Call for Exhibitors/Vendors and Volunteers

We are proud that we have such an illustrious group of internationally known researchers who will be speaking at the annual United States Psychotronics Association (USPA) conference, July 14th-16th, 2017, at the beautiful Hyatt Regency in Deerfield, Illinois, a suburb of Chicago. (pictured at left). Because of our speakers and the subjects they will be speaking on, we expect a large turnout of conference attendees. So exhibitors and vendors should register early, since space is limited.

Call for Exhibitors and Vendors

The USPA welcomes vendors and exhibitors representing groups, firms, and organizations with products and services related to psychotronics, energy healing, and related subjects. Fees are $30 per table, plus 10% of gross sales. For more information please contact Bob Peters, VP of Exhibitor Relations, at: cathyschleyer@msn.com.

Volunteers Needed

Because of a larger expected turnout this year, volunteers are needed to help with the 39th U.S. Psychotronics Conference July 14-16, 2017. Since 1975 the USPA has been operating 42 years, as a Non-Profit 501(c)(3) All Volunteer Educational organization. We are extremely fortunate to have Phyllis Weiland as the official USPA Conference Coordinator. Phyllis needs people with MS Word skills to prepare written material, help with advertising, as well as being volunteers at the conference. Most volunteers will get the conference fee waived. We know it will take multiple volunteers to do all that needs to be done, but there are only a limited number of volunteer positions available. To become a volunteer, please contact: Scott Beutlich, Co-Chairman of the Conference Committee at uspsychotronics@gmail.com or call / text at 815-355-8030 to offer your time and talents!

A Week for Youth

at Little Farm

June 4-10, 2017

This USPA sponsored event is hosted by Little Farm Research in Pleasant Grove, Utah. It will be held the week of June 4-10, 2017. It is focused primarily on youth ages 8-20 who have an interest in growing food crops; farming, market or community gardening or to develop family gardening skills.

The system used at Little Farm is sustainable, natural and organic, using zero refined agricultural products. Furthermore techniques applied to improve produce quality are determined and largely applied energetically using radionic technique. The environment at the Farm is wholesome and balanced.

We can accept up to 20 young people (and their accompanying chaperones) for this educational week. Applications are now being accepted by Lutie Larsen at lutielarsen@mac.com. or mailed to 993 West 1800 North, Pleasant Grove, UT 84062. These will be reviewed and responded to as soon as they are received. Any questions or further information about the program can also be directed to this same email.

For the youth involved in this event there is no charge. It is a gift, but many will need to find sponsors for transportation costs to get to Little Farm. Chaperones will help with this. Chaperones are also invited to participate during the week and take their meals and lodging with us. There are a variety of lodging options but we are keeping the costs minimal.

From 1991 until 2011 Little Farm sponsored a local youth apprentice program each summer. We have an excellent curriculum for teaching young people the basic skills of sustainable soil management, planting and transplanting techniques, soil building and composting methods as well as integrative growing for intensive production. The afternoons will be focused on using radionics to evaluate and create Balancing strategies for seed plant and soil.

It is our hope that this week will spark new ideas in our youth and give them tools to better the way we grow and manage our food supplies. At LFR we are excited to be preparing for you.

Talk to you soon!

Newly Discovered Psychotronics Related Organizations and Periodicals: May, 2017

A number of newly discovered psychotronics related organizations and periodicals have been discovered since the last issue of the USPA Journal and Newsletter. These organizations and periodicals, some of which ceased operation many years ago, are listed below, with brief information. If you know anything about these organizations, please contact the editor. The periodicals have been added to the master list of psychotronics periodicals in the USPA Periodicals Library section of this journal. We are seeking copies of all issues of these periodicals, which we plan to digitize and make available to our members as a USPA membership benefit. So if you have any issues the periodicals listed below or any of the missing issues of the periodicals listed in the USPA Periodicals Library section of this Journal, please let the editor know by emailing him at: joreed43@gmail.com.

Organizations:

Royal Rife Research Society (RRRS): The RRRS was an organization that is believed to have been founded in the early 1990's. Their mailed literature in December, 1993, showed the address: Suite 4, 4677 30th Street, San Diego, CA 92116. However, this literature also stated that the RRRS was actually located in Baja California, Mexico, and that the San Diego address was only being used for the convenience of US members. In August, 1995, the US address of the RRRS had changed to 7040 Avenida Encinas, #104-291, Carlsbad, California 92009-4698. The RRRS published a periodical called "Journal of Bioenergetic Research", with issue vol. 1, no. 3 being for November, 1992.

International Radionic Association (IRA): The IRA was an organization founded in the late 1920's or early 1930's at a convention of Calbro-Magnowave owners. The Calbro-Magnowave was an early radionics device. The address of the IRA was 615 East Walnut Street, Springfield, Missouri, according to a 1947 IRA monograph publication. The IRA discontinued operations in the late 1950's or early 1960's. It is not known if it ever published a periodical of any kind.

Japan Psychotronics Institute (JPI): This was an organization operating in Tsukuba-shi Ibaraki, Japan, in the 1990's, although it is not known when the JPI was founded, or if it still is in operation. The president in 1993 was Shiuji Inomata, Ph.D., who was a senior scientist at the at the Electrotechnical Laboratory in Tsukuba-shi Ibaraki. The JPI published a periodical called "JPI News".

Periodicals:

Psychoenergetic Systems : This periodical was published by Gordon & Breach Science Publications in New York City, and focused on psychotronic related subjects. It began with vol. 1, no. 1 in December, 1974, and continued with this title until 1981, when the title was changed to "Psychoenergetics" (ISSN: 0278-6060) with the April, 1981, issue. It then continued under this title until 1988, when the title was again changed to "Theoretical Parapsychology" (ISSN: 0894-2528). However, only one issue (vol. 6, no. 1) was ever published under this title, after which it ceased publication. The USPA Library needs all issues of this periodical.

Psychotronik: This periodical was published in Innsbruck, Austria, and focused on radionics and psychotronics related subjects. It began with Vol. 1, No. 1 in 1977, but ceased with Vol. 3 in 1979. The USPA Library needs all issues of this periodical.

Energy & Character - Journal of Bioenergetic Research: This was a periodical published by Abbotsbury Publications, Dorset, England, UK, and focused on psychotronic related subjects, especially orgone energy and Wilhelm Reich's research. It began with vol. 1, no. 1 (January, 1970), and continued publishing 3 times per year for 38 years, but ceased publication with volume 37 in 2009. The USPA Library needs all issues of this periodical.

KRT Radionics Workshops: Chicago, Illinois

Kelly Research Technologies is very proud to support the U.S. Psychotronics Association's 39th conference, whose theme is Psychotronics: Emerging Technologies in Consciousness, Subtle Energy, and Radionics. The conference will be held in the Chicago suburb of Deerfield on July 14-16, 2017, at the lovely Hyatt Regency hotel.

The USPA is a non-commercial, not-for-profit organization that supports research in "psychotronics", which is the science of mind-body-environment relationships, including the interactions of matter, energy, and consciousness. Because the USPA is dedicated not just to radionics, but also the broader spectrum of esoteric phenomena, this meeting will present research, information, speakers, and vendors from a wide variety of disciplines. KRT founder Peter J. Kelly was an organizing member of the USPA in 1975, and KRT's Ed Kelly has served on the USPA's Board of Directors since 2011. For more information about the USPA and the 2017 conference please visit: www.psychotronics.org, or follow the USPA page on Facebook.

Immediately following the USPA conference on July 17 and 18, Ed Kelly will deliver Basic Radionics, a two-day course covering the fundamentals of radionic instrumentation, including analyzing and balancing soil and water samples using a Hieronymus-type variable capacitance radionic unit. This hands-on workshop will equip participants with the skills needed to immediately apply radionics at their homestead or farm. Space is limited, so register to participate today and learn how to recognize and shape the unlimited forces of pure Universal Energy!

BASIC RADIONICS: July 17-18, 2017

Deerfield, Illinois

An introduction to the basic theory and hands-on operation of the radionic instrument. This course is designed for the brand new beginner and anyone seeking a refresher on the basics. Topics include:

- History and Theory of Radionics
- Samples and Witnesses
- Energetic Analysis and Balancing
- Water & Plant/Soil Analysis Worksheets
- Use of Reagents: Physical and Electronic
- Basic Rate Scanning/Electronic Dowsing

Participants will practice using and developing a touch for the radionic instrument by completing analysis worksheets on water and soil samples brought from home or taken at the site of the class, then utilizing the instrument in the broadcast mode to energetically balance those elements.

Each individual and family/friend enrollee will be provided with following materials and information:

- Radionics - Book 2: Applied Radionics
- Set of 10 KRT radionic worksheets
- One 300 ml Griffin beaker
- Electronic: Kelly Research Report

Individual Enrollment	$400.00
Retake or with Purchase of a New Instrument	$200.00
Instrument Rental (Supplies are limited!)	$50.00

SPECIAL OFFER! Save $50.00 per class for each new student you bring to that class!
The more folks you bring, the more you save!

NOTE: The universal radionic concepts covered in class will equip participants to conduct radionic research in any area of interest. However, human health issues cannot be covered at any time. Regrettably, any questions concerning human health will have to be declined.

- Teachers: Ed Kelly is President of KRT - a uniquely qualified instructor with a lifetime of experience designing and building radionic devices, working with senior instructors, and writing about this amazing field. Ed is the son of KRT founder Peter J. Kelly and a member of the Board of Directors of the U.S. Psychotronics Association.

Short News, Notes, and Queries

(If anyone would like to make a short news announcement, report something, has a question about anything related to psychotronics and related subjects, or has any information or comments about any of the following notes and queries, please write to the editor, John Reed at: joreed43@gmail.com)

1. Art Tool and Die Company: Does anyone know anything about the Art Tool and Die Company that was located in Detroit, Michigan, in the 1930s and 1940s, and apparently manufactured radionics devices? It has been referred to in a number of publications on radionics, psychotronics, and related subjects, but it is not clear what devices they manufactured.
2. Mangrove College for Radionics: Does anyone know anything about the Mangrove College for Radionics, and if it ever published a periodical of any kind? Its address at one time was: 1313 N. Market St., Hercules Plaza Suite 3410, Wilmington, Delaware 19801, although this appears to be a mail box service location. It was once headed by a Dr. P. W. Meier.
3. Duncan Laurie, author of the excellent book, The Secret Art: A Brief History of Radionic Technology for the Creative Individual, recently sent USPA an online article titled "Sick Frequencies: Behind Radionics, the Wacky Sound Therapy That Turns Thoughts into Music." This article, written by Tom Howells in March, 2017, is all about Daniel Wilson and his "Radionics Radio Project" where he creates electronic music from human thoughts.
4. Were you ever a member of the Electronic Medicine Association (EMA) or know anyone who was? According to online sources, this organization was co-founded by Peter Moscow (US), former president of the USPA, and John Morley-Kirk (UK) and was incorporated in the United Kingdom in 2001. (UK Company number 04223137). From 2001 through 2010, the EMA held numerous seminars, workshops, and conferences, and may have published a newsletter or journal, although this is uncertain.

