George is the author of the new book “Psychotronics and a Biodynamic Garden.” We will post a Kuepper talk in members only and have a Q/A like our Bearden webinar in March. On his website, <http://www.midsouthradionics.com/about-george.html> George says, “I’m George Kuepper, originally from Wisconsin but, for many years now, a resident of the Mid-South. I earned a Master of Science from the University of Wisconsin in Agronomy in the mid-1970s and am blessed to have spent my entire career working on sustainable and organic agriculture for such noble entities as The Center for the Biology of Natural Systems in St. Louis, The National Center for Appropriate Technology (ATTRA), and the Kerr Center for Sustainable Agriculture in Oklahoma.

I discovered radionics in the 1980s while struggling to revive an Oklahoma blueberry planting where agricultural chemicals had been both overused and misused. The planting was the cornerstone for an eight-acre U-pick farm project for the aforementioned Kerr Center. We were replanting about 10% of the berry patch annually due to disease and other losses. Conventional testing by Universities and private labs told me what the symptoms were, but didn't help much with corrective action, other than to suggest more chemicals. It was certainly not sustainable. I'd reached the point where I'd try almost anything.

Listen to his presentation in September to find out what worked for him!

October 23, 2021, Toby Grotz will present “Mirror Image Symmetry in Windings of Coils”

Toby Grotz is an electrical engineer who has been involved on both sides of the energy equation: exploring for oil and gas and geothermal resources and in the utility industry working in coal, natural gas, and nuclear power plants. While working in the aerospace industry, he worked on space shuttle and Hubble telescope testing in a solar simulator and space environment test facility. He has also been involved in research for new energy sources and novel forms of hydrogen production.

Toby attended the first Earth Day while at the University of Connecticut and took the first course offered in Environmental Engineering. His passion for environmental issues was fired by reading Rachel Carson’s book Silent Spring, which he says should be required reading for every high school student. In 1976, Toby met Jim Fowler an organic farming pioneer who owned the first health food store in Denver and introduced him to the research and work of natural farming advocates of the 1900’s, such as Lady Eve Balfour and J.I. Rodale.

2.6 SCALAR ENERGY MORPHOGENETIC FIELD MECHANICS

2.6.1 Introduction to Scalar Energy

According to Merriam-Webster dictionary, the term ‘scalar’ means having an uninterrupted series of steps. In physics, a ‘scalar’ is a physical quantity that only has magnitude but no direction, unlike (or as a special case of) vectors, tensors, etc. which is described by several numbers, which characterize magnitude and direction and a vector, can be defined as a physical quantity that has magnitude and direction. In the world of quantum theory and mechanics, a scalar energy field is associated with zero-spin particles. Scalar waves are also called 'longitudinal waves' or "Tesla waves". Nikola Tesla used the term scalar at the end of the last century as a part of powerful present fixed points of perpetual fission and fusion that emanate from the fabric of morphogenetic fields. Scalar Fields (or scalar energy) are the framework of quantum mechanics and non-Hertzian energy (without frequencies), which he referred to as standing energy or cosmic waves, or zero-point energies. Scalar waves are postulated to be subtler than X-rays or gamma rays - only one hundred millionth of a square centimeter in width. In comparison, electromagnetic waves (for example radio waves) are measured by hertz (or pulses per second) but can only be measured up to levels determined by the sensitivity of the equipment being used as to how many cycles per second they operate.

Due to my near-death experience, my understanding of scalar energy is more multidimensional than what modern science believes. A scalar wave (or energy) is a multi-dimensional, standing wave pattern that emanates out of a fixed point of sound-tonal vibration within the morphogenetic field of the cosmic unified field of energy.

Scalar Waves are forms of consciousness that appear to move from one place to another, but in truth are stationary points of light (stay in one place or standing) that are strung together in sequences, within the fabric of the cosmic morphogenetic field. The appearance of the scalar wave movement is generated as sequences of scalar wave points are activated (or "lighted") in synchronization with each other.

An example is a flashing billboard in N.Y.C.'s Times Square that appears to have movement yet in truth does not move at all. This effect is achieved via a series of progressively flashing light bulbs in a line, sequentially flashing off and on at different oscillation rates. Thus, it appears that the light has moved from one point in the line to another. Scalar Waves.

