many prestigious awards, including the Bravewell Collaborative Pioneers of Integrative Medicine in 2007, and six national/international awards with his wife, Barbara.

Larry was the co-chairman of the Panel on Mind/Body Interventions, National Center for Complementary and Alternative Medicine, National Institutes of Health from 1992–95. He was co-founder and executive editor of the peer-reviewed journal Alternative Therapies in Health and Medicine from 1995–2004, and co-founder and executive editor of the internationally recognized peer-reviewed journal Explore: The Journal of Science and Healing, from 2005–21. Upon retirement, he became the executive editor, emeritus.

More than 150 articles of Larry's were published, and he authored thirteen books. He always said that he had a "book angel" who saw to it that he always found exactly the information he needed when writing his books. His books are Space, Time & Medicine (1982), Beyond Illness (1984), Recovering the Soul (1989), Meaning & Medicine (1991), Healing Words (1993, New York Times bestseller), Prayer Is Good Medicine (1996), Be Careful What You Pray For (1997), Reinventing Medicine (1999), Healing Beyond the Body (2001), The Extraordinary Healing Power of Ordinary Things (2006), The Power of Premonitions (2009), and One Mind: How Our Individual Mind Is Part of a Greater Consciousness and Why It Matters (2013). He is the co-author of What Is Consciousness? (2016).

Radionics and Programming Reality– by Pete Radatti

Taken from www.radatti.com/blog

When I first began working with computers, they were not fashionable. They were not friendly. They did not smile at you from a phone. They were machines that required logic, discipline, and a willingness to think in steps. They also took up entire floors of large buildings.

A computer does not care what you meant. It cares what you instructed.

That is one of the reasons I find the comparison between radionics and programming so useful. Radionics may operate in a different layer of reality, but the discipline of instruction still matters. A vague instruction produces a vague result. A confused instruction produces confusion. A contradictory instruction may produce nothing useful at all.

- In computer programming, we use structures such as IF, THEN, ELSE, and LOOP.
- IF this condition is true, THEN do this.
- ELSE do something different.
- LOOP until the task is complete.

Those words are simple, but civilization now runs on them. Banking systems, aircraft, medical equipment, telephones, websites, security systems, and manufacturing plants all depend on logical structures. The modern world is full of invisible instructions. Even before computers the IF, THEN, ELSE logic was in constant and hidden use. Example, IF hungry THEN eat ELSE do not eat.

My working view is that radionics can also be understood through informational instructions. This does not mean radionics is the same as computer programming. It is not. A computer is a physical machine executing electronic states. Radionics appears to operate through a relationship among operator, witness, intention, rate, symbol, and reality itself. That is a larger and stranger system. A computer can only follow directions, even when they are wrong. Radionics is tied to reality itself which appears to have intelligence. This is why I often say, “Do it wrong and it works anyway!” It is because if reality likes what you want to accomplish, it helps.

But the analogy is useful.

A rate can be seen as a stored pattern. A witness can be seen as an address. An intention can be seen as an instruction. A radionics machine can be seen as a structured interface. The operator is not outside the system. The operator is part of the circuit and part of the authority behind the instruction.

This is where radionics becomes especially interesting, because I have spent much of my life around computers, signals, software, and security. In ordinary computer security, a properly formed instruction can change the behavior of a system. In radionics, we appear to be investigating whether properly formed informational patterns can influence the behavior of living systems, places, circumstances, or other targets.

That is a large statement. It should not be considered carelessly.

It also should not be dismissed merely because it is uncomfortable.

One of the developments I find important is the idea of stored-rate cards functioning somewhat like programs. If a useful rate pattern can be stored, copied, organized, and reused, then radionics begins to develop libraries. A library changes everything. It allows experience to be preserved. It allows beginners to benefit from the work of advanced operators. It allows complex work to be assembled from smaller components.

That is exactly what happened in software. Early programmers wrote everything by hand. Later, libraries developed. A beginner today can build something powerful because he does not have to reinvent every piece from nothing. He can call upon existing functions, structures, and tools.