Unfortunately both Peter Moscow and John Morley-Kirk died in 2011, and records show that the organization was officially dissolved in the United Kingdom in October of 2011. A number of people have indicated that they would like to revive this organization, and we are attempting to locate all former members. So if you have any interest in this, or by chance have an old membership list, please write to the editor, John H. Reed, M.D. (joreed43@gmail.com), so that I can contact the former members to see if they would be interested in resurrecting this organization, or starting a new one with a similar mission.

5. Do any of you happen to know anything about the Paraphysical Laboratory that was founded in the UK by Benson Herbert in 1966, or have any issues of the Journal of Paraphysics that he published for more than 20 years. Mr. Herbert's laboratory was located at Privett Farm, Downton, Wiltshire, England, between Salisbury and Southampton. His mission included an attempt to provide a workable theory and physical explanation for paranormal phenomena, including telepathy, remote viewing, dowsing, and other extraordinary abilities and phenomena. Unfortunately, Benson Herbert died in 1991, and no one seems to know what became of the papers and records of the laboratory, or if he even had any family, who might be able to shed light on this. So if you know anything about Benson Herbert or have any issues of his periodical, please contact the editor at: joreed43@gmail.com.

6. Does anyone have video tapes of the presentations that Andrija Puharich made at the 1982 US Psychotronics Association Conference? The title of Dr. Puharich's first presentation was: "Chemical Compounds: Receptors of Artificial ELF", and was sold for a period of time on the USPA website with this title and catalog number F6.

The second presentation that Dr. Puharich made at the 1982 USPA Conference was the Keynote Address at the Awards banquet. The Title of this presentation was "Kindling + 1" and had catalog number F7. If anyone has either or both of these tapes, please contact the editor, John Reed at: joreed43@gmail.com.

Andrija Puharich, Chemical Compounds: Receptors of Artificial ELF (1982) F6

Andrija Puharich, Keynote Speaker:, Kindling +1; Awards Banquet (1982) F7

7. Does anyone have any personal copies of the excellent periodical called "DNA Decipher Journal" ? This journal focuses on subjects of great interest to the psychotronics community, including subtle energies emanating from DNA, wave genetics, quantum biology, quantum entanglement, phases and structure of water, and many other interesting subjects. In fact, the vol. 6, no2 (June, 2016) issue of this journal included an article titled, "On the Plausible Implications of Gariaev & Montagnier's Work". (Editor JHR: See the abstract of Montagnier's article in the Abstracts section below.)

Surprisingly, and strangely, not a single academic or public library in the world lists this periodical in their holdings, including the Library of Congress. This journal is published by Quantum Dream, Inc., In Stony Brook, NY , and has a website at: <http://dnadecipher.com/> , which shows all the issues published since its first issue in 2011. The price is $13.90 for the latest issue published in Dec., 2016, and back issues have higher prices running up to $19.90 for the first issue.

If any of you have personal copies of the DNA Decipher Journal, would you be willing to lend them temporarily to the USPA Library so that we can review them? If so, please write to the editor, John Reed, at: joreed43@gmail.com

Schedule

Day 1

October 26, 2017 - 8AM to 5PM

7:15AM - 8AM

Registration

8AM - 8:30AM - Dr. Ron Barone

Introduction

8:30AM - 9:30AM - Dr. Ron Barone

The story of miasms begins with Samuel Hahnemann himself. As his experience of homeopathy brought him to understand its usefulness not only in acute but also in chronic disease, Hahnemann found that chronic diseases arise from a deep inner susceptibility that he called miasm. External causes of disease, he observed, can bear fruit only in the fertile ground of a miasmatic foundation, which passes by various means from person to person and creates the predisposition to particular kinds of disease states. Hahnemann identified three miasms, each with its own characteristics and disease propensities. In recent developments, there are 4 primary miasms and 4 recessive. We will learn how to deal with these with radionics.

Dr Darius Dinshah developed a system of using light as a direct application to the body for many diseases. A Pdf of this book will be supplied on the notes disc. I will demonstrate how to apply light in radionics as an application to the input well as well as a basic rate sheet for broadcasting.

He is also skilled in helping the dying go through transition to the spirit world. He has considerable experience with discarnates and a wide realm of non-physical issues. Ron has worked on many issues in the natural and spiritual realm. Ron teaches people take control of their own well-being, physically and spiritually.

9:15AM - 10:15AM - Marty Lucas

The raw energy of life can be called Chi. When there is ample Chi, the body is healthy, but not all Chi is the same. Its structure mirrors that of bio-photons. So there is some that helps the body to repair itself, there is some that supports replication and some that moves the body towards recycling. By managing the mixture of Chi in a subject we can support the repair and replication functions. Balancing Chi works at a more fundamental level than even Somatids! This work peels another layer from the 'onion'!

Marty Lucas, Every Advantage Ag, Urbandale, IA - Marty Lucas is a full-time Radionic Practitioner and teacher out of central Iowa. He is known for in-depth and far-reaching research into the fringes of radionic practice. ## Taught By the Masters

10:30AM - 11:30AM - Robin Hermanson

A high-stress lifestyle coupled with improper eating habits can wreak havoc on delicate hormonal balance. Symptoms of hormonal imbalance may include PMS, osteoporosis, weight gain, altered sex drive, allergies, fibroids, urinary track infections, fatigue, anxiety, water retention, hair loss, even depression. Keeping hormones in balance results in healthy weight and optimal energy levels. How to measure your hormone levels, what hyper tonicity or hypo tonicity of what organs, what deficiencies of vitamins, what parasites and toxins contribute to imbalances and how to balance your hormones naturally will be discussed.

Robin Hermanson, Garretson, SD - Robin is a Professional Mechanical Engineer, Green Building Engineer and Certified Energy Manager. He is also a Certified Organic Farmer and has 360 acres. For 14 years, Robin has researched health and longevity through the Reams Biological Theory of Ionization. Robin is a veteran radionics operator helping people solve a wide range of health problems with alternative methods and detoxification.

1PM - 2:30PM - Dr. Linda Lancaster

Radiesthesia is the ability to detect vibrations of force fields emanating from minerals, plants, animals and humans. Every living cell is like an electric battery broadcasting a pulsing rhythm, creating a field. The ability to contact these fields is called Radiesthesia. Medical Radiesthesia is a method of discovering information from energy fields around the human being, animals and plants. The Parcels System utilizes a pendulum and a Determination Board to measure these frequencies. While the applications of Medical Radiesthesia are vast, Dr. Linda will teach an effective approach to taking care of yourself and your family through this system of Radionics.

Dr. Linda Lancaster - Dr. Linda is a Board Certified Naturopathic Physician and Homeopath. She has been in practice since 1981 and founded Light Harmonics Institute, an Energy Medicine Clinic and Educational Center based in Santa Fe, New Mexico and maintains clinics in Santa Fe and New York City. Her training includes Classical Homeopathy, Radionics, Medical Radiesthesia, Subtle Energy Healing, Nutrition, Herbal Medicine, Ayurveda and Detoxification Methods. Her health and cleansing programs have been offered to her patients for more than 30 years.

2:45PM - 3:45PM - Ed Kelly

Ed Kelly will share the work of KRT veteran Cathie Jordan and his step-mom Marianne Keeler-Kelly, who collaborated for years on advanced potentizing projects. Emphasis will be placed on delivering ideas, techniques, and lessons learned that can be applied directly to the projects of new and intermediate users. We will also discuss ways to utilize potentized materials for maximum impact and effectiveness.

Ed Kelly, Kelly Research Technologies - KRT (www.kellyresearchtech.com) has been delivering radionic instruments, equipment, and information to the world for 37 years. Sister company BETAR USA (www.betar.com) produces focused vibroacoustic sound therapy systems that allow riders to literally feel their favorite music - every note and drum beat - as a sonic energy massage that melts away physical pain, emotional stress, and/or mental anxiety. Ed Kelly took the leadership position in these firms following the untimely passage of his father, founder Peter J. Kelly, in 2004. Ed has been involved in radionics and the esoteric arts for his entire life, literally growing up around such giants as T. Galen Hieronymus, Thomas Bearden, Bob Beck, Bob Beutlich, and countless other inventors and researchers. Ed has a BS in Geology from the University of Georgia, an MBA from Kennesaw State University, and served the nation in the U.S. Marines.

4PM - 5PM - Questions & Answers with the Teachers

All teachers will be available for you to ask questions and get clarification.

Among the Missing, (and Updates): A Column about Missing People, Organizations, Periodicals, Books, Artifacts, and Collections in the Psychotronics Field

by John H. Reed, M.D

This is a new “column” or section of the USPA Newsletter, and will be an ongoing part of every issue, with the purpose of helping the USPA, as well as, our members and research associates locate people, organizations, periodicals, books, artifacts, devices, collections, and other items that have seemingly disappeared, or have been extremely difficult to find. Updates will be added, and each missing item will be retained in future issues until it is found or otherwise resolved, since some readers may not have seen prior issues of the USPA Newsletter or the original notice of the missing item.

In addition, this will also serve as a “People Locator Service” to help find authors and researchers on psychotronics, radionics, subtle energies, energy medicine, and related subjects, who have “disappeared” or have died long ago, and whose relatives you may be trying to find in order to preserve the research papers and collection of that person.

In our research and reading, we all have encountered people, organizations, periodicals, books, articles, or other things that we have tried to find, and some people have searched for years to find something, but have not yet found it, despite the vast resources of the Internet. However, with our large USPA membership, we can all help one another find what we have been searching for. Some of you may have experience in genealogical research, or private investigation, law enforcement, or even intelligence work which you could utilize to help each other, or perhaps just make suggestions on how or where to search for something.

So if there is anything you have been searching for and need help to find, please write to me, John H. Reed, M.D. at: joreed43@gmail.com, and I will include your search help request in the next and subsequent issues of the USPA Newsletter. And if you have any information about an item that is listed in “Among the Missing”, please write to the same email address and share what you know or your suggestions. If there is something that is confidential, your confidentiality request will be honored and protected.