2.6.2 Benefits of Scalar Energy

Scalar energy is created when two electromagnetic waves come together from two opposite converging vectors. When the energy vectors meet, the equal frequencies cancel each other leaving a standing or stationary energy field. Scalar energy does not flow like normal, transverse electromagnetic waves but instead occupies space and increases in spatial mass. This space the scalar energy occupies is not a vacuum but alive with checked and balanced energies as there is a continuous energy flow in this active vacuum in the form of scalar electromagnetic pairs. This longitudinal, scalar energy space has special properties that produce aspects of healing when exposed to this energy field such as:

1. Increases the energy level of every single cell in the body to the ideal 70-90 millivolt range,
2. Improves cell wall permeability thus facilitating the intake of nutrients into each and every cell and the elimination of waste from each and every cell,
3. Cleanses the blood, improving chylomicron (protein/fat particles floating in the blood) and triglyceride profiles and improves fibrin patterns,
4. Improves immune function by as much as 149% as proven in laboratory studies,
5. Improves mental focus and balance the hemispheres of the brain as demonstrated through EEG analysis.

6. Functions as an antidepressant since it inhibits the uptake of noradrenaline by PC12 nerve cells.

At the Max Planck Institute in Germany, a scientist named Dr. Puharich conducted a study wherein E. coli microorganisms were exposed to 8.00 Hz scalar fields that increased activity of the RAD-6 gene, which codes for proteins involved in DNA repair. Other experiments were also conducted that utilized the in vitro approach to show that the scalar fields generated from an analog watch inhibit neurotransmitter uptake into nerve cells via the same mechanism as tricyclic antidepressants. Lab tests have also indicated that red and white blood cells tend to accumulate together during illness, injury or poor health. Scalar energy "un-glues" the cells while circulation is vastly improved in lymphatic and cardiovascular systems to flow smoothly.

It was concluded that optimal flow of bodily fluid systems accelerates the self-healing process. Therefore, I postulate that exposure to scalar wave energy is the essential electromagnetic healing phenomena of all healing procedures.

2.6.3 Scalar vs. Electromagnetic

Scalar waves and electromagnetic (EM) waves differ in numerous important aspects:

1. Scalar waves are longitudinal and encompass are transverse and travel like waves.
2. Scalar waves are instantaneous and have no loss Electromagnetic waves lose power over distance.
3. Scalar waves can pass through solid metal Electromagnetic waves cannot.

Examples of electromagnetic waves are radio waves, examples of scalar waves are plasma waves, sound waves, and neutrino radiation.

2.6.4 Maxwell and Tesla

Scottish mathematician James Clerk Maxwell (1831-1879) originally discovered Scalar waves. Maxwell connected electricity and magnetism modern physics, but unfortunately his research on scalar out of his work by Heinrich Hertz, who laid down the foundation universities.

Science of that era rejected Maxwell's because they were non-physical and only existed in the to be too inadequate for further investigation. Scalar waves would have been lost had it not been for the experiments of experimental physicist Nicola Tesla (1856-1943). Over 100 years ago, Tesla measured and proved the existence of scalar wave properties, which has recently been confirmed by German Prof. Dr. Konstantin Meyl.

Tesla later experimented using the Heinrich Hertz's research, which was proving the existence of electromagnetic waves. As Tesla was experimenting with violently abrupt direct current electrical charges, scalar energy (scalar) was rediscovered. By 1904, Tesla had developed transmitters to harness scalar energy from one transmitter to another, undetectably bypassing time and space.

He could just materialize it from one place to another through hyperspace, without the use of wires, it was just sucked right out of the space-time/vacuum and into a transmitter and into a beam, which could be targeted to another transmitter. Regrettably, Tesla did not receive financial backing for substituting electricity, and presently, this is the main cause why scalar energy is still not acknowledged in mainstream physics. Although Tesla discovered more for humanity in the field of science than the better known scientists like Einstein and Hertz, he is still not credited in science books for his discovery of scalar waves, a source of 'free-energy' obtainable as a limitless source of power that costs nothing.

2.6.5 Morphogenetic Field Physics and Mechanics

As quantum physics attempts to reframe and explain electric and magnetic field phenomena, quantum physics remains the “step-daughter” of field physics based solely on postulates until it finds a way to calculate its quanta and a further “descendant” of morphogenetic field mechanics.

While field physics stems back to the early Greek natural philosophers, morphogenetic field mechanics predates ancient cultures such as the Sumerian civilization, as much as 246,000 years. The essential link between man, matter and the cosmos is referred to as a ‘Morphogenetic (form-holding) Field’ or ‘The Fabric of Creation’. Templates of conscious light and sound, which serves as blueprints on which matter form and conscious identity will manifest, encompass morphogenetic fields. This occurs microcosmically and macrocosmically. Therefore, the universe is one massive field of consciousness embracing and containing all other forms where all experiences of reality and manifestation take place. This cosmic structure and order is the basis of human order and the human psyche in terms of the ‘Cosmic Divine Blueprint’ where experiential reality fields are created of templates of energy, divided into groups and energy patterns, which form the morphogenetic structure of each and all 15 dimensions.