Stored-rate libraries may serve a similar role in radionics.

This does not remove the need for skill. A fool with a powerful library is still a fool. In fact, he may become a more dangerous fool because he can act more quickly. Tools do not replace judgment. They amplify it.

That is why I believe radionics education must include more than “how to turn the knobs.” It must teach how to think. It must teach targeting, witnesses, intention, ethics, observation, and review. It should also teach the operator not to be impressed by his own imagination. Imagination is useful, but it is not proof.

The idea of UTran, my name for a radionics programming language, is partly humorous. The name is modeled after Fortran, an old and very real computer language. But the idea behind it is serious. If reality has an informational side, then logic may have a place in radionics. Conditional operations may matter. Repetition may matter. Default constraints may matter. Need may function as a condition.

This opens many questions.

Can a radionic program continue until it is no longer needed? Can it pause when conditions are wrong? Can a library of stored rates select only what is appropriate to the situation? Can an operation be structured so that it does not exceed ethical or practical limits?

I believe these questions are worth asking.

Some people want radionics to remain wrapped in mystery. I understand that. Mystery is attractive. It makes the field feel special. But mystery without structure becomes confusion. If radionics is to mature, it must become more disciplined, not less.

That does not mean stripping away wonder. It means giving wonder a framework.

A programmer learns quickly that reality inside a machine is unforgiving. A misplaced symbol can stop everything. A careless instruction can produce unintended results. Radionics may not behave exactly like a computer, but I suspect the lesson still applies.

- Say what you mean.
- Know what you are addressing.
- Structure the operation.
- Observe the result.
- Review honestly.

That is not as glamorous as pretending to command the universe. It is much better. It is how a field grows from stories into practice.

The other thing that you can keep in mind to ease your way into Radionics is that the Universe is alive and thinking. It wants to help us. It knows the difference between what you say and what you want. Often, but not always, you can “do it wrong and it works anyway”.

Dennis Stillings Obituary

Dennis Otto Stillings 1942 – 2025

[Dennis did several presentations at USPA Conferences, and Masterclasses #35.]

Dennis O. Stillings, 82, Valley City, ND passed away Wednesday, July 24, 2025, at Eventide in Jamestown, ND.

Nancy Grace Roman Space Telescope

The Nancy Grace Roman Space Telescope will settle essential questions in the areas of dark energy, exoplanets, and astrophysics.

Named after NASA's first chief astronomer, the 'mother of the Hubble Space Telescope,' the Nancy Grace Roman Space Telescope will have a field of view at least 100 times larger than Hubble's, potentially measuring light from a billion galaxies in its lifetime. This observatory will also be able to block starlight to directly see exoplanets and planet-forming disks, complete a statistical census of planetary systems in our galaxy, and settle essential questions in the areas of dark energy, exoplanets, and infrared astrophysics.

Known as the "mother of the Hubble Space Telescope," Nancy Grace Roman was born May 16, 1925 in Nashville, Tennessee, and died December 25, 2018.

From a young age, Roman showed an interest in astronomy, and when she was 11 years old she organized a club with her classmates in Reno, Nevada. In this club they learned about constellations and celestial objects from a book.

By high school, Roman realized that she had a passion for astronomy and wanted to pursue it. Her academic prowess was highlighted when she participated in an accelerated program and graduated in three years from Baltimore's Western High School.

In 1946 Roman received her Bachelor of Arts degree in Astronomy from Swarthmore College in Pennsylvania. During her time there she worked at the Sproul Observatory. In 1949 she received her Ph.D. from the University of Chicago, and stayed at the university for a further six years working at the Yerkes Observatory, and sometimes the McDonald Observatory in Texas. During this period, she observed the star AG Draconis and discovered that its emission spectrum had completely changed in comparison to earlier observations. This discovery helped to raise her profile within the astronomical community.