Missing Book: Dr. Stefan Manczarsk’s book, The Problem of Thought Transference in the Light of Radio-Technical Investigations, 1945 English version

Has anyone ever seen the book, The Problem of Thought Transference in the Light of Radio-Technical Investigations, by Stefan Manczarsk, published in England in 1945, in which he discussed at length how telepathy, dowsing, and other phenomena might physically occur?

There are at least two references that state that this book was published in England in 1945, apparently in English:

- 1) A 1962 issue of International Journal of Parapsychology
- 2) In Daniel S. Halacy's 1966 book, Radiation, Magnetism and Living Things - page 103

The problem with the 1945 publication date is that this book was originally published in Polish in Warsaw, Poland, in 1946, and the only library in the world that has the Polish version is the National Library of Poland. It is not in any library in the US or UK, including the Library of Congress and the British National Library (formerly British Museum Library). Also, it is not recorded in the British copyright office. It is highly unlikely that Manczarsk would have had the manuscript translated into English, and published in England before he published it in his native language and country of Poland. So the two references above are probably in error, but stranger things in the publishing world have happened.

I have been able to determine that this book was serialized in 1946-47 in six issues of the Polish periodical, Przegląd Telekomunikacyjny : miesięcznik poświęcony sprawom telefonji, telegrafji, sygnalizacji, radja (Telecommunication Review: monthly magazine devoted to matters of telephony, telegraphy, signaling, radio) 1946, No. 10, 11, 12 and 1947, No. 1, 2, and 3.

It would be very useful if this book were indeed published in English, because Mancsarsk was an important, but little known researcher on antennas and EM waves, and it would be extremely interesting to see his thoughts on the physical explanation of dowsing, thought transference, and other phenomena.

If you happen to know anything about this book, please contact the editor, John H. Reed, at: joreed43@gmail.com. If you happen to have a copy of the book in your personal collection, in either Polish or English, the USPA Library would greatly appreciate it if you would make a xerox copy of it for the library, which you can scan and email as a PDF, or send the physical copy to: USPA Library and Archives, 4401 Roland Avenue, Unit 405, Baltimore, MD 21210. And if you happen to be located in or visiting Warsaw, Poland, we certainly would greatly appreciate it if you could go to the National Library of Poland and either make a xerox or digital copy of the book, or of the serialized edition in the above Polish journal.

Andrija Puharich's Lost Manuscript and other Puharich Mysteries by Greg Mallozzi

During the late 60s and into the 70s, Puharich owned and worked out of a large house in rural Ossining, New York. A home laboratory known as Lab 9. Lab 9 produced the most mysterious and far out work that Puharich was involved in when he began to delve deeper and deeper into parapsychological, experimental research: like alleged communication with extraterrestrial beings VIA trance mediumship and ELF (extremely low frequency) waves and their effect on the brain.

At Lab 9, Puharich worked with a faraday cage, a large cage that blocks electrostatic and electromagnetic influences. Puharich found that when a subject was placed inside the faraday cage and a certain level of specially controlled electromagnetic waves were sent through the cage, the subjects ESP abilities were heightened significantly. He conducted what some have called inhumane, psychological experiments on human subjects. Lab 9, like The Round Table Foundation, began to attract people from all walks of life.

Shrouded in controversy, the new film on the life of Dr. Andrija Puharich that we are producing will show what Lab 9 was really like, using never before seen photos, videos and transcripts. In 1978, a mysterious attempt to burn down Lab 9 was made. The town of Ossining ruled it arson. Puharich's publisher, Doubleday, was also broken into at this time and the manuscript he was working on was destroyed. Was someone out to get Puharich, to discredit and sabotage his work? If so, who? People who were present at Lab 9 at the time of the infamous fire will weigh in on what really happened, which to this day is unsolved.

If anyone has any knowledge about the missing manuscript or other mysteries surrounding the life of Dr. Andrija Puharich or has any video tapes, audio tapes, or correspondence of Puharich, please contact:

Combo Mystery: Missing Person, Organization, and Book, All Related

Person: Dr. Floyd S. Graham, Sr. Organizations: Radionic Laboratories and Radiant Associates, Inc. founded by Floyd S. Graham, Sr. Book: The Radiant Era, by Floyd S. Graham, Sr.

This is our first "Combo Mystery" of a missing person, the organization(s) he founded, and the book that he wrote. The organization "Radionic Laboratories" was referred to in the American Society of Dowsters Quarterly Digest, Vol. 4, No. 2 (May, 1964), page 22, in a letter to the editor, by Dr. Floyd S. Graham, Jr. It indicated that Dr. Graham was the president of the "International Headquarters Unit" of "Radionic Laboratories", located in the small town of Tumtum, Washington, which is located northwest of Spokane, WA. The letter was signed "Radiant Associates, Inc.".

These names suggest that there may have been two different organizations, or that the "Radionic Laboratories" was part of the corporation, "Radiant Associates, Inc. However, I checked my database of incorporated organizations, which covers both profit and non-profit corporations, operating or defunct, that have been formed in the United States and worldwide since the early 1900's, and neither name was shown as ever having existed in the State of Washington. But since the letter was written and published in 1964, there is little doubt that Dr. Graham and the organization entities he mentioned did exist at that time in Tumtum, WA.

A further mystery related to Dr. Graham is the booklet he wrote titled, "The Radiant Era", date and place of publication unknown. It is being offered for sale online, with a photo, as shown at left. It is said to be published by the Journal of Natural Living, and is 22 pages long, stapled, and sized 6.75 by 7.75 inches.

However, a check of the WorldCat database, which lists the holdings of every library in the United States, Canada, and the UK, including the Library of Congress and the famous British Library (AKA British Museum Library), shows that this booklet by Dr. Graham is not located in any known library.

So if you know anything about Dr. Floyd S. Graham, Sr., the Radionic Laboratories, or Radiant Associates, Inc., in Tumtum, Washington, or anything about his booklet, The Radiant Era, please contact the editor, John H. Reed, at:

joreed43@gmail.com. If you happen to have a copy of the booklet in your personal collection, the USPA Library would greatly appreciate it if you would make a xerox copy of it for the library, which you can scan and email as a PDF, or send the physical copy to: USPA Library and Archives, 4401 Roland Avenue, Unit 405, Baltimore, MD 21210.

Missing Devices:

1. The AGRAD Machine: In the 1970's Mankind Research Unlimited, Inc.(MRU), headed by Dr. Carl Schleicher, was offering for sale a device called the AGRAD Machine. It was intended to be used in the electromagnetic treatment of crops and the control of insect populations, and sold for $390.00. MRU claimed that AGRAD machines had been used for several years by MRU researchers to conduct experimental applications of the type described in The Secret Life of Plants by Christopher Bird and Peter Tompkins, and Report on Radionics by Edward W. Russell. Theoretically, the AGRAD machine was intended to produce effects through electromagnetic wavefronts that would interact with and control insects by disturbing the insect sensor mechanisms. A photo of the device and additional information appeared in one of MRU's publications which you can access here.

Missing Organizations:

1. American Electronic Research Association (AERA): Albert Abrams established the American Electronic Research Association in the early 1920s and it continued to operate until at least 1935, when John F. Spaulhurst was the president of AERA, according to the 1935 Edition of Who's Who Among Association Executives. The AERA published the monthly Journal of the American Electronic Research Association from 1924 through some point in 1936, when it ceased publication, according to Harvard University records.. Only two libraries in the world are known to have issues of this periodical. There are only two issues in the Harvard University Medical School Library, and the Kirkwood School of Osteopathic Medicine has one issue. If you know anything about this organization, or happen to have any issues of its journal, please contact the USPA Journal and Newsletter editor, John Reed at: joreed43@gmail.com.

2. International Association for Psychotronic Research (IAPR): Does anyone know what became of the International Association for Psychotronic Research? And do any of you have copies of its meeting proceedings or newsletter, if such a newsletter were published? It was founded in 1973, even before the United States Psychotronic Association (USPA), which was founded in 1975. However, the current location or activities of the IAPR are unknown.

The IAPR held numerous international conferences around the world, beginning with its first in 1974 in Prague, then Czechoslovakia. At this conference, Dr. Zdenek Rejdak was elected president for the Eastern Division of the IAPR, and Dr. Stanley Krippner was elected president for the West. The 8th International Conference on Psychotronic Research was held in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, 1993, as a joint conference with the United States Psychotronics Association (USPA), but it is unknown if any subsequent conferences of the IAPR were held.

Proceedings of each of these conferences were published. If copies of these proceedings can be obtained, or any newsletters that it may have published, we will add them to the USPA Library and make them available to USPA members. If you have any knowledge about this organization, please write to the editor at: joreed43@gmail.com

3. International Radionics Association (IRA): Does anyone know anything about the International Radionics Association (IRA), which was located in Springfield, Missouri in the late 1940s. This is known, because a book called The Truth about Radionics was published in 1947 by this organization, and although the author's name is anonymous, it is highly probable that the author was T. Galen Hieronymus, who passed away many years ago.

I checked several newspaper databases, and references to this organization were found in the press as far back as the early 1930s, and as late as the early 1960s, but nothing more recent than that. If you have any knowledge about this organization, please write to the editor at: joreed43@gmail.com

Missing People, and Updates:

Missing USPA Related People:

We are trying to track down some of the original directors and officers of the United States Psychotronics Association (USPA), when it was organized in 1975, with the word "Radionics" in the organization title. Does anyone have any information on the current whereabouts of the following people, or family members, if the person is known to have passed away, or where they passed away?? Please check Ancestry.com, social media websites, newspaper archives, and any other databases you have to help find these people.

1. Paul Sauvin, USPA 2nd Vice Pres., 1976 and 1st Vice Pres., 1977. Paul Sauvin, whose full name is Pierre Paul Sauvin, is an electrical engineer and inventor who, according to one source, worked in the aerospace industry and later with the National Institute for Rehabilitation Engineering at St. Joseph's Hospital in Paterson, NJ. He also worked with Dr. Carl Schleicher, head of Mankind Research Unlimited, and helped develop a device called the "AGRAD Machine". This device was designed to control crop insects, and was introduced on an experimental basis, although it is not known if it ever reached commercial production. Paul Sauvin's mother was Edith Sauvin, who lived in White Plains, NY, and died August 25th, 1987. Edith's only child was Pierre Paul Sauvin, who himself had 2 sons, Alan Paul Sauvin and Steven Eric Sauvin. He also had one daughter, Jane Elizabeth Sauvin. Any help in locating the children of Paul Sauvin would be greatly appreciated, and please write to joreed43@gmail.com.