When we attempt to explore the order of energy from which manifest reality arise, we are exploring the multidimensional physics, mechanics and dynamics of dimensionalized reality.

2.6.6 Partiki and Keylon Codes

Morphogenetic Fields are the blueprint upon which consciousness/energy manifests and are comprised of the primal substance of what are called Source Particle (or ‘Partiki’) units: 1. Ante-particle (SP1/Partiki) 2. Particle (SP+/Particum) 3. Anti-particle (SP-/Partika). Partiki units are omni-polar (containing the polarities for all polarities or none) units of vibrating energy that perpetually cycle back and forth between states of bi-polar light radiation (scalar-standing-waves) and omni-polar sound vibration.

Source Particle Partiki units are the smallest building blocks of matter as they form the template upon which consciousness/energy in all forms enters manifestation. Sp1/Partiki (an ultra-micro particle) is an electro-magnetic energy unit and are the organizational intelligence and operational “life-force fuel” behind and within all manifestations and consciousness/energy. Partiki operate as a minute, self-regenerating “fission-fusion generators”.

Through the dynamics of their interaction they create and maintain the electromagnetic fields of sound frequency and light spectra of which the cosmos is composed. It is the smallest unit of energy in the cosmos; 800 billion Partiki units could fit within an average 3-dimensional photon. They exist within and beyond all particle and matter structures and represent what Nikola Tesla referred to as the “radiant energy” out of which the cosmos is composed.

Through interior polarization and replication, created through self-generated fission and fusion, Partiki manufacture two intrinsic sub-units of crystalline morphogenetic substance that serve as blueprints for rhythms of pulsation through which particles (Particum) and anti-particles manifest (Partika). Each Partiki perpetually breaks down into Particum and Partika, particle and antiparticle, while simultaneously replicating the original Partiki, through the act of internal fission. The replication serves to retain the pattern of the original, while the Particum and the Partika serve to draw other Partiki units from the Unified Field (See Fig. 1).

The Particum and Partika are then magnetically drawn back together in an act of fusion, through which they merge with the replica of the original Partiki out of which they were created.

(See the figure following)

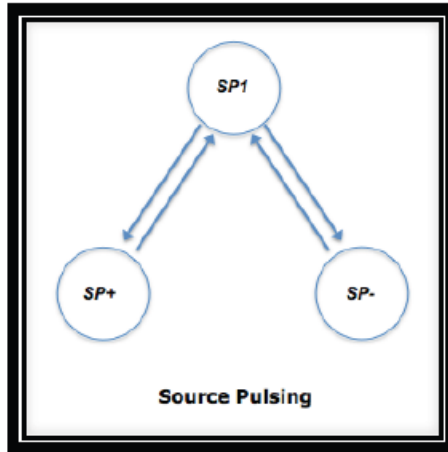

Fig. 10 - The self-generated fission-fusion process of SP1 or Partiki

Partiki units draw together or accrete to form strings of partiki. Following a set of mathematical and geometrical design inherent to the form, Partiki Strings interweave and overlap; forming a "Fabric of Light and Sound" called 'Partiki Grid'. Following the precise mathematical design set by the intention of the manifesting consciousness, Partiki Grids further accrete, drawing in more Partiki Units, forming groups of Partiki units that are arranged following 3 different rhythms of Partiki Phasing.

Tri-phase groupings of Partiki Units form patterns of scalar-wave and tri-tone wave interrelationships that create crystallizations of energy called Keylons. Groups of Keylons continue to accrete, forming complex Keylons arrangements called Keylon Codes, through which the Manifestation Template is progressively built up from Ante-matter through various stages of matter density, beginning with Pre- Matter Substance, the first density of Liquid Silica Hydro-plasmic energy to emerge into externalized form.

Everything in the cosmos has a morphogenetic field due to the fact that everything is composed of these basic units called Partiki. A morphogenetic field is a basic energy field or energy structure behind a manifest form, which allows that manifest form to hold its shape. Everything in the universe has one. They are groups of Partiki units that form those morphogenetic fields. Even a Partiki represents a morphogenetic field by itself. All forms of matter and consciousness (energy), including planets, stars and human bodies, are manifested through a morphogenetic imprint, which exists as a quantity of crystalline (also known as a crystal body), electro-tonal energetic substance composed of specific patterns of frequency. This morphogenetic imprint sets the pattern for a form within the multi-dimensional unified field of energy substance. The morphogenetic imprint holds the instructional information and design for form building in a type of digital or electronic encoding (Keylon Codes).