So much more about this amazing telescope and the woman it is named after can be found here:

Section VII – In Case You Missed Masterclass #76 -August 22, 2026

“An Orgone Energetic Approach to the Science and Spirituality Dichotomy and the Mind-Body-Environment Relationship” – with Tom DiFerdinando

Tom DiFerdinando is a pain, injury, and trauma therapist, and the newly inaugurated Director and President of the Orgone Biophysical Research Lab (OBRL). For decades Tom has studied and worked with the natural science and orgone energy discoveries of Dr. Wilhelm Reich, with a particular emphasis on Reich's biophysical and cosmological discoveries.

He has pioneered a hands-on bodywork technique based upon Reich's biophysics, and worked over twenty years as an associate in the lab of the late Dr. James DeMeo.

Learning Objectives:

1) Broad overview of the history and origin of the OBRL – replications, confirmations and advances in

Reich's original discoveries

- 2) Broad overview of Reich's discoveries, with emphasis on the relationship between orgone energy and armoring
- 3) The "sticking point" – spontaneous action (or, what do we mean by "energy"?)
- 4) Irreconcilable duality and the science-spirituality split – the organomic solution
- 5) Organomic insight into the mind-body-environment relationship
- 6) Contradictions and scientific first responders: Where is the orgone? Where is the armor?

Section VIII- Special Interest Groups (SIGs)

The USPA is establishing Special Interest Groups (SIGs) so that people with similar interests can get together online or in person to discuss, exchange ideas, collaborate, and do research on topics in the overall psychotronics and "free energy" fields. As is the case with most psychotronics subjects, there is overlap in the various topics, but many of you have specific areas of interest. Listed below are the SIGs that have already been established, along with the leader of each group and contact email address.

However, if you have a different or a more specialized interest than any of the SIGs listed, and would like us to establish a new group in the area of your interest, please contact the Coordinator, John Reed at: joreed43@gmail.com.

Unconventional and New Energy Systems SIG:

For all those interested in unconventional, new, or "free energy" subjects, including zero-point energy, magnetic field methods, cold fusion/LENR, water as fuel, inventions developed by Nikola Tesla, T. Section IX- USPA Local Affiliate Groups

The USPA is establishing localized affiliate psychotronics groups wherever our members are located – in the United States and elsewhere in the world. This is so that USPA members and others interested in psychotronics can get together in person, socialize, collaborate, and have speakers make local presentations

These local groups will be independent to give you maximum freedom of organization and activities. These groups can be composed of USPA members, as well as, others interested in psychotronics who may later decide to become members of the USPA. A set of "Guidelines" will be provided.

Listed below are the USPA local affiliate groups that have already been established, with the leader(s) of each group and contact email address. Please contact the leader if you would like to join one of these. If you live in a town or city that is not near an existing local group, and are interested in starting a group in your area, please contact the Local Group Coordinator, John Reed: joreed43@Gmail.com

MIA “Among the Missing”

Missing People, Organizations, Periodicals, Books, Artifacts, and more in the Psychotronics Field
by John H. Reed, USPA President

This is a new “column” or section of the USPA Newsletter, with the purpose of helping the USPA, as well as our members and research associates, to locate people, organizations, written works, devices, and other items that have seemingly disappeared, or have been extremely difficult to find in the psychotronics field. Updates will be added, and each missing item will be retained in future issues until it is found or otherwise resolved.

In our research and reading, we all have encountered reports or mentions of things of interest that we have tried to find. With our expanding readership, we can all help one another find what we have been searching for. Some may have experience in genealogical research, private investigation, law enforcement, or even intelligence work, which you could use to help with these searches.

This will also serve as a “People Locator Service” to help USPA members find authors, researchers, and other people involved in psychotronics, radionics, subtle energies, free energy, and related subjects. This would include people who have “disappeared” or have died long ago, and whose relatives USPA members may be trying to find in order to preserve the research papers and collection of that person.