2. Dr. Marcel Vogel and his Research Papers: Does anyone know what became of the papers and files of Dr. Marcel Vogel, who died in 1991? Dr. Vogel did extensive research on crystals and crystal healing, pyramid power, the "Backster Effect" involving plants and their bioenergetic fields, and a number of other psychotronics related subjects. He also spoke numerous times at USPA conferences. Marcel Vogel worked at IBM for 27 years and had 32 patents. If you have any knowledge about Marcel Vogel and what became of his papers and files after he died, please write to your editor at: joreed43@gmail.com. The USPA would like to make sure that all of his papers are preserved.

3. Henry Nagorka, USPA 1st Vice Pres., 1975 and 1976, and then President, of the USPA in 1977.

Missing Pages of a Book

The book, Relationship Between Parapsychology and Gravity, Vol. 3 of Handbook of Unusual Energies, by J.G. Gallimore, was published by Borderland Sciences in the 1970's, although the date of publication and copyright date were not noted in this book. The USPA has this book in its library, and plans to republish it for the Gallimore family, but unfortunately, pages 208 and 209 are missing from the printed book. It appears that this is a publisher printing error, because page 210 is printed on the back side of page 207. However, it is possible that pages 208 and 209 were missing from the manuscript when it was sent to Borderlands for publication. Or these pages of the manuscript may have been inadvertently lost by the publisher, or possibly they were intentionally removed by someone from the manuscript prior to publication.

Do any of you have a copy of this book, and if so, would you please check to see if it has pages 208 and 209? I have searched the WorldCat, which shows the books and monograph holdings of virtually every public and university library in the United States and Canada, and many of the large libraries in the UK and elsewhere in the world. But not a single library has this book in its collection. If by chance you have a copy, please let me know what you find by emailing the editor at: joreed43@gmail.com

Missing Periodicals:

- 1. British Journal of Radiesthesia and Radionics: Does anyone have any issues of The British Journal of Radiesthesia and Radionics. It was published in London, England, by the British Radiesthesia Association, 1953-1963. The original title was British Journal of Radiesthesia, published from 1953-1957. No libraries in the United States, public or university, have this journal in their collection., and only five libraries elsewhere in the world are known to have any issues at all: The British Museum Library (AKA The British Library), Oxford, Cambridge, the National Library of Scotland, and Trinity College Library, in Dublin Ireland. If you have any issues of this periodical, will you please let me know? And for our members and associates in The UK and Ireland, if you can access these periodicals at any of the above libraries, you would do a huge service for all of us if you would Xerox what issues are available and send them to me. A generous donor has offered to pay whatever expenses are involved for doing this service. We will add them to the USPA Library and make them available to researchers. Please contact the editor at: joreed43@gmail.com
- 2. Journal of Scientific Controversy. This periodical was referred to on page 49 of the Vol. 1, No. 1 \(Spring, 1967\) issue of the INFO: The Journal of the International Fortean Organization. Someone was trying to find out about it even then, 49 years ago, and said that this journal was "formerly published in Boulder, Colorado" implying that it may have ceased publication prior to 1967, or that it moved somewhere else after being published for a period of time in Boulder. I have searched the WorldCat, which shows the periodical holdings of virtually every public and university library in the United States and Canada, and many of the large libraries in the UK and elsewhere overseas. But this title, or anything close to it does not exist in the WorldCat database, so that indicates that this periodical title is not held in any library, even special collections, which are also included in WorldCat. However, this does not mean that the periodical does not exist, since many periodicals in the psychotronics , scientific anomalies and similar fields are excluded from libraries.

If any of you have ever heard of this periodical or know anything about it, such as its editor, publisher, or other information, please write to the editor at: joreed43@gmail.com

Missing Books:

Rhea White and Larissa Vilenskaya wrote a book titled Parapsychology in the Soviet Union, Eastern Europe, and China: A Compendium of Information. It was supposedly published by Scarecrow Press of Metuchen, NJ, a well know publisher of reference books. This book was listed as reference work #680 on page 213 of Rhea White's book, Parapsychology: New Sources of Information, 1973-1989 , also published by Scarecrow Press. I called the publisher, and they said they have never published this book, and know nothing about it. As you can see from entry #680, Rhea White noted that this book was “in press”, so it may have been in a preparation stage, but the manuscript may never have been sent to Scarecrow Press.

Again, I have searched the WorldCat, which shows books and monograph holdings of virtually every public and university library in the United States and Canada, and many of the large libraries in the UK and elsewhere in the world. But this book title does not exist in the WorldCat database, which indicates that this book is not held in any library, even special collections, which are also included in WorldCat. Unfortunately, I was unable to ask either of the authors about this, since both have passed away.

Rhea White was a well known parapsychology researcher, so some of you may have known her or heard her speak of the missing book manuscript that she was working on. Larissa Vilenskaya was from Russia, but lived and worked in the San Francisco area, and she was a prolific researcher on Russian and Eastern European psychotronics research. Please write to your editor at: joreed43@gmail.com if you have any information about this at all.

Consciousness and Our DNA

Jerry Gin, Ph.D.

Foundation for Mind-Being Research \(FMBR\)

Most people think of our DNA as solely a molecular structure that chemically codes for making the components of our body. However, research is now demonstrating that it is much more than that -- it is also a transmitter of signals that carry information. With the fairly recent decoding of DNA in our genes via the Human Genomic Project, scientists thought that now we will have a "full" understanding of life as dictated by our genes. Unfortunately, the number of genes that we possess is not that different than most living organisms -- i.e., we are not so "special". Humans have about 23,000 genes, about the same number as found in mice and earth worms.

But we did have a lot of "junk" DNA that scientists did not understand since they were not the genes that coded for the proteins and enzymes that make up and build the body (hence, the term "junk"). We are now beginning to understand that the "junk" DNA appear to act as regulators that control the information that affects the operation of our body and hence its health. This understanding is creating a new field called epigenetics. It also appears that our intentions and thoughts become control knobs for changing the channel for the DNA signal! Light originating from our cells (biophotons) and electromagnetic signals appear to be involved in the signaling process. I will now briefly outline some of the scientific underpinnings that support this new look at the role of the DNA molecule.

Dr. Peter Gariaev, Director of Wave Genetics in Russia, performed an amazing experiment. When DNA, under vacuum, is exposed to a mild laser light, a sensitive photomultiplier instrument can pick up the signals from the DNA. When the DNA is removed from the container that held the DNA, the photomultiplier still picks up a structured photon presence and does so for about 30 days (the "phantom DNA effect"). Standard science says this cannot occur. Since it does occur, the DNA has structured the photons in this space, i.e., established a pattern in the field. This experiment gives us insight on the mechanism of messaging using DNA.

Related to the Phantom DNA story are other stories in which signals are used to carry out the action of DNA:

- Dr. Vlail Kaznacheyev, Director of the Institute for Clinical and Experimental Medicine in Novosibirsk, showed that a virus can be transmitted from one culture plate to another using ultraviolet light. Thus, information is being carried with photons that have been "structured" in one culture plate to another culture plate. Some Russian scientists believe that this effect is being carried out by "torsion" energy.

- Dr. Dzang Kangeng in China showed that light passed through a duck into 500 chicken eggs resulted in chicks in which 80% had flat bills, 90% had eyes moved to a position similar to ducks and 25% had webbing between their toes. Their offspring remained partial duck, partial chicken.
- Dr. Gariaev directed green laser light through salamander eggs and then through frog eggs. Salamanders hatched from the frog eggs. He has coined the term "wave genetics".
- Nobel Laureate virologist, Dr. Luc Montagnier (who shared the prize for discovering the HIV virus) discovered the apparent ability of DNA fragments to "regenerate" themselves using an electromagnetic field. Two separate tubes were placed in a copper coil and subjected to an electromagnetic field of 7 hertz. One tube had a DNA fragment and the other tube just had pure water. After 16 hours, the tubes were subjected to the polymerase chain reaction (PCR) to create replicants of the DNA (the standard technique that enzymatically makes many copies of DNA to enable measurement of DNA that is originally in a small quantity). The DNA was found in the tube with just pure water. The hypothesis is that the DNA structure is preserved and amplified through quantum coherence in the water tube and the PCR process mistakes it for the DNA itself.

In order to gain some understanding of the mechanism involved and to see how consciousness plays into the effects, one can look at the work of Dr. Fritz-Albert Popp at the International Institute of Biophysics in Germany. The hypothesis: DNA interacts strongly with coherent laser light and affects the NH...O and NH...H hydrogen bonds. Biophotons from all parts of the body are coherent (not random) and thus can allow communication. Machinery of each cell coordinates its activities by exchanging biophotons with other cells. Organization occurs cooperatively using a pattern supplied by the DNA. The DNA acts like a photon store and will raise the energy levels of molecules, preparing them for a chemical reaction. Consciousness may affect the non-local field (like a torsion/bioenergy field) which affect DNA which affect biophotons release which affect chemical reactions such as protein synthesis.

In another hypothesis, Dr. Keith Scott-Mumby, reviewing the above types of experiments in Virtual Medicine, describes "radio DNA" in which the DNA acts like an antenna transmitting information to carry out the activities of the cell.

The science of DNA and consciousness is a fascinating field; we are lucky to be observing this field at its infancy.

With the above information, one can further hypothesize as to how distant healing can occur. One cannot just use electromagnetic fields (eg, light) since they reduce in strength with distance. For example, if one considers a torsion field interacting with the field of consciousness, then distal effects can occur. The consciousness frequencies involved would interact with the DNA which transmits the information for chemical reactions.

Some Thoughts on...

The Language, Art and Music of the Virtual State

Duncan Laurie

(Author of the book, The Secret Art : A Brief History of Radionic Technology for the Creative Individual)

THE THRUST OF my paper is to describe and encourage an inward turning of psychotronic technology in order to broaden our perspective on ourselves. It is apparent from the discussions involving both power generation and medicine that similar principles could be employed to aid us in obtaining information about our minds, our perceptions, our consciousness. To some, particularly those with an appreciation of ancient cultures and sacred societies, this is appropriately the domain of art.