To summarize, keylons cluster with other keylons to form dimensionalized, crystalline structures of energy that exist as the base morphogenetic templates behind and within all matter forms, particles and consciousness. Keylons make up the frequency fields of sound and light upon which the entire cosmic matrix is structured. Therefore, the unified field of cosmic energy is composed of groups of crystalline keylons and also compose the morphogenetic template of electro-tonal and electromagnetic energy upon which the human DNA, genetic code, physical body, bio-energetic chakra system and multidimensional aspects of consciousness are built.

Furthermore, keylons are dimensionalized Partiki composite forms that form within and around the "fabric" of the partiki grids. Partiki units group more and more together to form clusters, these clusters are called Keylons. They group forming specific geometrical, fractal patterns that follow mathematical laws that apply to the way the dimensions are structured. They group like crystals in a crystal type structure, with a definite form and shape. Imagine, for example, they are like pieces of dust in a garment if viewed through a microscope.

Keylons are the first step in the transition from pure consciousness to pre-matter substance. Keylons are the level of our consciousness and our being that exist between pure consciousness and pre-matter substance. They look like microscopic crystal structures composed of millions and millions of Partiki units in just one little Keylon.

Just like over 100 years ago, when C.W. Leadbeater and Annie Besant entered altered states to describe molecules, atoms and sub-atomic atoms called ANU years before science had confirmed their theories, likewise modern science has confirmed that the tetrahedron is the main fractal expression found in nature and science.

Fig. 11 - SP1 or Partiki Unit

Trinary-phase (progressing in threes) groupings of Partiki units form patterns of scalar-wave and trinary-tone wave interrelationships cause the crystallizations of energy that become Keylons. Groups of Keylons continue to accrete, forming complex Keylon arrangements called Keylon Codes, through which the Manifestation Template is progressively built up from ante-matter through various stages of matter density, beginning with Pre-Matter Substance, which is the first density of Liquid Silica Hydro-plasmic energy to emerge into externalized form. When you think a thought, you use Partiki, creating a morphogenetic field of that thought, automatically inserting it into the already existing unified morphogenetic field.

2.6.7 Unified Morphogenetic Field

All forms originate into manifestation and evolve as patterns of frequency are pulled into the forms' morphogenetic field from the dimensional frequency bands of Unified Field of energetic substance within which the morphogenetic field is placed. This accretion of frequency progressively expands the morphogenetic field and creates evolution of form progressively upward through the multi-dimensional universe or multi-verse. The Unified Field is the living energy substance composed of geometrical structures (grids of electro-tonal, electromagnetic energy) called Partiki Grids that serve as a template of light spectra and sound tones upon which particle (Particum) and antiparticle (Partika) structures are formed and through which all things in the cosmos are energetically connected.

Within the multi-dimensional Unified Field, the morphogenetic field generates structures of multidimensional electromagnetic energy (EM), around and through which the matter form will manifest. These multidimensional EM fields are collectively referred as the “bio-energetic system” or the “auric field” of a manifest form. Like the true substance of the human body and consciousness, the Unified Field exists as a quantity of dimensionalized field of energy signatures, within which a vast number of conscious constructs exist. The human body organism is one such construct of consciousness, and through its intrinsic form, the energy signatures of the other scalar forms are translated into perceptual data.

2.6.8 DNA Communicates Via Scalar

Cellular communication between cells occurs when one cell sends the read information and imprints it to the other cell. How does genetic information travel from one cell to another? According to Prof. Konstantin Meyl, the DNA generates a scalar wave (longitudinal wave) that propagates in the directions of the magnetic field vector. Hydrogen bonds hold together through Coulomb forces electrically polarized base pairs in a DNA strand. To gain access to this polarization, the hydrogen bonds must be separated, requiring radial outward electric field lines or, a vortex field. Since the magnetic field vector is perpendicular to the electric vertical field, a resulting axial direction to the DNA strand is a logical consequence. The motion of the vortex field in the direction of the magnetic field results in a longitudinal wave forming a so-called magnetic scalar wave (See Fig.2).

Fig. 12 - Electric ring vortices form a magnetic wave.

The superbly researched biochemistry of the cell nuclei describes the direction that must be investigated. Meyl confirms, "The coding regions in the DNA strand, the genes, make up only a fraction of the total amount of DNA. The stretches that flank the coding regions are called introns and consist of non-coding DNA. Introns were looked upon as junk in the early days". As I stated earlier, biologists and geneticists currently believe that this non-coding DNA may be essential in order to expose the coding regions and to regulate how the genes are expressed. In the presence of scalar waves, DNA cells tend to resonate with each other as they attract information and energy from other cells and their environment. This model may explain how epigenetics occurs. If both transmitter and receiver cell are in bio-resonance, then both information and energy are in homeostasis. However, if the transmitter cell does not find a receiver cell to resonate with, DNA code encryption would be impossible. To prevent this from occurring, there must be neutral cells that are not encrypted and do not have to transmit information. These include the 'introns' or 'junk'

DNA, as the introns are the un-coded DNA fragments that outnumber the 'exons', which actually carry the information.