If there is anything you have been searching for and need help to find, please write to me at:

joreed43@gmail.com , and I will include your search help request in the next issues of the USPA Newsletter.

Missing Device: Lafferty Radionic Instrument

Does anyone know anything about the Lafferty Radionic instrument? The "Lafferty" in the instrument name, may refer to Tom Lafferty, a recognized radionics practitioner and researcher who has contributed to the radionics field, particularly through patient surveys. It has been reported that Lafferty is associated with the development or analysis of the "Virtual Radionic Instrument" (VRI), which translates traditional, hardware-based radionic methods into computer/tablet software. If anyone has any information about this instrument or its inventor, please contact John at: joreed43@gmail.com

Missing Person: Paul Sauvin

We are trying to track down some of the early directors, officers, and researchers associated with the United States Psychotronics Association (USPA), after it was organized in 1975. Paul Sauvin was a USPA officer in 1996 and 1977. Paul, whose full name is Pierre Paul Sauvin, was an electrical engineer and inventor who, according to one source, worked in the aerospace industry and later with the National Institute for Rehabilitation Engineering at St. Joseph's Hospital in Paterson, NJ. He also worked with Dr. Carl Schleicher, head of Mankind Research Unlimited, and helped develop a device called the "AGRAD Machine." This device was designed to control crop insects, and was introduced on an experimental basis, although it is not known if it ever reached commercial production. Paul Sauvin's mother was Edith Sauvin, who lived in White Plains, NY, and died August 25th, 1987. Edith's only child was Pierre Paul Sauvin, who himself had 2 sons, Alan Paul Sauvin and Steven Eric Sauvin. He also had one daughter, Jane Elizabeth Sauvin. Any help in locating the children of Paul Sauvin would be greatly appreciated, and please write to joreed43@gmail.com.

Missing Organization and Proceedings: International Association for Psychotronic Research (IAPR)

Does anyone know what became of the International Association for Psychotronic Research? And do any of you have copies of its meeting proceedings? It was founded in 1973. However, the current location or activities of the IAPR are unknown.

The IAPR held numerous international conferences around the world, beginning with its first in 1974 in Prague, then Czechoslovakia. At this conference, Dr. Zdenek Rejdak was elected president for the Eastern Division of the IAPR, and Dr. Stanley Krippner was elected president for the West. The 8th International Conference on Psychotronic Research was held in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, 1993, as a joint conference with the United States Psychotronics Association (USPA), but it is unknown if any subsequent conferences of the IAPR were held.

Proceedings of each of these conferences were published, but the USPA Library only has copies of the second conference in 1976 and the eighth conference in 1993. In addition, the IAPR published a newsletter called Psychotronik. Thanks to the research of Gail Wind, our current USPA Newsletter editor, we have the first issues of Psychotronik through vol.1, no.3-4, 1977, but none after that date.

If you have any knowledge about these organizations, or have copies of the proceedings, or newsletters, please write to John at: joreed43@gmail.com

What is USPA?

The United States Psychotronics Association (USPA) is a federally recognized, nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization founded in 1975 to serve as a focal point for scientific and technical exploration of the universe of esoteric, spiritual, and psychic arts in the United States of America.

The USPA has been hosting annual conferences for its membership since its formation and has featured countless individuals with cutting-edge viewpoints, research, or theories to share, allowing any interested persons to openly discuss their work.

What is Psychotronics?

USPA defines psychotronics as the science of mind-body-environment relationships, an interdisciplinary science concerned with the interactions of matter, energy, and consciousness.

Psychotronics involves the study, research, and applications of the physics and technology of the mind, brain, spirit, consciousness, and the underlying forces of life and nature – hence the term “psychotronics.” A true understanding of the universe must include the spiritual as well as the technical. USPA provides an opportunity for amateur researchers to present their findings along with the professionals.

USPA stresses research, with documentation of results, and practical applications, rather than personal experience and unsupported hypotheses.