Any discussion of this nature must address the artistic implications of a field like psychotronics in parallel terms. Those would be: 1) its techniques, technology, and material implementation, and 2) its mythical, cultural and religious implications, especially where we stand historically in our attempts to develop a language appropriate to our discovery of new dimensions. The new dimensions I'm referring to are: those of the infinitely small, the sub-atomic; the macroscopic world of outer space; and the inner, psychedelic landscape of mystics, poets and dreamers. Any careful study of the emerging field of psychotronics will reveal that the medical or healing areas researched and discussed apply to the domain of the sub-atomic. Radionics, dowsing, etc., all address fields and properties that exist either before or upon the emergence of matter from the ether, or use electrical and magnetic stimuli of increasingly minute quantities the closer one gets to the domain of mind. This would include the works of Rife, Drown, Hieronymus, Abrahams, Prioré, and Reich, to name a few. Conversely, power and communications technology. The works of Keeley, Tesla, Steinmetz, Heavyside, Maxwell, Moray, Hendershot, Hubbert, Heisenberg, Planck, and others address the formative forces of the universe, describing and investigating the great cosmic engines of the universe, outside of general relativity or before its domination of our scientific world view. At any rate, this realm of study approaches the sources of all knowledge mechanically and macroscopically.

There is a third area of psychotronics, however, relatively untouched by comparison, both in scientific terms and in psychotronic studies; it is the domain of the self. Not until quantum mechanics demonstrated man's iniquitous connection to the outcome of his own observations did physical science seriously begin considering the observer's position as relevant to the outcome of his study.

This overwhelming realization, still far from generally accepted in practical terms in day-to-day matters, has left mechanical science so shaken that now all sorts of hitherto outcast or unacceptable areas of research are being given a new lease on life. Tentatively, fields like psychotronics are being explored in an attempt to gain more information on exactly who this "observer of reality" really is and how his attitudes and emotions play a composite part of whatever he discovers about the universe, be it micro, macro or middle-order reality.

This research into ourselves and the breadth of humanity, humor, beauty, and awe that it suggests has for many, not been satisfied by either material science or religion. Oddly enough, I sense a few artists and dreamers have found it, and it is their perspective, to the extent I can articulate it with all its paradoxical complexities, that I wish to discuss today. Psychotronics, with its bizarre combination of mysticism and physics, healing by hands or with strange dialed boxes and flickering lights, its colorful association of mad inventors with basement laboratories demonstrating anti-gravity devices and their stories of communications networks existing in parallel, scalar dimensions; the fantastic theories of weapons that make conventional and nuclear threats pale by comparison; the inescapable association of UFO phenomena with machines that run from "free energy" — and now the raging controversy about alien abductions and alien collusion with world governments — make this new field a veritable hot-house for the mythical contents of the collective unconscious to come pouring out, and with it our collective frustrations over what we have done to our environment and to ourselves in our most recent lust for progress. I say, with the utmost seriousness, that it is our handling of these ideas and their consequent expression in human life that will either guide and engineer our consciousness back into a sense of the poetic, harmonious relationship we once shared with nature and each other, or we will spring upon ourselves and our unsuspecting neighbors a veritable Pandora's Box of untapped phenomena intimately linked to the power of our own imagination and thought.

In a sense, psychotronics is a latter day development of psychedelics, except that in the former the thought forms we are playing with are not confined to our own minds, but are tangibly evidenced in the environment by being linked to breakthrough electromagnetic technology. One need only peruse the disastrous results of the psychedelic revolution to see the obvious implications.

The alternative to this insanity is oddly uncomplicated, though by no means easier to effect. It emerges, happily enough, from the domain of art and beauty. Not, I might add, from the commercial art world where paintings are treated as valuable commodities and art careers as Madison Avenue hype, but from the traditional perspective still upheld by native peoples.

There must be some reason, aside from sheer ignorance, that human culture remained within certain technological limits for so long, preferring to enjoy nature and fathom the universe through the imagination. To some extent, our studies of psychotronics may bring us back to a simpler view of life — to healing with forces rather than machines, to non-polluting energy sources; to living in balance and harmony with the earth. It is just as possible, however, that without this benign vision, we will tear open the delicate fabric that divides the dimensions, opening ourselves and the external world to all the fantasmagorical contents of our collective unconscious. Who is to say all our fears, repressions, and frustrations will not suddenly confront us in full three-dimensional space/time as living myths? Certain shrewd minds suggest this is already occurring. The frenzied, fractured world of conceptual art was an instinctual reaction to its beginning; a symbolic retreat to concepts, to the head, placating a growing awareness that everything was getting out of control. What are the artists blocking, anyway? What do we not want to see beyond what we already see; the threat of nuclear war, environmental poisoning, etc., with which we have been living now for decades? What do we do about it?

WILHELM REICH HAS BEEN a leader in forging a solution through his discovery of orgone energy science. Reich began his career by trying to establish an empirical foundation through demonstrable scientific experiments of Freud's Libido theory. This he accomplished, but not in terms of electromagnetic theory. He discovered, instead, the body's emotional functions originated with a mass free environmental energy he called "orgone." Orgone is observable both around the living cell under a microscope and in the atmosphere. For Reich, understanding how orgone functioned in the human body and emotions was key to determining health and balance. He extended his findings into a profound understanding of the ecology of the earth itself. He engineered with his findings, making motors run from the orgone and turning desert back into arable land. Above all, Reich laid a precise scientific foundation for understanding human sexual health and the forces that seek to undermine it. I feel that without first understanding the importance of Reich's work and pursuing psychotronic investigation from an emotionally balanced perspective, there can be no point in venturing practically into the interior realms.

What I want to point out about using psychotronic technology to explore the inner worlds has one very obvious parallel — hallucinogenic drugs. Albert Hoffman, who discovered LSD, was a research chemist at Sandoz Laboratories in Switzerland. In his autobiography, he points out several very interesting facts about LSD that should attract the attention of psychotronic investigators.

The first is dosage. An average LSD dose capable of producing life-transforming psychic experiences, is just .075 mg; that is .075 one-thousandth of a gram — a very tiny actual physical amount — so small, in fact, that it is possible to imagine its effects being triggered by an electrical process.

Second, the idea of LSD affecting the brain alone is fallacious. Experiments showed radioactive LSD disappeared rapidly from the bloodstream and was distributed throughout the organism. Unexpectedly, the lowest concentration was found in the brain; concentrated there in certain centers of the mid-brain that play a role in the regulation of emotions. Concentration in various organs attained maximum values 10 to 15 minutes after injection, then fell off quickly, with the exception of the small intestine. Psychic effects persisted long after it could no longer be detected in the organism. Hoffman and other researchers concluded LSD is not active as such, but rather triggers certain biochemical, neurophysiological, and psychic mechanisms that provoke the inebriated condition and continue in the absence of the active principle.

My point is that vast reality changes could be electromagnetically engineered through careful scrutiny of chemical brain processes and their relationship to triggering mechanisms in the brain, perhaps by anyone slightly familiar with psychotronic technology and access to a laboratory.

As for the hallucinatory visions themselves, Hoffman had this to say:

An artist visited me in order to obtain my opinion about how the experience under LSD should be understood and interpreted. He feared that the profound transformation of his personal life, which had resulted from his experiment with LSD, could rest on a mere delusion. My explanation — that LSD, as a biochemical, only triggered his visions but had not created them and that these visions rather originated from his own soul — gave him confidence in the meaning of his transformation.

Certainly, this statement of a responsible chemist working under strict laboratory conditions, discovering accidentally a profoundly mind-altering substance, should give us pause, to reflect somewhat on exactly what our own "inner vision" is, and what could emerge from that domain in our experiments.

My brief interjection of this data into the discussion is four-fold. It suggests multi-dimensional data can be assessed by chemical or electromagnetic processes, much in the same way "window frequencies" are discussed by psychotronic inventors privately and have produced disturbing, non-rational effects in their laboratories. It implies relatively small amounts of actual energy are necessary for triggering the effects, something well within the technological province of primitive or sacred cultures, further suggesting an access point for sacred technologies arising from natural processes. It certainly indicates a very real direction for exploration within the field, as it constitutes a holographic model where the microcosmic and macrocosmic spheres actually interpenetrate and become functionally identical for the observer. Finally, I hope everyone understands the danger of such a study and why maintaining psychological balance must be an a priori consideration under all circumstances.

IN PREPARATION TO my short discussion on language, I want to mention something about "scalars" in relationship to information processing systems. Scalar is defined in Webster's dictionary, in its mathematical sense, as: 1) a real number rather than a vector, 2) a quantity (as mass or time) that has a magnitude describable by a real number and no direction. This does not tell us much, but a "scalar product" however, is described as a "real number that is the product of the lengths of two vectors and the cosine of the angle between them, also called dot product or inner product." I tend to use the term in the sense of an inner product, a form that exists before a physical form, like the pure geometry within a structure — there, regardless of scale or material rendering.

For myself, as an artist, the idea of a point that forms a doorway into another domain, that of a universal ether, has vast eidetic implications. We are discussing in other contexts how to access this zero-point energy. But what is it, subjectively, to the observer? Jung speaks of archetypes essentially as constraints, mental structures in the unconscious mind which make it possible for messages, in the form of images, to be sent to the conscious mind. The nature of these messages is mythological and symbolic. This suggests the symbol and myth act as transducers to cosmic energy, an actual gating system between ether and physical reality, with much in common with electricity and magnetism. In the same way, Chomsky speaks of a universal grammar. Jeremy Campbell in Grammatical Man, a fascinating book on information, entropy, language and life, states as follows: "They (the archetypes) predispose the mind to special kinds of universal knowledge, insuring that the themes of world myths, like some constructions in languages, are universal, appearing and reappearing over long periods of time across cultures which have little or no contact with each other..." and further, "...by this, like dreams, have their own peculiar logic and structure and this structure reflects the structure of the mind."

Campbell begins to actually describe the functions of language in scalar terms when he states:

Universal grammar, the linchpin of Chomskyan linguistics, resembles as we have noted, theories of modern science whose essential power is to carry the mind beyond experience, so that new information arises not from the world, but from the abstractions in the mind.

Elsewhere, he comments on how our handling of language is, in fact, our method of corraling reality into models which are energetically tolerable to our organism. About psychoanalysis, for instance, he says:

The Freudian lexicon, full of such terms as drives, repressions, discharges, sources and sinks, belongs to the 19th century world of steam power and the mystique of railways. The brain was seen as an engine waiting to have its boilers stoked.