It is due to the introns that a scalar wave can potentially be formed in between two identical segments of two cells. This suggests balanced energy conditions on both ends but if the original information were dissimilar, the gene coding would be drawn to the receiver from the sender cell causing bio-resonance restriction. This clearly proves that introns are behind evolution. Gene-controlled metabolism is solely possible only when information plus energy are presented. This accurately describes the characteristics of a scalar wave for unlike electromagnetic waves that only transport energy, scalar waves carry both information and energy. A DNA wave moving through the twisted double helix must contain sufficient energy to not only progress through the helix, facilitating transport over a certain distance, but will also ensure the desired production of proteins at the site of the recipient.

Glen Rein's Response to the paper presented (in part) above:

Here's an interesting article and my comments on it:

I didn't have time to read Jere's entire book, but what I did read was scientifically inaccurate, full of made-up language and full of theories presented as facts. As far as I know Jere is not a legitimate scientist. There are many new agers out there who claim to have a PhD and do not.

According to his bio ... [Editor addition: at the website <https://www.a4m.com/jere-rivera-dugenio.html> Jere posts that he has a PhD in Natural Medicine from the International Quantum University for Integrative Medicine in Honolulu, Hawaii. (Decide for yourself: <https://quantumuniversity.com/how-it-works/>)]

He certainly did a good job in making this look like scientific and medical research, but deeper analysis reveals otherwise. His definition of scalar energy (which I assume you read) is typical new age nonsense. The most important part of a clinical treatment with scalar is the frequencies used and these are not stated. (I finally did a definite comparison of scalar and EMF using 432Hz broadcast from two identical coils - with only a mobius twist in one to distinguish it from the EM coil). There was a 30% larger effect on DNA with the "scalar" coil – but they both worked. In another experiment the combination of transverse and longitudinal waves was additive. First there are no control in his case reports, secondly, he used a combination of technologies in addition to scalar treated water and third all the beneficial effects reported could be due to his presence (if he is a healer).

His description of Quantum Medicine is mostly focused on Bioelectromagnetics which has nothing to do with quantum physics. He defines Quantum Medicine as a combination of: Traditional Chinese Medicine, Oriental Medicine, Homeopathy, Mind/Body Medicine, Biochemistry, Nutrition and Ayurveda. Again most have nothing to do with quantum physics, although the mind and storage of information in water may function at the quantum level.

The references are incomplete and inaccurate. Unfortunately, his science relies heavily on new age books like Deane and Deane's 15-Dimensional Anatomy Handbook- a book which I can not find anywhere on the internet. When discussing the biological effects of scalar energy he quotes my Nature article which was only transverse EM fields – nothing to do with longitudinal scalar waves. But alas, we must realize this is a book (not a scientific article) written for new age people (not scientists). Bearing this in mind he did a good job

Recommendations for news and medicine from Daniel Taylor: Probiotics for bees and Noise for Humans!

First, this is really "the bees knees." I was just going to say a few words about the article, but it was so intriguing, I have to share part of it. (Attribution at the end.) As you read this – consider comparing it to human needs!

Honeybee Colony Collapse

HOW PROBIOTICS CAN PREVENT HONEYBEE COLONY COLLAPSE

By Martin James

I have always been fascinated by honeybees. I started keeping my own hives at the age of 9. I've been keeping bees professionally now for over 15 years. Through all this time, my fascination with the bee and the hive has never gone away. I may not know all the bees by name, but I at least know their families!

As a professional beekeeper, I have been subject to the same build and collapse cycles that others have dealt with. Early on in my professional endeavors, I recruited my sister Karla to help me. She has spent a lot of time with nutrition and natural healing and we have applied many of those principles to our beehives as well. Still, even with careful tending and attention to diet and nutrition, we had the cyclic collapses of our hive populations. It was very frustrating and financially challenging to keep a business going when our workforce kept dying every few years.

I had investigated and heard about many different claims to solve the colony collapse problem, but the cycles didn't change. The problem was still there, and it was getting worse. So, when I was approached by Ken Hamilton of Bio Minerals Technologies, who said he could cure CCD, I was very skeptical. At first, I dismissed the claim, but I eventually agreed to meet with him and at least hear what he had to say.