J.G. Gallimore's Books are Still Available on Amazon - through assistance from USPA

Jerry G. Gallimore was one of the founders of the USPA in 1975, and was a leading researcher in psychotronics and unusual energies until his untimely death in 1989.

All five of J.G. Gallimore's rare books on psychotronics subjects and unusual energies have been reprinted by the United States Psychotronics Association (USPA) and are being made available at a fraction of the cost that used copies were being sold at online. Available at Amazon.com USPA Shares in the income from these sales.

So rare have these books been, that only a few libraries in the entire world had them in their collections, and some original Gallimore's books were being sold for several hundred dollars each online. However, with these newly reprinted volumes, each will be available for less than $30.00.

The Handbook of Unusual Energies: Volume	ISBN-13: 978-1543024999	The 1st book of 3 on unusual energies	468 Pages
Gallimore discusses in depth the research, discoveries, and inventions of all the major researchers in subtle energies, the aether, biological 62 fields, pyramid energy, radiesthesia, radionics, crystal transduction, and related subjects. These include the works of Baron von Reichenbach's and his odic energy, Dr. Wilhelm Reich's orgone energy, Dr. Harold Burr's biological life fields, Kozyrev's time mirror, Edgar Cayce's transmission of energy, and related research done by many others. Of particular importance is Gallimore's 127-page chapter on radionics. In this chapter he discusses in depth the research and devices of Ruth Drown, T. Galen Hieronymus, Rho Sigma, Dr. L. P. Corte, and other prominent people in the radionics field.
Collected Properties & Writings of J. G. Gallimore: Volume 2	ISBN-13: 978-1543025040	The 2nd book of 3 on unusual energies	258 Pages
This is the second book in the "Unusual Energies" series that J.G. Gallimore published. It covers Gallimore's research on Albert Abrams, the founder of modern radionics, psychological physics, psychic energy, thought resonance, subtle energies, crystals, and related subjects.

In addition, a number of radionics devices are discussed, such as the De La Warr Diagnostic Instrument. And very helpfully, the rates are provided for substances, body organs, and medical diseases and disorders. I very interesting interview of Christopher Bird, conducted by J.G. Gallimore is provided, as well as a discussion of Walter Russell and his research

Relationship Between Parapsychology and Gravity: Vol. 3

ISBN-13:
978-1543024944

The 3rd book of 3
on unusual energies

228 Pages

This book describes in depth the research and theories of J.G. Gallimore into the question of "parapsychology transmission" -the question of how such things as telepathy, remote viewing, ESP, and similar phenomena can physically occur. He discusses the various emanations, radiations, and energy fields of all matter and life including the ancient Chinese energy called "chi" (qi), the ancient Indian's prana energy, Reichenbach's "odinic force," Gurwitsch's "mitogenic radiation,"

Wilhelm Reich's orgone energy, and other subtle energies. He shows how these energies are similar, how they interact, and how they are related to gravity. He also discusses crystals as transducers of these energies, and provides diagrams of devices that could potentially be used to harness or control these energies.

Transverse Paraphysics: The New Science of Space, Time, and Gravity Control

ISBN-13:
978-1543024920

Gallimore's
fourth book

374 Pages

This book covers the visionary research and theories developed by J.G. Gallimore about anti-gravity, space, time, and biophysics. He discusses in depth the dimensions of space, time, and gravity, and new discoveries in each of these areas. In addition, he covers research being done on anti-gravity and then discusses anti-gravity patents that have been obtained.

He also discusses the intriguing concept of aura energy fields surrounding humans and other living things, and how extra-sensory perception (ESP) might be explained through biophysical principles.

Unified Field Theory Research Book:
Using Subjective Response to Psi-Plasma

ISBN-13:
978-1543024838

Gallimore's Fifth

134 Pages

This book is about psychotronics, radionics, electromagnetic fields and waves, psi-plasma, plasma fields, subtle energies, bio-electromagnetic energy, and other unusual energies emitted by living and non-living things. It also is about how living things interact with and are affected by these energies, which may enhance or harm health.