Extending this idea, Campbell goes on to build a bridge between the theories of mechanistic science with its roots in 19th century empiricism and rationalism, 20th century information theory, and further, by implication, the 21st century notions discussed here of mass-free energy and scalar electromagnetics when he says:

A picture of the brain as determination, with every cause leading directly to a specific result, and instincts asserting themselves as imperious forces demanding release, is at odds with what is known today. One especially important difference between energy and information is that the first is subject to the laws of conservation, while the second is not: information can be created or destroyed. By taking nerve cells to be sources and sinks of energy, Freud had to exclude the possibility that events in the nervous system could be simply neutralized or cancelled. In his system, nervous energy was siphoned off, discharged or repressed. Messages do not behave in this way at all. They can be stopped, switched off, with no price to pay in the form of pent-up forces linking morbidly in the psyche. The brain, far from just reacting to gusts of energy bombarding it from the instincts or from the outside world, maintains its own information system in a more or less stable balance, and to a large extent drives itself.

Thus, linguistics become deeply entangled with psychology, for both are studying the relationship between randomness and information. Each science is as complex as the other, which may explain why neither has yet surrendered all its secrets to inquisitive and ingenious probing, not by a very long way.

I have suggested that we should now view language as a major factor in any discussion of psychotronic technology. After all, language is the psychotronic instrument. I can make thoughts in your head by simply uttering small mouth noises. The degree of fineness of these images is still under exploration. Language is related to frequency through the chemical-electrical processes of the human brain. What matters for this discussion is that we perceive the viewing of language through psychotronics in general as forming a symbolic relationship with a deconditioning agent. Whatever agent we choose, and there are a good many offered, we must understand that it is released from the inertia of our cultural machinery that is the ultimate test of the agent's value in the here and now. I suggest we are venturing into a relationship with an information base outside human experience, an alien reality which symbolically and mythologically is presenting itself to us daily in various guises.

Despite many problems and differences in methodology attendant to different factions in this field, there exists general sympathy when it comes to the topic of finding models for explaining these esoteric ideas in simple terms. Alex Comefort, in Reality & Empathy, addresses this problem when he states:

For the scientist who hopes to produce not only a mathematical model of a world view, but a world view which can, as it were, be taken home with us, the place to start now is with the instrument which is doing the seeing and inferring, not with the structures which are seen and inferred, however real and objective these may appear. As Descartes pointed out, nothing seems more 'real' to us than the I which is doing the thinking.

Comefort goes on to say:

Aside from occultists who rub their hands at the idea that there may be other worlds, fourth dimensions, and so on, to vindicate their preconceptions, modern physics has had no religious and rather little philosophical impact. If, when it has 'set', modern physics could somehow be popularly empathized, it would be a blockbuster.

It is in consideration of precisely this predicament that the avenue for the creative tools of the artist linked with the psychotronic inventory has the most to offer. What psychotronics needs today are complimentary disciplines that address the various languages in which it tries to speak, languages that express its meaning in rich symbol, metaphor and, if possible, actual experience. We have already hypothesized earlier in this paper that symbols are themselves functional in respect to these mysterious energies. Missing to date from the technical application is a common metaphysical overview of where these disciplines meet in actual experience. It is here that artists can play a most valuable role, using the technology to design systems that inform the general public of the existence of other dimensions, actually creating environments where these dimensions become readily accessed. These art forms can embrace electromagnetics, or just be reconstructed along the more traditional lines suggested by thinkers such as John Michell, Keith Critchlow, Jocelyn Godwin, Terrence McKenna, and numerous others. The systems of thought hearken back to ancient cultures and suggest possibilities in many ways much more in harmony with nature and therefore, more powerful, especially historically, than their recent electronic analogues.

To accomplish this, it is first necessary to achieve a measure of confidence in the fact that it is no longer necessary to participate in this filtering down of information from scientific, military, governmental, and corporate elite sources. The adventure of being is not a cultural or a societal discovery, but a personal one, and all the tools and information necessary are available readily and inexpensively.

Since these topics are rightfully the province of Dennis and Terrence McKenna, I would like to include some of their thoughts. Understanding the relationship of spoken to visual language is critical for any artistic comprehension of the possibilities of this field.

The McKennas chose to research the Ayahuasca inebriating tribes of the Amazon jungle in the vicinity of the Choroni River, on the border of Colombia and Peru. Their experiences and studies substantiated rumors of a mysterious translinguistic fluid, the "Smoking Mirror," as it has been called, created by shamen in trance states and purportedly responsible for extraordinary effects on the viewer, affecting local distortions of time and space. The experience they describe is not unlike Jorge Luis Borge's story, "The Aleph," where an unsuspecting guest at a friend's house is exposed to an experience of cosmic consciousness, which starts at a point and expands into a cosmic vision.

Essentially, under discussion here is the phenomenon of sound which is beheld, the idea of a visual language. References go back to Philojudia who speaks of the "more perfect logos," where thought will be apprehended by being seen, not by being heard. It will cross from being heard to being seen without ever going through a noticeable moment where it shifts from one modality to another.

This experience certainly sounds like another way of describing scalar interferometry within the brain, and the orthorotation of perspective concomitant to the emergence of a scalar field. Here, first a thought emerges, which becomes a sound, then a synthesis where someone speaking produces an apparently three-dimensional object in the air, or concurrently in the mind, mutually beheld by speaker and listener alike. This experience evolves into a freely evolving topology of light and sounds that is translinguistic, a grammar of form, not shorn of meaning, but emotionally rich and of poetic depth that is not like ordinary language. The particular meaning that logical necessity imposes on language is cancelled, and along with it our culturally prescribed conditions for reality. As this language finds its way into daily life, as I have suggested it must, from the visionary frontiers of art and science, we are, in effect, altering the medium or ether in which our reality takes place. Language has its own inertia, and it is hard to change, but when elements of self-reflection are entered into it so that language can become more conscious and less random, we are, in effect, producing neg-entropy. It is the non-randomizing of language that will give us a real hold on the kinds of social modalities we want to produce in the future.

AT THIS POINT, I want to introduce the Cotleydon-Betar-Genesis device that has incorporated the work of a number of inventors in the psychotronic field at Virtual State Productions in Long Island City, N.Y. These contributors are: Michael Bradford, Peter Kelly, John Bedini, Eric Dollard, Preston Nichols, Eldon Byrd and Jim Murray to name a few on the technical end, as well as R. J. Reynolds, III, Aymon de Sales, John Michell, and Alix Toland, to name several others who have contributed substantially to its existence in the financial and conceptual areas.

The "Music Machine," as it is often called, is attempting to define itself within a plethora of ideas. It exists on the simplest level, as a music listening device. But as we evolve its actual purpose, noticing its effect on our lives, we are beginning to view it as a tool capable of producing the degree of self-reflection necessary to destructure language and thus free up unconscious processes. Both art, in the form of pre-recorded music, and technique, which is the mastery of the various functions of the machine itself, are essential ingredients to producing an effective experience, as are the necessary technologies provided and refined by the inventors. To this intent, it has already become a very successful merger of art, science and technology.

To date, everyone admits it does something. Most come away feeling opened, refreshed, nurtured, and affected positively — already an indication of some negentropic function in relation to the environment. I personally feel that technically it expands the dimensionality of sound, giving a three-dimensional quality to music. It also produces unusual eidetic images, pictures in the mind, under certain circumstances. Last but not least, Time itself seems to be stressed in unusual ways. All of these processes can be amplified. Aesthetically, it functions in another whole dimension. It has become a catalyst for dramatically affecting peoples' lives, a tool for understanding many things spoken of here today as well as serving as a symbol and a product of those experiences. This effect is truly three- or perhaps four-dimensional, because it incorporates time into the equation. It may be a form of four-dimensional sculpture. That's how I choose to perceive it.

As a musical device the machine at present exists in limbo between the realm of listening and the realm of playing. It is to some degree, both an instrument and a huge stereo. Clues for its potential for instrumentation lie in its features for producing short-wave signals in stereophonic sound, its tone-producing apparatus, its ELF-producing equipment, and the incorporation of a sampling keyboard capable of mixing human voice patterns and music into the system.

In true creative activities there exists a self-sustaining energy that seems to extend and expand upon all existing systems, disciplines, etc. It seems to hold one's attention in the form of Epiphany or theophany for however long the creative or inspirational state lasts. The machine seems to duplicate this experience in a passive way, or at least convey it metaphorically to its passengers.

IN JOCELYN GODWIN'S delightful book, Harmonies of Heaven and Earth, The Spiritual Dimensions of Music from Antiquity to the Avant-garde, he makes some very interesting observations on the nature of music, especially 20th century music, that apply dramatically to this experience.

The common ground on which the postwar, avant-garde met, transcending all their ideological differences, was tone. Call it also timbre, tone quality, pure sound: it was that dimension of music which had been comparatively neglected during several centuries of harmonic, melodic and rhythmic exploration. This is why avant-garde music, to the great distress of the conventionally-trained ear, seems to have no coherent melody, no harmonic language, no steady rhythm: it is just one sound after another. The very strangeness of its sounds, new combinations of instruments, weird sounds produced from them, electronic noises, draws attention to this dimension. While much of it simply disguises the predicament of composers who would otherwise have nothing to say, its broader effect is to focus on the very stuff of music, taken for granted in the past. At the same time, artists take for their subject the actual substance of paint on canvas and poets write poems in which they wonder what words really are.

When Wagner first analyzed a tone in the "Prelude to Rheingold," showing in over eight minutes how it is made from the series of overtones in increasing density and rapidity of vibration, the first step had been taken towards a penetration by the listener of the single tone, as a microcosm to be explored in its own right, irrespective of its neighbors. The composers of the 1950s, in turn, present not melodies and harmonies, but sonorous objects for contemplation. Thus, I infer a sculpture of sound, leading to a point, and from there, to a scalar.

Stockhausen describes in his many writings how his early music moved from organization with reference to the note or single musical point, through composition with "groups" of notes, of the idea of the musical "moment" — a development as much in meditative listening as in music itself. Godwin grows even closer to articulating this scalar dimension when he continues:

But in the idea of the Moment we have what I called the sonorous object of contemplation: The musical entity which is a whole, and which can be perceived as a whole (momentarily) without awareness of the passage of time. Each moment is a glimpse of the sound-world, where time takes on a far different nature from its inexorable and irreversible flow down here. In contemplating these timeless moments, these musical creatures, one may enter a different state of consciousness.

From here, Godwin mentions the connection to architecture, where monks built their churches according to musical proportions in order to enrich their plainchant and to bring them into contact with the hidden dimension of tone.

Thus, we see expressed in the Music Machine the architectural dimension in its relation to tone. Artistically, we begin to evidence a shift of sensibility away from the expression of the composers' emotions or the performers' virtuosity to that of the listener, who now becomes an indispensable participant and whose activity is perhaps the main goal.