That meeting was the beginning of a journey that has changed the lives of my bees — and myself! His solution was relatively simple. He identified the cause of CCD as an accumulation of environmental toxins that caused an eventual deterioration of the beneficial gut microorganisms of the honeybees. In their roles as pollinators, bees are exposed to an extremely toxic cocktail of agricultural chemicals such as herbicides, pesticides, fungicides, etc. These toxins were killing off the beneficial microorganisms in the bee's gut, which weakened the immune system and the bee.

In addition to the environmental toxins, there is also a shortage in trace minerals in almost all agricultural operations today. People have been farming for generations, but they seldom, if ever, replenish the trace elements in their soils. The lack of trace elements also contributes to the reduction in immune functions, further weakening the bees.

The solution was to provide a high-quality probiotic and broad-spectrum trace element supplement to be mixed into the bee syrup and patty. As we discussed his analysis and proposed solution, it made logical sense, but the real test was in the application. He hadn't tried it before, and my bees were his guinea pigs.

My first step was to just see how the bees would react to it (i.e. would it kill them?). I took some of the liquid probiotics, opened up a couple hives, sprayed some on the bees and the top bars, and stepped back to see what would happen. As it turned out, the bees loved it! They lapped it up and wanted more.

The result of the probiotic was also audible. When I went into the bee yard and opened the hive, I could hear an angry, high-pitched buzz from all the bees swarming around me and the hives I had opened. They were bouncing off my bee suit and face shield and they were audibly and visibly upset. As soon as I sprayed the probiotic, the result was almost instant. As the bees lapped it up, the sound changed. It went from the high-pitched, angry whine to a lower-pitched, contented hum. The bees were less aggressive and they all settled down and simply went back to work!

Slide Ridge Honey has found success in applying probiotics to its hives.

My next test was to mix it into my syrup and patty and feed a group of test hives through the winter and see how they fared. That winter was a good year for all our hives, but my test group came through very strong and without any problems. As we started preparing all our hives for the almond pollination, we incorporated the probiotics and minerals into our regular feeding regimen.

That was over four years ago. Since that time, we have not had a single collapse event. We may lose a colony occasionally, but that is just part of the normal process. Our general winter loss rates are between 5-8 percent. Our almond orchard grading is consistently at the upper limit. Our hives always grade at the maximum strength and the vigor and health of the bees is noticed by the orchard managers.

Dan Taylor's second recommendation – in Keeping with our recent Master Class Presentations

Sounds for Humans: There is a bit of this article that deals with mosquitos and bees, but much of it concerns itself with human sound – and not the sounds we make intentionally. Our brains and our heart sounds can be mapped, traced, amplified and recorded. They can indicate health or disharmony, such as seizures. Here is a small clip of the article, and again, the attribution is at the end.

Sound research

Scientific innovations harness noise and acoustics for healing

By Hanae Armitage; Illustration by David Plunkert

A symphony in the brain

While listening to a string quartet play over recordings of plasma waves captured in outer space and converted into sound, neurologist Josef Parvizi, MD, PhD, dreamed up a symphony of his own. If you can turn signals from space into sound, perhaps you could turn brain waves into sound too, he thought.

So Parvizi sent an out-of-the-blue email to Christopher Chafe, a composer with expertise in converting atypical data sets into music, and explained his vision. Parvizi, professor of neurology, describes what happened next: “A crazy music professor and a crazy neurologist decided to collaborate on a strange idea.” Chafe is the director of Stanford’s Center for Computer Research in Music and Acoustics.

After several years of refining, the idea developed into something that Parvizi has dubbed the brain stethoscope. The instrument, which is noninvasive and looks like a sweatband, straps onto a person’s head and listens to the brain’s electrical signals. With a push of a button, those signals are converted to sound that streams from a small speaker connected to the band. The thought is that doctors can “hear” the tone of the brain — particularly if there is a seizure.

“Imagine that you open a hotel room window and the entire town is chanting exactly the same thing,” says Parvizi. “You may not know exactly what’s happening, but you know it’s not normal. It’s the same idea with the brain; you don’t want signals to be too synchronous. If they are, the brain is having a seizure.” It turns out, the audible difference between a seizing brain and a normal brain is quite distinct; almost anyone can hear it.

“You want moms and dads to be able to know if their kid is having a seizure so that they seek out professional attention.” Of course, Parvizi acknowledges, if someone is convulsing and shaking, you don’t need a stethoscope to tell you they’re having a seizure. “But there’s such a thing as ‘non-convulsive subclinical seizures’ and those don’t have the obvious physical symptoms.” But they still have some subtle symptoms.

Someone having one of these silent storms might appear disoriented and nonresponsive, or they might fall asleep suddenly. In the public eye, this type of seizure more often flies under the radar, but that's not to say they're less threatening to health. Parvizi says there's now a stockpile of evidence showing that prolonged silent seizures are damaging to the brain, especially in children, whose brains are still developing.