Godwin concludes:

The new emphasis on the listener and on the art of listening invites everyone without exception to participate in music to the utmost, just as the outpouring of formerly-guarded knowledge enables individuals to pursue their spiritual quests independently of church dogmas and authority...

...and, I might add, scientific dogma.

IN CONCLUSION, the following observations have presented themselves to me about psychotronic technology and the arts: There is extensive evidence that the ether exists as a medium for art, both actually and metaphorically. The medium can be engineered using various devices in lieu of traditional tools. The results are psychedelic in nature, reflecting a perspective synthesis of the macro and micro worlds in ordinary reality. This means in simple terms that they change the language in which we view the world and therefore ultimately change the world itself. The process is dangerous, psychologically, but can be effected by anyone with enough curiosity. It both fills a certain void of meaning in the art world (music, theatre and film) and yet oddly, is complementary to various avant garde developments and could also practically function to expand the impact of existing art forms on the emotions and imagination. If handled properly, psychotronic technology coupled with art could conceivably form the basis for a deconditioning process from the toxic excesses of twentieth century culture — and if misused, become their ultimate expression.

Gurwitsch, A. A. Historical Review of the Problem of Mitogenetic Radiation. Experientia. Vol. 44 (1988), pp. 545-550

Abstract:

The 'miracle of caryokinesis' was the starting point that stimulated Alexander G. Gurwitsch to carry out his famous 'mitogenetic' experiments in 1923. The results obtained confirmed his hypothesis of a weak radiation from cells, which is able to trigger the growth of other cells. Extensive experimental work within the first two decades after this discovery indicated that the problem of mitogenetic radiation is generally related to the biological significance of UV-radiation.

Both 'energetic' and 'informational' aspects have to be considered, namely radiation effective in activating molecules, and that involved in arranging them into larger units. The molecular organization of biological structures is evidently governed by non-equilibrium conditions needing the uptake or emission of radiation. These concepts of Alexander G. Gurwitsch can be linked with modern approaches based on hypotheses of coherence in biology, 'synergetics' and 'dissipative structures'. However, the question of causal interrelationships between this part of non-equilibrium radiation and biological matter on different levels of evolution has to be solved now.

Abstract:

Bean common mosaic virus (BCMV) is a major seed transmitted virus of common bean (Phaseolus vulgaris). The use of virus-free germplasm is a prerequisite for production of certified seeds, which is an important disease control measure. In this study, the efficiency of electrotherapy in eliminating BCMV and producing virus-free plants in two common bean cultivars, Khomein and Capsouli, was evaluated. Nodal cuttings of infected bean plants were exposed to electric currents of 5, 10 and 15 mA for 10 minutes and planted in vitro. One month old regenerated plantlets were tested by a Double Anti- body Sandwich (DAS)-ELISA method for BCMV infection.

The three intensities of electric current resulted in mean virus elimination percentages of 37.2%, 45.5% and 71.9% and mean plant regeneration of 79.5%, 68.6% and 58.4%, respectively. The Therapy Efficiency Index for the three electrotherapy treatments was estimated as 28.9, 29.2 and 39.1 in cv Khomein and 26.9, 33.3 and 44.8 in cv Capsouli, respectively. Based on the Therapy Efficiency Indices, an electric current of 15 mA for 10 min was the most effective treatment in both cultivars. The technique developed in this study can be a useful procedure for the production of virus-free germplasm and/or nucleus seed stock in crop plants infected with seed-borne viruses. © Eugen Ulmer KG, Stuttgart.

Pulsed Electromagnetic Field Therapy Promotes Healing and Microcirculation of Chronic Diabetic Foot Ulcers. Advances in Skin and Wound Care, vol. 28, no. 5 (2015), pp. 212-219;

Abstract:

Objective: To examine the effects of pulsed electromagnetic field (PEMF) therapy on promoting the healing and microcirculation of chronic diabetic foot ulcers. Design: A randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled clinical trial on a homogenous subset of chronic diabetic foot ulcers. Setting: Hospital and university. Patients: Thirteen subjects (7 in the PEMF group and 6 in the control group) diagnosed with type 2 diabetes and had unsatisfactory healing of ulcer(s) in the preceding 4 weeks were recruited. Interventions: Subjects were randomly allocated to receive either active Pemf therapy (duration: 60minutes; frequency: 12 Hz; intensity: 12 Gauss) or nonactive PEMF for 14 sessions within 3 weeks.

Main Outcome Measures: Assessment on wound closure, wound depth, and microcirculation were performed at the baseline, end of the treatment period, and 1-month follow-up. Main Results: By the end of the treatment period, there was an 18% decrease in wound size in the active PEMF group as compared with a 10% decrease in the control group. The PEMF group demonstrated significant cumulative increase in cutaneous capillary blood velocity (by 28%) and 14% increase in capillary diameter. In contrast, the control group showed a decrease in both capillary blood velocity and diameter. Conclusion: In this study, PEMF therapy seemed to accelerate wound healing and improve microcirculation. © 2015 Wolters Kluwer Health, Inc. All rights reserved.

USPA Periodicals Library Update

In order to do good psychotronics research of any kind, whether it involves radionics, radiesthesia, psionic medicine, dowsing, subtle energies, biophotons, or any other subject covered by psychotronics, one needs access to as much of the periodical literature as possible on these subjects.

To address this issue, the United States Psychotronics Association has resolved to identify and acquire every psychotronics related periodical that has ever been published anywhere in the world, and to retain copies in the USPA Library.

As a first step, we have developed the following list of periodicals that focused on or frequently had articles on psychotronics related subjects. But this is only a preliminary list, and we know that there are probably more psychotronics periodicals that have been published, but that we do not yet know about.

So please look over the following list and check your own personal physical libraries and your computers to see if you have any issues of the periodicals on this list. Even if you just have one issue, please let us know, because that may be the one we need to complete all the issues of a particular periodical. Please write to me (John) at: joreed43@gmail.com, since I am the USPA librarian and archivist coordinating this effort, and tell me what periodicals you have.

As a whole, the members of USPA have a huge “library” of periodicals, but it just happens to be “distributed” among its members at this point in time. However, we can work together, and if you would be willing to loan, donate, xerox, or as a last resort, sell copies of your periodicals for the USPA Library, then we will be able to build a large centralized library of all psychotronics periodicals. And all USPA members will then be able to use these periodicals in their research or for their reading enjoyment.

American Journal of Electromedicine: Daniel Kirsch Ph.D., developer of Alpha-Stim Craniotherapy Electrical Stimulation (CES) was the first editor; The USPA Library needs all issues.

American Radio Therapy Society Journal: This was a periodical published in Hollywood, California, by the American Radio Therapy Society, which had been founded by Dr. Ruth Drown in 1949. This periodical began with vol. 1, no. 1 in June, 1949, and continued to be published for a period of time. However, it is not known when it ceased publication or how many issues were published, but presumably it ceased sometime before Dr. Drown's death in 1963. This journal focused on radionics psychotronics subjects, and had no interest in ionizing radiation therapies, such as x-ray therapy, which were also known as "radio therapy" at that time. The only library in the world that has copies of this periodical is the National Library of Medicine in Bethesda, Maryland. The USPA Library needs all issues of this periodical.

BEMI Currents: BEMI Currents was a quarterly journal published by the Bio-Electro-Magnetics Institute in Reno, Nevada, from 1989-1993. The editor was Dr. John Zimmerman. This journal began with vol. 1, no. 1 (Spring, 1989) and continued through Vol. 3, no. 4 (March, 1993), after which it ceased publication. A total of 12 issues were published, and the USPA Library has all 12 issues in its collection.

Bioeffects Newsletter: This was a periodical that was published by the "Physiology Program", Office of Naval Research, in Arlington, Virginia, and focused on the biological effects of electromagnetic fields. It probably began sometime in the 1977, because it is known that Issue #5 was dated April, 1978. The Bioeffects Newsletter is believed to have ceased publication when the Bioelectromagnetics Society (BEMS) was formed in 1978, because it was edited by Thomas Rozzell, who served as the editor of the BEMS Newsletter for the Bioelectromagnetics Society. This periodical is not found in any library of the world, but is undoubtedly in a number of private collections. The USPA Library needs all issues of this periodical.

Bioelectric Medicine: Journal founded in 2014, Kevin Tracey, M.D., President of the Feinstein Institute for Medical Research, which has established a Center for Bioelectronic Medicine; The USPA Library needs all issues.

BioElectroMagnetics: Published by John Wiley and Sons from Vol. 1, No. 1 ( 1980) to present. We need all issues. All articles are freely available online at Johns Hopkins, back to 1980; The USPA Library needs all issues.

Bridges: This was the newsmagazine of the International Society for the Study of Subtle Energies & Energy Medicine (ISSSEEM) from 1990 through the present. The USPA Library has a complete set of this periodical from vol. 1, no 1 (Spring, 1990) through the present.

British Journal of Radiesthesia and Radionics. Published by the British Radiesthesia Association, 1953-1963. The original title was British Journal of Radiesthesia. The USPA Library needs all issues.

DeLaWarr Laboratories Newsletter: published by George and Marjorie DeLaWarr, and later their daughter Diana Di Pinto, from 1964-1986. The USPA Library has a complete set of these, unless you know of any issues published after 1986.

USPA Local Groups and Affiliates Update

As mentioned in the May, 2016, USPA Newsletter, one of our goals is to reactivate all of the former 24 USPA Chapters that once existed across the US and Mexico. In addition, we plan to establish new local groups of people interested in psychotronics and related subjects in other major cities in the US and other countries as well. All such local groups and affiliates will be independent, but will work together with the USPA in a mutually beneficial relationship to achieve our goals of advancing research and applications in psychotronics, radionics, subtle energy, and related fields.

So I would like to invite all of former USPA Chapters leaders and members to contact me (John Reed) at: joreed43@gmail.com and let me know if you would like to help reactivate your local chapter. In addition, if you are a leader or member of a psychotronics or related organization which was never a chapter of USPA, and we would welcome you as a USPA affiliated organization as well.

We will be establishing a USPA affiliated groups as traditional organizations and also via the Meetup.com online group platform. This will enable current and former members to more easily have local get-togethers, meetings, and other activities, and those activities, times, and other details can be posted online. So please let me know if you would like to be the leader of a group in your area.

If you do decide to use Meetup.com to establish your local group, you could do it quickly and easily by going to www.meetup.com , and clicking on the big red word “Start” in the upper left, and then just following the step-by-step procedures.