"Right now, patients need a trained neurologist to detect a seizure. It may be controversial, but my goal is to enable anyone to detect them — all kinds of physicians, nurses, medical trainees." Even parents. "You want moms and dads to be able to know if their kid is having a seizure so that they seek out professional attention," Parvizi says. In May 2017, the FDA gave the green light to Parvizi's invention, and he has since tested the stethoscope's capabilities in several hospitals, finding encouraging results.

"This could change health care dramatically when it comes to monitoring brains."

Section VI: USPA Conference Lectures Digitization – The Herculean Task is Done!

We now Have Enough MP3 and MP4 Recordings to fill your leisure time till Bezos opens an Amazon office on Mars!

The transcription of all of our videos to mp4 is now complete.

Download the free PDF catalog of over 1400 Recordings.

Do you want the list by Year? You've got it here: Organized by Conference year

Prefer to see the list sorted by speaker? Here it is: Organized by Speaker, Alphabetically

Since the founding of USPA in 1975, hundreds of top speakers have made presentations at our annual conferences. These historic lectures were presented by people who are involved in the leading edges of science, especially the phenomena of Mind-Body and technology.

In 1978, we only had audio cassettes tapes. VHS Video recordings started in 1982 and ran thru 2002. DVDs started in 2003 and ran until the latest format MP4 digital Audio / Visual format began in 2015.

USPA has a library of over 1400 of our lectures from 38 of our 41 annual conferences!

A few years ago, through the diligence of several USPA members, (Al Kacperski, Beverly Coleman and Gail Ruggles) 14 years of audio recordings became available for purchase in mp3 format.

Recently, Scott Beutlich, treasurer of USPA, with the blessing of the board of directors, vetted several companies for conversion of all of our videos to digital media! In December of 2020 in the middle of the Covid Pandemic, he drive all the tapes and DVDs to two companies for the transfer. Scott is now going through each of them, adding titles and legal disclaimers. It is a labor intensive project.

[Word to the wise – don't click "print" unless you have a lot of paper in the printer! The regular list is 54 pages long. The speaker list is 40. So, download the lists for perusal, and print just the last two order sheet pages to fill out your selections; one order sheet is for audio, one is for video. Please watch the titles; not every lecture is available in both formats. If you have any questions about a listing, please contact Scott at uspsychotronics@yahoo.com]

Section VII: USPA Conference Recordings – the Digitizing Project’s Fallout:

The Auction

USPA has found itself “buried” under a mountain of priceless historical data in the form of audio cassettes, VHS Cassette Videos and DVD recordings. What are we going to do with all the originals??

We’re having a silent auction, and offer them off to the highest bidder. Details have been printed in previous newsletters and can be supplied on request to gailinvermont@outlook.com or on the website at AUCTION.

We have doubles and quadruples of some of them. Let us know what you’d like and we’ll give you a price you can’t refuse! So, if you are interested in any of these items, please let us know. We are considering eBay! We’d rather sell them to you and ship direct than go through the Big E! Contact me here at gailinvermont@outlook.com

Section VII “Members Only” Perk: over 50 presentations for free online viewing.

New additions are highlighted in yellow

One big advantage to being a member of USPA is the Members Only page of our website.

We have over 50 presentations. There is a collection of Master Classes, livestream videos and Audio and video lectures from past USPA conferences. We’ve added several special videos too. Here is a list of the presentations available to members of USPA. Not a member yet? You can fix that in just a few minutes at <https://www.psychotronics.org/join/>

Section VIII - What Are Others Up To?

Searching and Finding:

If you are looking for anything on psychotronics or radionics, let us know; we'll add that to our request corner.

John Reed, editor of the Newsletter from 2016 through 2019. He put out a lot of feelers for articles and books to fill the USPA library. In an earlier newsletter, I shared the work John has been doing and why USPA feels that this is such important work. I did a personal "search and find" in a previous newsletter, and the readers came through!

WE'RE STILL WAITING... The American Society of Dowsters once had a "mimeographed" paper newsletter that was done on 8.5 X 11 inch copy paper and mailed out to its members. We'd love to have copies of each of them for our files. As they were organized in 1961, any issues that you might have would be gladly accepted.

If you have one or more and you don't want them back, just send them to John. If you want to keep them, perhaps you can scan them to pdf and email them to him. IF you want to keep them and don't have a scanner, send them to me. I will scan them the day I receive them and put them right back in the mail to you the next day!

Email John or me to set up the donation. joreed43@gmail.com or gailinvermont@outlook.com

How's this for an incentive? We'll offer a free lecture download for each issue of this Newsletter that you send to John. Someone in the Psychotronics orbit must have a few of these precious newsletters. Now's the time to make your hoarding worthwhile. C'mon! Search the back of your file cabinet. – And Thanks for looking.

A Virtual Library

John Reed has done an enormous amount of preservation work for USPA. He has scanned to pdf thousands of pages of scientific work. He has preserved most of our USPA newsletters, journals and proceedings and much more in digital format. He continues to be the "official" librarian of USPA. Many thanks to John for all of his work! The full, ever changing list can be found here: USPA Library.

John says: "As a whole, the members of USPA have a huge "library" of periodicals, but it just happens to be "distributed" among its members at this point in time. However, we can work together, and if you would be willing to loan, donate, Xerox, or as a last resort, sell copies of your periodicals to us for the USPA Library, then we will be able to build a large centralized library of all psychotronics periodicals. All USPA members will then be able to use these periodicals in their research or for their reading enjoyment."

Section IX Editor's Feedback Nook:

We'd like this to be an interactive newsletter! (Read that as "Somebody talk to me!!)

Send your article submissions, comments or questions to the editor, Gail Ruggles at gailinvermont@outlook.com (Please note; my email has changed.) I will respond to all!

What is USPA?

The United States Psychotronics Association (USPA) is a nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization founded in 1975 to serve as a focal point for scientific and technical exploration of the universe of esoteric, spiritual, and psychic arts in the United States of America.

The USPA has been hosting annual conferences for its membership since its formation and has featured countless individuals with cutting-edge viewpoints, research, or theories to share, allowing any interested persons to openly discuss their work.

What is Psychotronics?

USPA defines psychotronics as the science of mind-body-environment relationships, an interdisciplinary science concerned with the interactions of matter, energy, and consciousness.

Psychotronics involves the study, research, and applications of the physics and technology of the mind, brain, spirit, consciousness, and the underlying forces of life and nature – hence the term “psychotronics”.

We believe that a true understanding of the universe must include the spiritual, as well as, the technical, and provide an opportunity for amateur researchers to present their findings along with the professionals. We stress research, with documentation of results, and practical applications, rather than personal experience and unsupported hypotheses.

Section XIV – J.G. Gallimore’s Five Rare Books Are Now Available!

Jerry G. Gallimore was one of the founders of the USPA in 1975, and was a leading researcher in psychotronics and unusual energies until his untimely death in 1989.

All five of J.G. Gallimore’s rare books on psychotronics subjects and unusual energies have been reprinted by the United States Psychotronics Association (USPA) and are being made available at a fraction of the cost that used copies were being sold at online.

So rare have these books been, that only a few libraries in the entire world had them in their collections, and some original Gallimore’s books were being sold for several hundred dollars each online. However, with these newly reprinted volumes, each will be available for less than $30.00. All are: Available at Amazon.com

Pages

This book describes in depth the research and theories of J.G. Gallimore into the question of "parapsychology transmission" -the question of how such things as telepathy, remote viewing, ESP, and similar phenomena can physically occur.

He discusses the various emanations, radiations, and energy fields of all matter and life including the ancient Chinese energy called "chi" (qi), the ancient Indian's prana energy, Reichenback's "odonic force," Gurwitsch's "mitogenic radiation," Wilhelm Reich's orgone energy, and other subtle energies. He shows how all of these energies are similar, how they interact, and how they are related to gravity.

He also discusses crystals as transducers of these energies, and provides diagrams of devices that could potentially be used to harness or control these energies.

This book covers the visionary research and theories developed by J.G. Gallimore about anti-gravity, space, time, and biophysics.

He discusses in depth the dimensions of space, time, and gravity, and new discoveries in each of these areas. In addition, he covers research being done on anti-gravity and then discusses anti-gravity patents that have been obtained.

He also discusses the intriguing concept of aura energy fields surrounding humans and other living things, and how extra-sensory perception (ESP) might be explained through biophysical principles.

ISBN-10:

Pages

This book is about psychotronics, radionics, electromagnetic fields and waves, psi-plasma, plasma fields, subtle energies, bio-electromagnetic energy, and other unusual energies emitted by living and non-living things. It also is about how living things interact with and are affected by these energies, which may enhance health or harm health.

The book covers the research of Wilhelm Reich on Orgone energy, of Baron Reichenback on the odic forces, as well as research done by Cazzamalli on brain radiations and Lakhovsky on using high frequency radiations to successfully treat cancer in humans. In addition, Lakhovsky used similar methods to enhance the growth of plants. Gallimore shows how these energies, forces, and fields are all inter-related and provides hypotheses and ideas on their possible unification.