You can give your local group any name you want, but it should probably have a name that relates to psychotronics in some way. And if you need any help, please let me know, and I will help you in any way I can. Perhaps the most important thing is enthusiasm and determination, so write to me, even if you don’t know any other USPA members in your area, and I will help you set up a local group: joreed43@gmail.com

Exchange Corner

The “Exchange Corner”, is a place for USPA members to buy, exchange, or sell items of interest, or request information or other help in relation to something wanted. So if there is anything you want to buy, sell or trade that has to do with psychotronics, radionics, subtle energy, or related subjects, please contacted the Classified Ads manager at: usparesearch@gmail.com. For the next few issues, all such ads will be free of charge, so please send your ads and wanted requests as soon as possible before advertising charges begin.

Kelly Personal Analyzer for Sale

Mariette Picket has a friend that has a brand new unused Kelly Personal Analyzer that she paid $2100 for, and is offering it for sale at only $1600.00 Anyone interested call Mariette at: 317-773-0061

Bruce Copen MARS III for Sale

I am a current USPA member and have a Bruce Copen MARS III for sale. The system is about 7 or 8 years old and in original, excellent condition. Sale includes original SCOPE analysis, database and broadcast software, HP laptop, comprehensive training manual and program disc, interconnects and boxes. I have always run it on XP with no issues; everything original as supplied by Copen.

All operations can be automated and multiple broadcasts can be run simultaneously, although Copen saw to develop this device so it could be used in many radionic styles and without computer control. The price is $8500 USD roughly half the original cost. I prefer to not ship to a destination outside the USA. A limited amount of training by me, as I understand it, is available to a confirmed purchaser, as time and distance reasonably permit. Please contact: Dr Robert Dixon, robertdixondc@gmail.com or call \(304\) 259-9439259-9439) Berkeley Springs, WV.

Wanted: Any articles, periodicals, books, devices, or other materials on psychotronic related subjects that you can donate or lend to the USPA for its library, archives, and museum. The USPA is a nonprofit, 501(c)(3), tax exempt organization, and as such, you are able to make tax deductible donations to the USPA. Please email the USPA at: usparesearch@gmail.com to make arrangements. Thank you for your generosity.

WHAT IS PSYCHOTRONICS?

The United States Psychotronics Association defines psychotronics as the science of mind-body-environment relationships, an interdisciplinary science concerned with the interactions of matter, energy, and consciousness. Psychotronics involves the study, research, and applications of the physics and technology of the mind, brain, spirit, consciousness, and the underlying forces of life and nature – hence the term “psychotronics”.

We believe that a true understanding of the universe must include the spiritual, as well as, the technical, and provide an opportunity for amateur researchers to present their findings along with the professionals. We stress research, with documentation of results, and practical applications, rather than personal experience and unsupported hypotheses.

Some Prominent People in the history of psychotronics research and application: Albert Abrams, Thomas Bearden, Robert C. Beck, Robert O. Becker, Jacques Benveniste, David Bohm, Harold Saxon Burr, George W. Crile, Ruth Drown, T. Galen Hieronymus, Vlail P. Kaznacheyev, Georges Lakhovsky, Wilhelm Reich, Royal R. Rife, Rupert Sheldrake, Nikola Tesla, Marcel Vogel, and others.

Some of the forces, fields, waves, and energies studied and researched in psychotronics include: bioelectromagnetism, biophotons, biopotentials, electromagnetic wave pollution and harmful effects; coherent emanations of DNA, emanations of matter, “free energy”, morphogenetic fields, non-hertzian waves, orgone energy, pyramid energy and power, qi (chi), quantum fields, scalar waves, subtle energies, ultra-weak radiation of living matter, zero-point energy, and others.

Some of the phenomena believed to be produced or involved with the above fields and energies: action-at-a-distance, the aura of the body and other living things, bioinformation, bioluminescence, chakras, consciousness, distant intercellular interactions, meridians of the body, mind-body interactions, non-locality, the placebo effect, quantum consciousness, spontaneous remission of cancer and other diseases, water memory, water structure, and others.

Related fields of study and research covering the above forces, energies, and phenomena of psychotronics: bioelectromagnetics, bioenergetics, biophotonics, biophysics, psionics, psychoenergetics, psychoneuroimmunology, quantum biology, radionics, scalar electromagnetics, and others.

Some practices, techniques, and applications related to psychotronics include: acupuncture, biogeometry, brain entrainment, clairvoyance, dowsing, energy healing and medicine, extrasensory perception, feng shui, homeopathy, kirlian photography, magnetic therapy, pendulum use and methods, prayer effects, psionic medicine, psychic healing, psychometry, qigong, radiesthesia, radionics, remote viewing, shamanism, sound and sonic healing, telekinesis, telepathy, and others.

USPA Catalog of Conference Lectures, 1978-1994

Now Available

A compilation of nearly 300 lectures given at the first 17 years of the United States Psychotronics Association (USPA) conferences, from 1978 through 1994 is now available in a 30 page catalog \(click here\).

There are talks by some of the most well known scientists of our age, including Andrija Puharich, Thomas Bearden, Marcel Vogel, Lynn Surgalla, Robert Beck, T. Galen Hieronymus, J.G. Gallimore, Elizabeth Rauscher, Christopher Bird, and many, many more.

There are also lectures specifically about radionics from some of the top practitioners: Robert Beutlich, Lutie Larsen, Jerry Fridenstine, Frances Farrelly, and others.

If you have an interest in the paranormal, the life of plants or zero-point energy, there are speakers here who are experts in the fields. How about dark-field microscopy, scalars, magnetic fields, or the Philadelphia Experiment? Yes, they are in here in this catalog too. Homeopathy, color-healing, use of crystals, structuring water, water memory, and Tesla's work are some of the other topics covered in this catalog.

As of this date, (April 15, 2017) they are available only by direct contact with USPA, but soon, they will be available online. The USPA home page is at <http://www.psychotronics.org> and we will have a linked site where purchase will lead to immediate download of the MP3, and payment can be made through Pay Pal.

Please note that in the Catalog \(click here\), most of the lectures are standard MP3s, are 30-45 minutes long, and priced at a very reasonable $5.00 each. These have no marking in the right-hand column of the catalog listing. Other MP3s are one hour or slightly longer, and are marked "Prime" in the right-hand column, with a price of $8.00 each. And a few of the MP3s are 90 minutes or longer, and are marked "Double", with a price of $10.00 each. USPA members get 40% off.

J.G. Gallimore's Five Rare Books Now Available for Sale

All five of J.G. Gallimore's rare books on psychotronics subjects and unusual energies have been reprinted by the United States Psychotronics Association (USPA) and are being made available at a fraction of the cost that used copies were being sold at online. So rare have these books been, that only a few libraries in the entire world had them in their collections, and some of Gallimore's books were being sold for several hundred dollars each online. However, with these newly reprinted volumes, each will be available for less than $30.00. Each of Gallimore's books is described below with links to Amazon.com.

Jerry G. Gallimore was one of the founders of the USPA in 1975, and was a leading researcher in psychotronics and unusual energies until his untimely death in 1989.

The Handbook of Unusual Energies: Volume 1

by J. G. Gallimore

This is J.G. Gallimore's first book of three volumes on unusual energies, and at 468 pages, it is a magnificent work. In this book, Gallimore discusses in depth the research, discoveries, and inventions of all the major researchers in subtle energies, the aether, biological fields, pyramid energy, radiesthesia, radionics, crystal transduction, and related subjects. These include the works of Baron Von Reichenbach's and his odic energy, Dr. Wilhelm Reich's orgone energy, Dr. Harold Burr's biological life fields, Kozyrev's time mirror, Edgar Cayce's transmission of energy, and related research done by many others. Of particular importance is Gallimore's 127 page chapter on radionics. In this chapter he discusses in depth the research and devices of Ruth Drown, T. Galen Hieronymus, Rho Sigma, Dr. L. P. Corte and other prominent people in the radionics field. But in addition, Gallimore provided diagrams showing how such devices are made and how they actually work.

Collected Properties & Writings of J. G. Gallimore: Volume 2 of Handbook of Unusual Energies

In addition, a number of radionics devices are discussed, such as the De La Warr Diagnostic Instrument. And very helpfully, the rates are provided for substances, body organs, and medical diseases and disorders. A very interesting interview of Christopher Bird, conducted by J.G. Gallimore is provided, as well as a discussion of Walter Russell and his research.

Relationship Between Parapsychology and Gravity: Volume 3 of Handbook of Unusual Energies

by J. G. Gallimore

Paperback: 228 pages

Publisher: CreateSpace Independent Publishing Platform (March 22, 2017)

Language: English

ISBN-10: 1543024947

The Relationship Between Parapsychology and Gravity is Volume 3 of J.G. Gallimore's series of three handbooks of unusual energies. This book describes in depth the research and theories of J.G. Gallimore into the question of "parapsychology transmission" --the question of how such things as telepathy, remote viewing, ESP, and similar phenomena can physically occur. Gallimore discusses various explanation on how they occur, including the possibility that gravity waves may play a role. He also discusses the various emanations, radiations, and energy fields of all matter and life. This includes the ancient Chinese energy called "chi" (qi), the ancient Indian's prana energy, Reichenback's "odhic force", Gurwitsch's "mitogenic radiation", Wilhelm Reich's orgone energy, and other subtle energies of life and matter. Gallimore shows how all of these energies are the same or similar, how they interact, and how they are related to gravity. He also discusses crystals as transducers of these energies, and provides diagrams of devices that could potentially be used to harness or control these energies.

This book covers the visionary research and theories developed by J.G. Gallimore about anti-gravity, space, time, and biophysics. He discusses in depth the dimensions of space, time, and gravity, and new discoveries in each of these areas. In addition, he covers research being done on anti-gravity and then discusses anti-gravity patents that have been obtained. He also discusses the intriguing concept of aura energy fields surrounding humans and other living things, and how extra-sensory perception (ESP) might be explained through biophysical principles.

This book is about psychotronics, radionics, electromagnetic fields and waves, psi-plasma, plasma fields, subtle energies, bioelectromagnetic energy, and other unusual energies emitted by living and non-living things. It also is about how living things interact with and are affected by these energies, which may enhance health or harm health. The book covers the research of Wilhem Reich on orgone energy, of Baron Reichenback on the odic forces, as well as research done by Cazzamalli on brain radiations and Lakhovsky on using high frequency radiations to successfully treat cancer in humans. In addition, Lakhovsky used similar methods to enhance the growth of plants. Gallimore shows how these energies, forces, and fields are all inter-related and provides hypotheses and ideas on their possible unification.
